Hot humid air prevails over nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hot, humid conditions prevailed over most areas of the nation early today as thunderstorms lingered in southern Texas and other scattered locations.

Several tornadoes were sighted late Sunday in South Dakota, but there were no reports of injuries. Winds of 85 miles per hour were reported. Hail stones almost two inches in diameter pounded Comstock, Neb.

Violent thunderstorms hit southern Texas Sunday evening, causing flooding of several highways and low water crossings in the San Antonio areas and the southwestern Texas hill country.

Heavy rain drenched Collidge, Ariz., about 30 miles southeast of Phoenix. Other showers and thunderstorms dampened areas from eastern New Mexico and the Texas Panhandle north along the eastern slope of the Rockies to the Dakotas and on into Iowa, Minnesota and the western Great Lakes region.

A few thunderstorms were scattered over the Southeast and the central and southern Rockies.

Before daybreak temperatures were in the 70s from New England to Florida and over most of the eastern half of the nation.

Several points over the central Plains and along the western Gulf Coast hit 80 degrees. Temperatures in the 50s were common over the northeastern Great Lakes area.

Abernathy quits as SCLC chief

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy announced today he is resigning as president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, primarily because of a lack of financial support.

Abernathy headed SCLC for five years, since the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., in April 1968.

He was frequently at King's side, going to jail with him 17 times.

Abernathy was the second president of SCLC. After he took over following King's death, he said, "They may kill the dreamer, but they can't kill the dream."

He had demonstrated many times his faith in the dream of equality and justice so eloquently articulated by King.

Abernathy, 47, stood willingly in the background until King was shot to death on a motel balcony in Memphis, Tenn.

Abernathy had said he had no desire to leave the movement. Calling King the symbol and the leader, he said, "I always wanted to stand with him and not ahead of him."

Since King's slaying, however, SCLC has been beset with financial troubles.

Abernathy also stood in the shadow of Coretta King, the civil rights leader's widow, and much of the financial support which would have gone to the SCLC has gone to the Martin Luther King Memorial Center.

Tanaka wins vote in Japan

Although the newspaper polls predicted it would lose 13 seats, Tanaka's Liberal-Democratic party retained its 51 seats in the Tokyo Metropolitan Assembly and remained the largest faction in the local legislature.

A predicted upsurge for the Communists and Socialists— leftist Gov. Ryokichi Minobe's chief backers— failed to materialize. The Communists did pick up six seats.

Expected intervention fails to develop

Dollar falls; money crisis worsens

LONDON (AP) — The dollar recovered some ground on European money markets today after the continent's central bankers hinted their governments might protect the American currency but fell again when no intervention developed.

The dollar opened in Frankfurt at 2.3250 marks, 8½ pfennings above Friday's close. Dealers reported "extremely small' demand; and after an hour of trading, the price dropped back to 2.2950 marks.

"The situation remains extremely unstable," said one key foreign exchange banker.

The rate opened nearly 2 per cent up in Zurich at 2.75-2.77 Swiss francs, then plunged back to 2.695-2.71 by noon, below Friday's close of 2.705-2.72.

"Everyone had expected an intervention," said a Zurich banker. "That's why the dollar shot up in the morning. It did not come, so it came down again."

The volume of trading in Zurich was reported relatively large and hectic.

In a parallel development, gold opened at $125.25 an ounce in Zurich, down $1.50 from the close Friday, then rose to $126. The opening price in London was $124.50, down from $127, and dealers said market was "highly cautious and jumpy."

The dollar also made a comeback in Paris, buying 3.96-4.00 commercial francs in bank-to-bank transactions, up from 3.86-3.89 Friday. Trading there was slow, however.

The weak British pound slipped slightly against the dollar, from $2.555 Friday to $2.5525 at the opening today. But the pound rose against the mark, Europe's strongest currency, from 5.73 marks Friday to 5.98.

In Tokyo, the dollar rose two yen at the opening to 264, then was driven down to 254 before the close by a false rumor that the European markets would be closed today. This aroused fears that the Japanese government would be forced to close the Tokyo market also, and the demand for U.S. currency evaporated.

Although the European central bankers said they had agreed on a plan to support the beleaguered dollar, France's finance minister said it was up to the United States to act first.

The Nixon Administration so far has ruled out American intervention to aid the dollar since its fall last week to record lows in Europe. U. S. officials contend that the dollar is undervalued and that normal economic forces will bring a turnaround.

The central bankers met Sunday in Basel, Switzerland, for their regular monthly meeting. But instead of saying nothing for publication as usual, they ended the meeting with a 150-word communique which they apparently hoped would check the fall of the dollar when the currency markets opened today.

The central bankers said "the necessary technical arrangements are in place" to support the dollar. But they did not indicate when their governments might authorize intervention.

They cited the declaration last March by the Group of Ten — the non-Communist world's richest nations — that official intervention in exchange markets "may be useful at appropriate times to facilitate the maintenance of orderly conditions."

"The governors concluded this approach remained appropriate," the communique said.

Mitchell faces tough questions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Of the Nixon administration figures linked to the Watergate scandal, none was more powerful than John Newton Mitchell.

It's different now.

On Tuesday Mitchell goes before the Senate Watergate committee to give his version of the Watergate affair. Previous testimony has tied him to both the planning and attempted cover-up of the June 17, 1972, break-in at Democratic national headquarters.

And his troubles don't end with the break-in. A federal grand jury in New York has indicted him on conspiracy and perjury charges in connection with a $200,000 contribution to Nixon's re-election campaign.

Mitchell repeatedly has denied he had any role in the Watergate planning or cover-up. He pleaded innocent to the charges in New York and awaits trial.

His attorneys have refused to discuss what he plans to tell the committee except to say his testimony "will in no way implicate the President."

Other witnesses have implicated Mitchell.

For example, ousted White House counsel John W. Dean III and Jeb Stuart Magruder, former deputy director of the Nixon re-election committee, told the Watergate panel they attended meetings in Mitchell's Justice Department office in early 1972 at which G. Gordon Liddy outlined a bizarre political espionage plan.

Both witnesses agreed Mitchell was horrified and rejected the proposal by Liddy, a convicted Watergate conspirator.

But Magruder said that at a third meeting, March 30 in Key Biscayne, Fla., Mitchell approved an intelligence-gathering project, specifically approval for initial entry into the Democratic National Committee headquarters in Washington.

Dean and Magruder also implicated Mitchell in the coverup.

Money, farm bills before lawmakers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is returning from an extra-long Independence Day recess to such unfinished work as Watergate, all of the big money bills for the new fiscal year, and long-range farm legislation.

The Senate returned today and the House is due back Tuesday from a recess that began June 30.

The first big issue on the Senate floor this week concerns efforts to clear a legal obstacle to building the Alaska oil pipeline.

Other pending legislation ranges from campaign reform and minimum wages to presidential war powers. Congress also is expected to move toward final action on the regular appropriations bills to finance the government during the fiscal year that started July 1.

Although the lawmakers have not completed work on any of these big money bills, they adopted a resolution June 30 allowing the agencies to continue spending at last year's levels through Sept. 30.

The pipeline dispute facing the Senate involves an argument over energy needs and the environment, with the plan's backers saying it would relieve the nation's shortages by tapping vast oil resources in Alaska.

Midwestern senators plan to press for an amendment to block the project, pending study and negotiations for a trans-Canada pipeline to bring Alaska oil directly to their part of the country.

Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and Birch Bayh, D-Ind., prime backers of the amendment, said Sunday that millions of barrels of U.S. oil will be sold to Japan if the transAlaska route is approved.

They said the Canadian route would get oil to American markets where the energy shortage is the most severe and would minimize environmental risks while affording "our best protection against exporting U.S. oil at a time when we face a major energy shortage here at home."

Meanwhile, the House was prepared to start work Tuesday on a sweeping four-year farm bill that would drop the annual subsidy payment ceiling and would set target prices for wheat, feed grains and cotton. A target price would guarantee a farmer a specific level of income on his crop.

Other key parts of the bill would extend food stamp provisions, repeal a so-called bread tax, and hike the minimum price support on manufacturing milk by 5 per cent.

Uganda releases 112 Peace Corps representatives

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Uganda released 112 American Peace Corps volunteers today, two days after they had been taken into custody on a flight from London to their posts in Africa, the U.S. Embassy said.

The embassy said President Idi Amin ordered the volunteers released in a message delivered to Robert Keeley, deputy chief of mission at the U.S. Embassy in the Ugandan capital of Kampala.

Amin, the abrasive Ugandan strongman, ordered the Americans held Saturday afternoon at Entebbe airport near Kampala. They spent the night under armed guard at the airport and then Sunday were transferred to a hotel on Lake Victoria.

The young volunteers — 49 women and 63 men with five married couples among them — dined and danced at the hotel Sunday night with a few armed guards looking on.

In Washington, the State Department listed 111 as being held. There was no explanation for the discrepancy between the U.S. figure and the 112 listed by the Uganda government.

Today the Americans slept late, talked by telephone with worried parents at home and complained because there was no water in the hotel's swimming pool. There were reports, unconfirmed by U.S. officials in Uganda, that some of the young people hired taxis and went into Entebbe to shop for curios.

The Americans were bound for Zaire, the former Congo; and their chartered VC10 jet had taken off Saturday after a refueling stop at Entebbe.

Amin ordered the plane back as it neared the border, threatening it with Ugandan air force MIGs that were in the air for a flypast in honor of visiting President Albert Bongo of Gabon.

Radio Uganda said Amin suspected that the Americans might be Israelis or white mercenaries bent on adding to the tribal troubles that have neighboring Rwanda and Burundi in turmoil. The broadcast said the president had sent messages to the presidents of Zaire, Rwanda and Burundi asking confirmation that the Peace Corps personnel were expected there. He would consider releasing them only after he got this confirmation, the broadcast said.

4 Ohioans among Peace Corps captives

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four Ohioans are among the 112 members of the Peace Corp being held in Uganda because government officials believe they are mercenaries bent on "imperialist" or "Zionist" subversion in Africa.

The men and women, on their way to posts in Africa, were ordered to land in Uganda on Saturday. They are being held under guard at a hotel.

Ex-POW rips Pentagon ruling

MIAMI (AP) — A former prisoner of war who married his Army nurse says the Pentagon's dropping of charges against eight other POWs makes him feel like he "spent five years for nothing."

Army Staff Sgt. Harry Ettmueller said his future in the Army may hinge on getting a good explanation from the Defense Department as to why the charges were dropped.

Ettmueller of Long Beach, N.J., married Army nurse Ruth Wardell of Oregon City, Ore., here Sunday. Air Force Col. Theodore Guy gave the bride away. He had filed charges of aiding the enemy against the eight.

The wedding was attended by about 40 POWs who were guests at a "Florida Says Thank You" weekend. Gov. Reubin Askew served as best man.

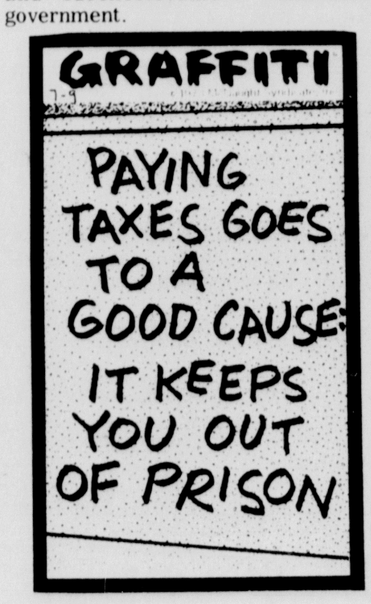

The Pentagon announced last week it would not prosecute the charges brought by Guy.

Ettmueller was a prisoner for 61 months. He said he had talked with former prisoners who supported Guy, their commander in the camp, and were unhappy that the Pentagon had decided not to prosecute.

"I don't feel the Pentagon is justified in dropping the charges. I witnessed things in that camp I did not appreciate," Ettmueller said. "Everybody got the word about what to do, but there were a few who decided not to follow orders."

Nixon won't free Watergate data

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Watergate committee members are suggesting President Nixon will not be subpoenaed to testify, but there was disagreement today over what to do about presidential papers pertaining to Watergate.

One senator called the papers public records that "belong to the American public." Another said he was not concerned about getting the documents, that the committee could do its job without them.

Nixon has told committee Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., that he will not appear before the panel "under any circumstances" or give it access to the papers.

On a television news-interview program Sunday, committee members Sens. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., and Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., said Nixon should make the papers available to the committee.

"I've always thought that public records belong to the American public," Talmadge said. He said the Senate should consider subpoenaing the papers if Nixon doesn't turn them over voluntarily.

Talmadge said that, while he didn't think it would be possible for Nixon to be subpoenaed, "I think a committee of Congress has a right to look at public records."

Gurney, who was interviewed with Talmadge on the ABC network's "Issues and Answers" program, said he felt Nixon should turn over to the committee all documents with either a direct or indirect bearing "on this Watergate affair and who is involved and what happened."

In Connecticut, Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., another committee member, was quoted in a newspaper interview as saying that Nixon's refusal to appear or turn over the documents didn't bother him.

"We're going to be able to do our job with or without him," Weicker said.

Through Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, Nixon has said that he will discuss Watergate "in an appropriate forum" after the Senate committee concludes its hearings on the June 17, 1972, break-in at Democratic national headquarters.

Last week the committee, which resumes its work Tuesday with testimony from former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, formally asked for per-

Farm exports boost consumer food costs $2 billion

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A huge export drain on U.S. farm products, mainly wheat, corn and soybeans, is adding an extra $2 billion to consumer food bills this year, says the Agriculture Department.

Even with the freeze announced by President Nixon last month, retail food prices are expected to climb at least 12 per cent this year. Department analysts says at least 1.5 to 2 per cent of that increase can be linked directly to farm exports.

In all, food spending may rise to $135 billion this year from about $125 billion in 1972. Higher prices are the main reason for the $10-billion boost, but there are more mouths to feed too. And they are eating more.

That means, according to the analysts, that at least $1.75 billion of the expected increase in spending can be traced to higher prices caused by the biggest flood of farm exports on record.

For the year that ended June 30, the shipments totaled more than $12 billion or 50 per cent more than in 1971-72. Higher prices accounted for part of the gain, but the amount of farm products ordered by foreign countries has soared, too.

The effect has been to deplete reserves of grain and oilseed, prompting the Nixon administration to restrict further exports of soybeans, oil and similar products until new crops are harvested next fall.

The exports also have contributed to higher feed costs, forcing slowdown and even cutbacks in the nation's output of meat, poultry and dairy products. A further complication has been the price freeze, which growers and processors blame for a reduction in profits needed to spur production expansion.

Don Paarlberg, director of economic for USDA, says he does not think the United States is embarking on an era of permanent export rationing, despite the current curbs on soybeans and other high-protein feed.

"I hope not, and I labor to see that it does not occur," Paarlberg said in an interview.

"When we need exports as much as we do in order to improve our trade balance and to show that the dollar is a worthwhile currency, to restrict our exports is a very serious matter," Paarlberg said.

The big trigger was the sale last year of 440 million bushels of U.S. wheat, one-fourth the 1972 crop, to the Soviet Union. Russia also took upwards of 275 million bushels of corn and about 40 million bushels of soybeans.

Those sales were important to U.S. farm exports in 1972-73, but, even at a value of $1.1 billion, accounted for little more than one-fourth of the jump in value of commodities sold to foreign customers.

Japan and Europe, experiencing huge demands, as in the United States, for more and better food, were big buyers. Through last April, in the first 10 months of the fiscal year, Japan bought $1.89 billion worth of products, up 89 per cent from a year earlier.

The Common Market countries bought $2.91 billion worth in the same period, up 42 per cent from a year earlier.

Put another way, wheat exports last season totaled about 1.2 billion bushels, just as the new crop started to come in on July 1. Compared with 1972 wheat production, exports took about 75 per cent.

A record wheat crop is expected this year, maybe 1.7 billion bushels or more. But the reserve on July 1 was down to about 425 million bushels, the smallest in six years.

Corn exports are expected to total more than 105 billion bushels, about 20 per cent of last year's crop of 5.55 billion bushels. Production this year may be near a record of 6 billion bushels, although some officials think it might be less because of late planting last spring.

Soybean exports currently are expected to be about 700 million bushels, including equivalent shipments of mission to examine and photocopy all White House Watergate files.

In a letter to Ervin Saturday, Nixon said: "No president could function if the private papers of his office, prepared by his personal staff, were open to public scrutiny."

The papers the committee wants include documents allegedly in the White House file of former presidential aides, including John W. Dean III, fired by Nixon as presidential counsel.

Ervin has replied: "I think that it is very unfortunate that the President of the United States is unwilling to make a full disclosure to the American people of all that he knows."

However, Ervin also has said he opposes the issuance of a subpoena to produce the records.

Gen. Robert E. Lee was offered command of Union forces at the outbreak of the civil war, but turned it down to lead the southern Army.

Mrs. Margaret McFarland

She was preceded in death by her husband, Clarence.

Farm exports

meal, nearly 60 per cent of last year's record crop of 1.282 billion bushels.

Meantime, here is what has happened to farm prices of the three big commodities:

In June 1972, wheat averaged $1.33 per bushel. Last month, it was $2.43 nationally, the highest in 25 years.

A year ago, corn was $1.13 per bushel. In June, it was $1.99 per bushel, also the highest in 25 years.

Soybeans in June last year brought farmers $3.32 per bushel. Last month, they averaged a record $10 per bushel.

Meantime, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, here is what happened to some key food items whose production depends on grain and oilseeds:

In May 1972, hamburger averaged 73.5 cents per pound in retail stores nationally. In May 1973, the most recent month studied, it was 94.6 cents.

Other examples: Sirloin rose from $1.47 per pound to $1.75; bacon, 91.2 cents to $1.20; pork chops, $1.15 to $1.46; frying chicken, 40.5 cents to 58.4 cents, and eggs, 49.5 cents to 67.7 cents.

There are many complicated reasons for food prices going up, and farm exports by no means are the only factors. But economists say they can prove that most of the farm price increase for grain and oilseed the past year has been as a result of soaring exports.

Farm exports have been a keystone of Nixon administration agricultural policy. By developing overseas markets, officials have said, farmers can produce in a free market and rely less on the government.

The United States is the biggest farm exporter in the world, but only in the past decade have farmers come to rely so heavily on sales abroad.

In 1953, total farm exports were valued at $2.8 billion. By 1963, they hovered at about $5.5 billion. In 1964, then went to $6.3 billion, a record then, and have risen most years since.

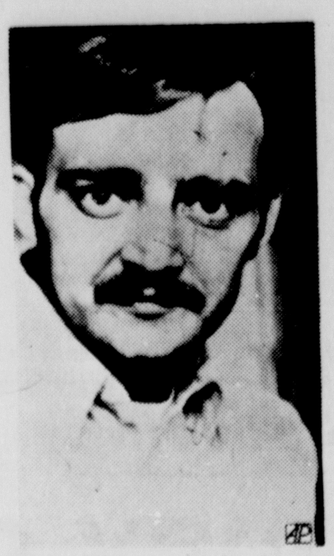

Oath taking for FBI chief

It was the President's first public appearance since June 15, when he went to Pekin, Ill., for the dedication of a memorial congressional research center honoring the late Sen. Everett M. Dirksen.

Kelley, 61, is a 20-year veteran of the FBI. He has been Kansas City police chief since 1961.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More hot and sticky weather was on tap for most of Ohio today. The National Weather Service said temperatures would reach the lower 90s in the southern part of the state and the upper 80s in the north.

Temperatures were expected to be slightly lower near Lake Erie.

Some temporary relief was likely to be provided southern counties today and most of the state Tuesday when thundershowers develop.

Temperatures Sunday night and early Monday morning were generally in the lower 70s. The lowest reading in the state was reported at Youngstown with a 68. Toledo was warmest overnight with 75 degrees.

Little change in temperature was expected tonight.

Women's Editor Hope Strong dies

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Hope Strong, women's editor for the Lima News for several years, has died at the age of 48.

Mrs. Strong was stricken Sunday by an apparent heart attack. She had played tennis earlier in the day.

She was best known for her reporting on fashions, and had won several awards in the field.

Funeral arrangements were not complete.

Most Frenchmen shrug off criticism of atomic tests

PARIS (AP) — A Frenchman who sent his son to Wales to improve his English didn't get a letter from him last week because of a trade union protest in Britain against France's coming nuclear tests in the South Pacific.

"Good thing," said the father. "The kid would probably be asking for money."

The comment was typical of French reaction to foreign protests against the tests. Except for a minority who oppose the bomb, Frenchmen take the foreign furor as a bit of joke. Newspapers generally give perfunctory reports about the protests, and the government television network almost ignores the tests as well as the protests.

The government on Sunday warned all ships to stay clear of the test area from Wednesday on, indicating the tests are imminent. But such stories as the Tour de France cycling race, a British helicopter crash and the dollar crisis took precedence on the evening television news.

French protests against the tests have been confined to newspaper advertisements and telegrams to officials. There have been no street marches or protest meetings.

The most active boycotts have been in Australia, where the unions have imposed an almost complete ban on traffic with France. Mail and telephone service has been cut. Ground crews won't service French aircraft. Harbor workers won't handle French ships, and many Australians are boycotting French products.

British unions with nine million members staged a similar campaign last week.

Neither the French government nor Paris newspapers have announced any estimates of how much the boycotts have cost in trade.

New Zealand is keeping a frigate from its navy 40 miles outside the danger zone around the Mururoa Atoll, and boats sent by private foreign protest groups also are in the area. The French warning to shipping said the French navy had been authorized to board any ships entering the area. It said the navy would get such ships out of the test zone.

Stock prices drift lower

NEW YORK (AP)— Stock market prices drifted lower again today in listless trading that some analysts felt might indicate positive factors.

However, the analysts also said the battering of the dollar and the uncertainties about the economy in general were continuing to depress prices.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was down fractionally, 0.75 at 869.36. Declining issues had a slight edge on advancers on the Big Board.

Larry Wachtel of Bache & Co. said that the fact that the market was not in a steep decline in the face of a generally bleak economic picture was a sign the market might be near bottom.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index was unchanged at 22.24. The New York Stock Exchange broad-based index of some 1,500 common stocks was down 0.05 at 53.31.

Phnom Penh roads opened

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — A large convoy rolled into Phnom Penh today over a recently opened highway. And the military command said the Cambodian capital's other major supply road once more had been retaken from insurgents.

Nearly 500 trucks and trailers arrived over Highway 5 from Battambang, the rice province in the northwest. The highway was reopened last week after being cut for 2½ of the previous three months.

Highway 4 was reopened on Sunday to the coast and the port of Kompong Som, the military command said. The reopening came after five days of hard fighting and around-theclock strikes by U.S. Air Force jets against an estimated three battalions of Khmer Rouge insurgents.

Nixon friend sidestepped trust suit

NEW YORK (AP) — Two years ago, Justice Department officials overruled staff recommendations for an investigation of pricing practices of a firm owned by President Nixon's friend Robert H. Abplanalp, The New York Times reported today.

It was confirmed by the White House in May that Abplanalp, a multimillionaire, had loaned Nixon $625,000 in 1969 to help buy the President's estate in San Clemente, Calif.

The Times said antitrust lawyers in the Justice Department's New York office urged that the Abplanalp firm's books be investigated following a 1970 complaint by one of its competitors.

The Abplanalp company, Precision Valve Corp. of Yonkers, N.Y., manufactures valves for aerosol spray cans. The competitor contended that a rebate scheme by Precision involved predatory pricing.

The request for an investigation eventually was turned down by a deputy assistant attorney general, The Times said.

Another Justice Department official, the only one involved who would comment on the case, told The Times he was not aware of any outside pressure to stop the investigation.

The official, Barry Grossman, assistant chief of the evaluation section in the department's Antitrust Division, said the investigation was not started because it could not be justified, the newspaper said.

According to The Times, Rep. Bertram Podell, D-N.Y., claims to have a copy of a memorandum in which another high department official told then Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell of plans to proceed with the investigation unless Mitchell ruled otherwise.

Gasoline firms lower octane

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) has lowered the minimum octane ratings of its gasoline, a Sohio spokesman said today.

Charles Partridge, associate director of Sohio public relations, said the "bottom end" of ratings was lowered in May from 100 to 98 or 99 for premium and from 94 to 93 for regular gasoline.

An octane rating indicates the grade of gasoline needed to keep the engine from knocking.

Most Americans say Nixon involved

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The Gallup Poll says 71 per cent of Americans it questioned believe President Nixon was involved in the Watergate bugging or cover-up but only 18 per cent feel he should be compelled to leave office.

The poll of 1,451 persons was taken June 22-25. It also said that 98 per cent of those questioned were aware of the Watergate scandal, indicating a growing awareness since a survey last September, when 52 per cent said they knew about Watergate.

New wave pump delivers wattage

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A wave pump that produces a thousand watts of electrical power has been devised by oceanographers at the Scripps Institution of Oceanography, with the help of federal Sea Grant funds.

The device has only one moving part and consists of a 200-foot plastic pipe with a check valve through which the waves force water. The water above the check valve is forced along by the action of the next wave into a pressure tank aboard a ship or buoy.

Then it is discharged through a turbine to generate electricity. Further tests are in order.

Solon hopes new President non-drinker

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — U.S. Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, said Sunday he hopes the next U.S. President is a non-drinker.

Hughes, who won his own battle with alcohol, went on to be the Iowa governor and later senator. He addressed the opening of a Kentucky sponsored school on alcohol abuse.

"Personally," said the Somerset, Ky. native, "I'd rather have a man in the White House who doesn't drink, rather than one who does.

"I'm getting a little sick of seeing our international agreements toasted with vodka."

The alcoholism school today moves to Thomas More College. The state sponsored school is aimed at providing specialized training for professionals and lay workers in the field of combating alcohol abuse.

Hughes said that America must be awakened to how serious its drinking problem is. He challenged estimates of nine million Americans with drinking problems.

Hughes said it is "more like 70 million" and added that there probably isn't one American Indian in the U.S. whose life is not affected in some way by alcoholism.

Ohioan charged in parking meter grand larceny

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — An Ohio man police have charged with stealing $7,300 from city parking meters in the last seven months is being held in the police lockup under $20,000 bond pending a July 12 court hearing.

Howard Edward Masters, 35, of Huron, Ohio, was arrested about 1:15 a.m. Sunday after detectives said they saw him and two women breaking into parking meters on 11th Street. Masters also was charged with possession of burglary tools with intent to commit larceny.

Charged with grand larceny of $408.75 from city parking meters and with possession of burglary tools with intent to commit larceny were Georgia Margaret Scarberry, 32, also of Huron, and Minerva Mae Rice, 50, of Moundsville, W. Va.

They were ordered held under $10,000 bond each, also pending a court hearing July 12.

Ohio Perspective

Education concerns state voters

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Primary and secondary education concerns Ohio voters more than any other facet of government, state Sen. Paul R. Matia, R-25 Westlake, reports.

He bases his belief on a poll answered by more than 1,000 of his constituents.

Voters in the densely populated Cleveland area district listed pollution control as their second biggest concern, followed by health care and treatment for the mentally ill.

Matia said highways and welfare were the source of least concern among those polled. At the same time, voters showed greatest liking for the sales tax and the greatest concern by the level of property taxes. Ranking second was the new state income tax, Matia said.

The senator's questionnaire contained 19 questions, but his constituents listed a number of other matters.

Among these were law enforcement, assistance for the elderly, consumer protection, prison reform, control of Lake Erie, parks, vocational education, and day care for children of working mothers.

Seventy-eight per cent of those responding said Ohio should ban the use of non-returnable bottles and 73 per cent favored outlawing detergents containing phosphate.

Among the 19 questions posed, only four received a negative response from the voters, including one that asked if Ohio should legalize all forms of gambling. Fifty-three per cent said no.

Voters also rejected suggestions to make it easier to obtain a divorce (60 per cent to 40 per cent), to permit school teachers and other public employes to strike (48-52), and to retain the present system for selecting judges (35-65).

The Cuyahoga County voters, otherwise, favored a Regional as opposed to local control of air and water pollution, compulsory inspection of automobiles, no-fault insurance, new laws restricting abortion, offtrack betting on horse races, registration of hand guns and restrictions on their possession, and appointment of judges by the governor.

They advocated continued efforts to find a legal way to provide financial aid to non-public schools, requiring students at the state universities to pay a larger share of the increasing costs of higher education, repeal of the "blue laws" banning Sunday sales, and use of highway use tax revenues for transportation other than highways.

A call for the President

There were many exciting highlights during those five remarkable days of John W. Dean's appearance before the Senate Watergate committee. It would be hard to single out a single episode as the dramatic peak.

For the sake of argument, though, one might suggest the moment when Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., all but demanded that President Nixon come before the committee to testify about the grave allegations made against him.

He and the vice chairman, Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., rendered a brief antiphonal passage on this theme, with Baker saying the committee must find some way "to gain access to the President's knowledge" of the events set forth in such exhaustive detail.

The venerable but lively Sen. Ervin had something to say about that aspect of the matter. The history of Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence, he declared, shows that direct examination under oath is the "only reliable way" to test the credibility of a principal in a criminal case.

He also asked Dean, more or less rhetorically, "Is there any way whatsoever to test the credibility of anybody when the credibility has to be judged merely upon the basis of a written statement?"

This was in line with Ervin's thesis, reiterated a number of times, that "you can't cross-question an interrogatory statement."

Ervin stops short of suggesting that the President should be subpoenaed, and apparently the committee has not yet resolved the question whether to attempt this. The Chairman does say he would "rather not" have the President subpoenaed, and at one point in an interview added, "I would leave it up to him whether he wanted to appear."

The chances of an appearance by Mr. Nixon before the committee, whether or not under subpoena, are not very good. The White House has given out its official opinion that it would be "constitutionally inappropriate" for the chief executive to come for questioning. Melvin R. Laird, in his new capacity as presidential adviser, has said rather vaguely that at a suitable point in the course of the hearings the President would hold a press conference.

A press conference would be highly desirable — though not at some ill-defined point in the future, but as soon as possible. And in the end, it may yet seem advisable for the President to come before the committee.

He harms both himself and the public trust in the presidency by continuing to remain aloof. A personal appearance may be the only way to get to the bottom of this very complex matter.

Getting to the bottom of it is, considering the impact of Watergate on our national life, as constitutionally appropriate as anything we can think of.

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

Court caught with fig leaf down

Don't look now,, but when the Kennedy-appointed Supreme Court Justice Byron "Whizzer" White joined with the four Nixon appointees to return the interpretation and enforcement of anti-pornography laws to the states and local governments it put the Burger Court into a fearsome ideological box.

What the decision did was to reaffirm the Tenth Amendment to the Constitution, which says "the powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people."

This Tenth Amendment — the "Forgotten Tenth" — was never formally repealed. But the modern interpretation of the Fourteenth Amendment has overridden the Tenth. "Equal protection of the laws" has been taken to mean that states have no rights to do anything locally that the federal government has no right to do nationally. So the purveyor of pornography has felt that if he can sell an obscene magazine "with socially redeeming" value in Times Square, he can also sell it on Boston Common or in Squaresvill, Idaho.

THE APPLICATION of "equal protection of the laws" to smut peddling which came in the wake of the famous decision legitimizing the sale of James Joyce's "Ulysses" resulted in what the theatrical newspaper Variety has called "the fig leaf crisis."

To end the cirsis by making the marketing of "porn" a matter of local option, the Court argued that "people in different states vary in their tastes and attitudes, and this diversity is not to be strangled by the absolutism of imposed uniformity."

So be it. But what does this sort of argument do to the recent Burger Court decision on abortion? The learned justices certainly "strangled diversity" there when they forced an "absolutist" judgment about the timing of pregancy termination on all the states without regard to the condition of medical knowledge in different communities.

And how do you square local option in the smut business with the court's ruling that separate state residency requirements for getting on the local welfare rolls are illegal under the Fourteenth Amendment?

Where there was once "diversity" in the way the states governed the administration of welfare, there is now "absolutism." A man coming to New York or Connecticut from South Carolina or Mississippi has a right to welfare payments the day he arrives in town, even though the Constitution says nothing about the local rules governing relief one way or another.

THEN THERE is the court decision that has outlawed any type of local aid to parochial schools on the ground that the religious clause of the First Amendment prohibits any government aid to religion.

The First Amendment, of course, limits itself to saying that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion." It did not prohibit the making of such law to the states, some of which had "established" churches at the time the Constitution was ratified.

Well and good, you might say to the court's decision to use the Fourteenth Amendment to keep the states from buying textbooks for parochial school kids. But what about the smut merchant then? Doesn't the Fourteenth under the anti-censorship part of the First Amendment to print what he likes anywhere? Doesn't the Fourteenth Amendment extension of the First Amendment apply to him too?

I have always been a Tenth Amendment man myself, so I can't weep if the constabulary of Pine Bluff, Ark., decides to put a local bookseller in the clink for selling "Fanny Hill" or "A House Is Not a Home" to juveniles. But if there is to be local option in the showing of movies such as "Deep Throat," the Supreme Court justices, to be consistent, must permit local option in a score of things that now come under the ban of the Fourteenth Amendment restriction on the Tenth Amendment.

A San Francisco pornographic film maker, James Mitchell, has called the court's ruling on "porno" literature "totally insane." But it is insane only on the assumption that same men must be philosophically consistent.

Since the laws always strain toward consitency, the debate about the Fourteenth Amendment's effect on the Tenth Amendment should be taking on a new vitality.

So have at it, you Burger Court justices; look to your ideological respectability.

When Nixon will talk

The official word is out as to when President Nixon will publicly talk about Watergate, but the message is far from precise. All we are really told is that the President will not address himself to the issue before the Senate's investigating committee has wound up the first stage of its hearings.

That is expected to be about the first week in August. Beyond this, White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler was vague: he would not say whether Mr. Nixon's comment would then come within a few days or a few weeks, though he did reject any thought that the President might delay for several months after the first phase of the Watergate hearings.

Ziegler was vague, too, about the method and circumstances of President Nixon's promised comment. The press secretary dealt mostly in negatives: an "appropriate" forum had not yet been chosen; there probably would not be an informal meeting with members of the Senate committee; no written statement would be submitted to the committee by the President; the President would not testify before the Watergate grand jury.

As to why President Nixon has seemingly chosen not to testify under oath in any forum, Ziegler remarked, "I do not think that's necessary." To clinch it, he said the White House stands behind the President's May 22 disavowal of prior knowledge about the Democratic headquarters breakin, or knowledge of the subsequent coverup operation.

This is not a very satisfying response to pained inquiries from all sides, including some leading Republicans, as to when the President will share his knowledge of Watergate with the public.

What the White House is saying, in effect, is that at least another month will pass before Mr. Nixon addresses himself to questions that have thrown the nation into turmoil.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, RECORD HERALD — The following letter has been sent to Mrs. Elmer N. Reed, retiring teacher at Belle Aire Elementary School:

Dear Mrs. Reed:

As a representative of the hundreds of students you have taught at Belle Aire School in the past years, I wish to thank you, from the bottom of my heart, for your dedication and demonstration of unselfish leadership, which is so vital in the field of education today. The people of Washington C.H. have much to be grateful for-you have proven yourself an outstanding model, (academically, socially, and morally), with whom the children have identified for years.

Now, as I am ready to enter the teaching profession, I realize, more so than ever, your influence and the effect you have had on those fortunate people you have come in contact with. I only hope I can maintain the enthusiasm and life-long devotions you have had for each individual student, regardless of intelligence and classroom involvement.

Thank you, Mrs. Reed. We owe you so much.

Hal Boyle . . . A tapestry of memories

NEW YORK (AP) — Life is the weaver and memory is the tapestry it weaves.

And what a wonderful tapestry every human life is. It is a pageantry of heydays and gray days, tremulous moments and dull years, idle dreams and transient agonies that seemed perpetual while they lasted.

Life has woven you an extensive memory pattern if you can look back and remember when—

Lydia Pinkham was a household name, and a bottle with her picture on it was on the shelves of more U.S. homes than any other product.

Farmers said corn had to be "knee-high by the Fourth of July" or they were in for a bad crop yield.

About half of a housewife's energy in summer seemed to be spent in fighting or trying to get rid of houseflies. For getting rid of them on the front porch, there was nothing better than an agile old man in a wheelchair with a wire fly swatter.

A mother had to serve biscuits or cornbread at every meal—or else what would the menfolk and kids have to sop up the bacon grease or gravy with?

Only rich men or dudes had a shirt laundered after wearing it just a single day.

There were more husbands in America who slept in their underwear than in pajamas.

When the children first started going barefoot in summer, mother sighed. She knew that within three days one of them would come home, hobbling and wailing with the agony of a stubbed and bleeding toe.

A good neighbor was a lady who lived next door and always had a cup of whatever you needed to borrow in an emergency.

Those were the days—remember?

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Mom's sunshine smile was vacation enough

DEAR ABBY: I quote from your column: "Dear Abby: My mother has been very sick for a year and a half. Her doctor says she could last another year or die tomorrow. My husband and I have put off taking any kind of vacation ever since mother's illness, and we really must get away. I'm afraid if we go, mother might die, and we'll have to turn around and rush home. Should we go or not?"

I'm glad you threw the problem right back into her lap, Abby. That's a decision everyone must make for himself. My own beloved mother suffered a series of strokes and was confined to bed, totally helpless.

My brother and I took turns staying with her for nine years, day and night, and neither one of us worried about a vacation. When one of us would walk into Mama's room, the sunshine of her smile was "vacation" enough for us.

God called her home last Christmas.

NO REGRETS IN ALLIANCE, OHIO

DEAR NO: Another Ohioan had the same problem. Read on for her solution:

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the woman whose mother lingered so long with a terminal illness that she and her husband didn't dare to take a much needed vacation reminded me of my own situation.

We, too, had six years of the identical situation. Finally we made arrangements with a funeral home to keep mother's body until our return if she died while we were away. Then we felt free to go.

It turned out that mother passed away while we were home, so it wasn't necessary for the funeral home to grant our request. But for four years we went away on our vacation with a clear conscience, and heaven knows it was our salvation.

MARION, OHIO

DEAR ABBY: The population of this town is 1,200. There is to be a wedding here soon. Two hundred and fifty invitations were sent for the service and reception.

Some of those invited do not know the bride and groom or their parents very well. Two friends of the bride's mother organized a shower with a guest list of 80 women. Again, many were practically strangers.

The two hostesses of this shower sent telephone lists to several women, who were supposed to invite the guests by phone. They agreed to do so.

The night of the shower there hadn't been a single regret, so 80 women were expected. A hall was rented and chairs and tables were set up, and food and drinks were on hand for 80. Only 15 women showed up, including the bride-to-be, her mother, and the hostesses!

I was there, and it was the saddest, most embarrassing shower I've ever witnessed.

We later learned that the women who accepted the telephone lists disapproved of this kind of shower. So they just didn't call anyone. They also didn't bother to tell the hostesses of their decision.

Some women who were not called said they would have come. Others said they were glad they were not called. Regardless of the rights and wrongs of such a shower, who was responsible for this humiliating event?

AN INTERESTED PARTY

DEAR INTERESTED: Obviously, the women who accepted the telephone lists and decided not to call anyone, but failed to advise the hostesses of their decision were responsible. Shame on them.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, July 9, the 190th day of 1973. There are 175 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1816, Argentina declared its independence from Spain.

On this date:

In 1810, Napoleon Bonaparte annexed Holland to France.

In 1819, the inventor of the sewing machine, Elias Howe, was born in Spencer, Mass.

In 1850, President Zachary Taylor died at the White House after serving only one year and four months.

In 1940, during World War II, the Duke of Windsor was appointed governor of the Bahamas.

In 1947, the engagement of Princess Elizabeth of Britain to Philip Mountbatten was announced.

In 1960, the Soviets threatened the United States with rockets if any attempt were made to oust the Castro government in Cuba.

Ten years ago: An agreement was signed to create the federation of Malaysia, uniting Malaya, Singapore, Sarawak and North Borneo.

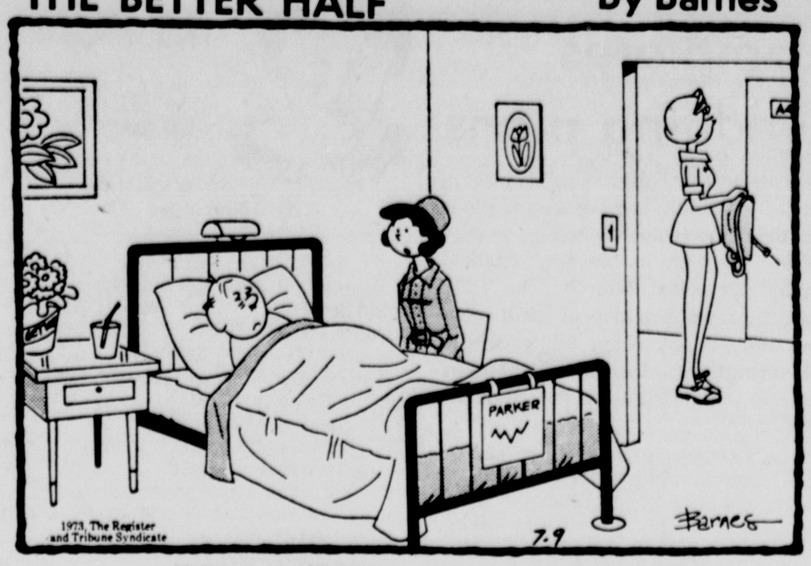

Five years ago: New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller challenged Richard Nixon to join in sponsoring a poll of voters to determine which of the two would be the strongest Republican candidate for president.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

TUESDAY, JULY 10

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

The position of Mars indicates an extremely active day. Things should move along briskly — and you with them. But don't scatter your energies.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

You may have a tendency now toward discontent, irritability with persons who do not understand you. Recognize this possibility and determine to control such feelings.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Consider all propositions carefully, to determine whether they are really worthwhile — and advisable at this time. In any case, don't be guided by your emotions.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Check spur-of-the-moment comment, actions. You could step into trouble through heedless tactics. With diplomacy and good judgment, however, you should have a good day.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Do not become witlessly involved in so many activities that you neglect the ones pertinent NOW. Conditions excellent for useful discussions, new contacts.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

As with Gemini, curb emotions and do not let them become a factor in vital decisions. Take steps to develop a latent talent.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Emphasize your originality. The eyes of superiors are on your efforts, and worthwhile ideas and new methods could lead to a fine up-grading of your status.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Stress self-control and self-reliance. Don't count too much on the cooperation of others. Plan a workable program and make all commitments judiciously.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Tricky in spots, day will demand close attention to plans, good follow-through, efficient methods and a careful eye to details. Avoid making rash promises.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Fine stellar influences now stimulate your special gifts. Look beyond the immediate for true perspective. Intuition should be keen now.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

A good day for handling business transactions successfully and for gaining ground through some rarely used talent. Avoid a tendency toward procrastination, however.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

In dealings with others, be sure to note their reactions. The right word at the right time could be a big factor in putting over ideas.

YOU BORN TODAY have been endowed with a fine intellect, a lively imagination, extraordinary intuition and unusually high standards and principles. You have a keen sense of justice and would make an outstanding lawyer, jurist; could also succeed in science, journalism or in the field of invention. You are extremely conventional and conservative; inclined, however, to actually suffer when others do not live up to your high ideals. Try to master such sensitivity and develop a philosophy of "live and let live." In this way, you will enjoy life more fully and help others to do the same.

MRS. DOUGLAS STAYROOK

Sacred Heart Church setting for wedding

Sacred Heart Church in Sharon, Pa., was the setting June 30 for the marriage of Miss Sandra Kollar, daughter of Mrs. Stephen Kollar, Masury, Ohio, and the late Stephen Kollar, to Douglas Stayrook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stayrook of Rt. 1, New Holland.

The Rev. Donald Scully officiated for the marriage at noon before an altar adorned with fan shaped arrangements of white flowers. The pews were marked with emerald foliage and white bows. The entrance of the church was decorated with topiary trees dotted with fresh flowers. Miss Anne Marie Griz, organist, and Jospeh Sandor, vocalist, presented nuptial music.

The bride's uncle, Joseph Waso, escorted the bride to the altar and she was given in marriage by her mother. She wore a slipper length gown of white organza with Venice lace bodice, full sheer sleeves, high collar and empire waist which was softly gathered forming an A-line silhouette. A flounced hemline was trimmed with Venice lace. The matching mantilla of Venice lace and illusion was attached to a Camelot headpiece which formed a chapel-length train. The bride carried an arm bouquet of traditional white blooms.

Michael Stayrook served as best man for his brother, and Robert Corso of Youngstown, and Frank Alexander of Bellefontaine were ushers.

Following the ceremony, the bride presented a rose to her mother and also the mother of the groom.

Hostesses for the reception held in the New Villa Restaurant in Farrell, Pa., was Mrs. Gus Kollar, aunt of the bride; Mrs. Tom Parks, cousin of the groom matched the bride's color.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Stimpert of Washington C.H.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Backensto, Mr. and Mrs. Omar L. Backensto and sons, Ronald and Kenneth, all of Mansfield; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Backensto Jr. of Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Parks, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Spain, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Herring, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Hennessy, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alexander, Ed Alexander and Mrs. Carl Alexander, grandmother of the groom, all of Bellefontaine.

The new Mrs. Stayrook, a graduate of Kennedy Christian High School in Sharon, Pa., and Ohio State University, where she majored in elementary music, is employed at the Daarud Piano and Oragan Studios in Columbus. Her husband, a graduate of Miami Trace High School and Ohio State University, where he majored in agriculture economics, is employed by Landmark Inc., Columbus.

Girl Scout Day Camp held at Camp Gipiwa

A Brownie 'late night' and an overnight stay at Camp Gipiwa, for Juniors, Cadettes and Senior Girl Scouts were the highlights of the Day Camp which was attended by 65 Fayette County Girl Scouts and approximately 30 from the Greenfield area. Camp was held under the direction of Mrs. Edward Jones of Greenfield and Mrs. Charles Webb of Jeffersonville.

Late night was planned for Wednesday, but due to the inclement weather, was changed to Thursday. Parents arrived with potluck dishes and all units sang favorite songs and presented skits. Homemade ice cream was enjoyed by everyone, which was made at the campsite by the Cadettes.

Rains and bugs failed to dampen spirits of the girls as they learned many nature projects, crafts and took hikes. They cooked over open fires and learned how to do all the safest ways possible.

Leaders for the week from Fayette County were Mrs. Ronald Dean, Mrs. Byers Shaw, Mrs. James Arnott, Mrs. William Cales, Mrs. Carl Johnson, Miss Wanda Putnam, Mrs. Thomas Coder, Mrs. William Barnett, Mrs. Jim Thompson, Mrs. Howard Hixon. The Nursery was staffed by Mrs. Robert Copas of Greenfield and Mrs. Robert West of Washington C.H.

Intermediate boys were under the direction of Mrs. George Geesling, Fayette County Senior Girl Scout Troop aides were Miss Ann Black, Miss Stephanie Johns and Miss Cindy VanMeter.

Miss Oesterle completes wedding plans

Miss Melanie Oesterle, bride-elect of Daniel L. Smith, has completed plans for their open-church wedding on July 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the New Holland United Methodist Church. The Rev. Father David Schilder of Chillicothe and Rev. Frank Allen White of the Bloomingburg United Methodist Church will officiate at the wedding ceremony.

Miss Oesterle has asked her sister, Mrs. Lawrence Black to be matron of honor, and Miss Penny Hardman to be maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be the Misses Sandy Smith, Dianne Oesterle and Janie Counts.

Warren Trakas will serve as best man. The groomsmen will be William Hamburger, David Smith, Maynard Oesterle and Richard Southworth.

Hostesses for the reception in the social room of the church following the marriage will be Mrs. Charles Queen, Miss Debbie Morris and Miss Kathy Morris. Miss Mary Ellen Oesterle and Miss Cheryl Queen will preside at the guest book.

Mrs. Stahl honor guest at party

Mr. and Mrs. William Newton entertained recently with a surprise birthday party for Mrs. William Stahl.

The guests enjoyed games and refreshments throughout the evening. Later Mrs. Stahl opened many pretty gifts. The highlight of the evening was when she received a 'singing telegram.'

The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Dean, Mr. and Mrs. James Donohoe, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Huysman, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leeth, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Orthmyer, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Penwell, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Pohlman, Mr. and Mrs. Stahl and daughters, Lorie, Joan and Susi, and Mr. and Mrs. Newton and daughters, Angela and Chantal.

WEEKDAY SUPPER

Spaghetti with Tomato Sauce
Salad Bowl — Crusty Bread
Coconut Cake — Beverage

TOMATO SAUCE

It may be held in the freezer for as long as three months.

3 tablespoons olive oil
¾ cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
2 cans (each 1 pound) tomatoes
1 can (12 ounces) tomato paste
1 cup water
1 tablespoon sugar
½ teaspoon pepper
1 bay leaf
1½ teaspoons dried oregano
⅛ teaspoon dried basil
Salt to taste

In a large saucepot heat the oil; add onion and garlic and cook until onion is yellowed. Add remaining ingredients. Simmer, uncovered, for 1 hour; stir occasionally. Makes about 5 cups. Enough for 1 to 1½ pounds spaghetti — 4 to 6 main dish servings.

DINNER FOR FOUR

Country Steak and Vegetables
Salad Bowl — Rolls
Strawberry Shortcake
Beverage

COUNTRY STEAK AND VEGETABLES

2 tablespoons shortening
1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup, undiluted
½ cup water
2 tablespoons catchup
1 tablespoon steak sauce
3 medium potatoes (about 1 pound), quartered
1 package (9 ounces) frozen cut green beans

Pound steak with meat hammer; cut into serving-size pieces. In a large skillet brown steak in shortening; pour off fat. Mix soup, water, catchup and steak sauce and add. Cover; cook gently for 30 minutes. Add potatoes; cook 45 minutes more. Add beans; stir to separate. Cook 20 minutes more or until meat and vegetables are tender, stirring occasionally. Makes 4 servings.

Spread bread slices with deviled ham and top with slices of cheddar cheese; top with bread slices to make sandwiches. Butter the outside of the sandwiches and grill until cheese is melted and bread is golden-brown. Serve with sweet pickles.

A dash of cinnamon may be added to canned blueberry pie filling.

LISTINGS NEEDED

TV Viewing

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Time has not dulled the memory of that furrowed brow and those sculptured tones.

Edward R. Murrow, foremost reporter in television's early days, is brought back to life in a replay of his historic confrontation on "See It Now" with Sen. Joseph McCarthy, the Communist-hunting Republican from Wisconsin.

The confrontation was the beginning of the end for McCarthy, although McCarthyism lingered on.

Three "See It Now" broadcasts from early 1954 were condensed into one hour Sunday as CBS inaugurated a new 12-week summer series called "CBS News Retrospective."

In light of our present relationship with the Soviet Union and Communist China, the witchhunt hysteria of that era seems almost like ancient history. That McCarthy inspired such fear—and with so little evidence of guilt, as documented by Murrow—is a wonder.

Murrow's tactic was to let McCarthy expose himself with his own words. He strung together films of McCarthy speeches and hearings, then filled in the missing facts.

The Murrow broadcast of March 9, 1954, was one of the first to demonstrate the power of television to influence events. Viewer response ran substantially against McCarthy. Subsequent broadcasts included McCarthy's reply and Murrow's reply to McCarthy's attempt to brand him a Communist sympathizer.

By the end of the year, McCarthy had been censured by the Senate, and his power waned. He died in 1957. Murrow died in 1965.

Next Sunday night, CBS will show two more "See It Now" broadcasts, these from 1953. All of the early shows are in black and white.

Other documentaries in the retrospective include "The Silent Spring of Rachel Carson," "Black History: Lost, Stolen or Strayed," "Don't Count the Candles" and another historic Murrow show, "Harvest of Shame."

That documentary on migrant workers came back to haunt Murrow when he served as President Kennedy's head of the United States Information Agency and CBS sold it for showing on BBC.

This retrospective of a time when television documentaries packed more wallop than they do today is in a sense a legacy of the strike by the Writers Guild of America. Unable to schedule new shows for the summer, CBS hauled out the old documentaries. They were last shown two years ago at Lincoln Center in New York by the center's Film Society.

ABC has announced a series of 12 hard-news documentaries for next season.

Air quality much better in Ohio Valley

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Air quality over the heavily industrialized upper Ohio Valley improved considerably during the night and a spokesman for the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency said, "It looks like we're in pretty good shape."

Ray Matjasic said the air quality index for the four-county eastern region "dropped fantastically" early today from 256 to 109. The lower the index, the cleaner the air is.

Jefferson, Belmont, Columbiana and Monroe counties have been under a pollution alert because of air stagnation since Saturday.

On Sunday, the index had reached 280, only 20 points away from the warning level. The emergency level is 400.

The next reading was to be taken at 8 a.m. today. "It will probably rise a little bit by that time, but we're hoping it won't be as much as Sunday," Matjasic said.

He said "notable cutbacks" by industries in the area "definitely had something to do with the improved conditions."

He said about 50 local industries had been contacted by the EPA and the Northern Ohio Valley Air Authority and many had reduced operations voluntarily.

Police investigate Cincy stabbing death

Anderson, 56, was found dead of multiple stab wounds in his Mount Auburn section apartment Sunday. A butcher knife was the weapon, police said.

Steel pinch talks spurs more orders

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A rash of long term commitment requests from steel users apparently has been spurred by fear of a steel pinch, Industry Week magazine reports.

The magazine noted that long term commitments have been common among foreign steel producers in the past, but that steel users now are asking U.S. mills for similar guarantees.

One company reported that a customer offered to sign a 3½-year contract for a certain amount of steel at full book price at the time of shipment, the magazine said.

"The number of major customers who are vitally interested in obtaining long term availability commitments for steel is amazing," the magazine said.

The magazine estimated raw steel output last week at 2,860,000 net tons, slightly down from the previous week's 2,897,000 tons, but the drop was blamed on maintenance shutdowns.

Both imports and exports continued to rise in response to the strong demand for steel, however.

Mills report "they can sell abroad almost any amount of tonnage they please of almost all products—from slabs to hot bands to finished steel—at prices equaling, or in some cases exceeding those for domestic shipments," the magazine said.

Production mistake brings plant explosion

Damage was "minimal," according to Fire Marshal Howard Fox.

"Something went haywire in the process," the marshal said. The plant produces paint.

Investors still fear brokerage failures

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Anlyst

NEW YORK (AP) — For the first time since stockholder censuses have been compiled, the number of individual investors has dropped over a one-year period, from 32.5 million in 1972 to 31.7 million this year.

These figures are based on compilations by the New York Stock Exchange, and might actually be conservative.

Sindlinger & Co., a market research firm that tests sentiment on many subjects by almost continous telephone calls throughout the country, maintains that since the first of the year 3.5 million accounts have been closed.

Whatever the loss, it is substantial and is worrying industry and government officials, and an increasing number of corporate executives whose companies depend on stock market financing.

Seeking the answer, they have found a multitude of explanations rather than just one, but a common theme seems to be that investors have lost confidence, not only in themselves but in the fairness and safety of the market.

Sindlinger interprets his findings this way: "It isn't so much a question of fear but of being sophisticated and realizing that a broker calls only when he wants to make money."

But a just completed study of small investors by the New York Stock Exchange indicates that fear is indeed a contributant to low trading volume.

It found "Many small investors do not feel sufficiently protected by industry self-regulation," and that a prevailing feeling was that "brokerage firms are vulnerable to a recurrence of paper work problems and financial difficulties."

There is justification for such feelings. During the 1968-1970 collapse of many brokerage firms, mainly and ironically because they couldn't handle all the business that came their way, many investors had their money tied up for months.

And now, because so many customers have either closed their accounts or permitted them to remain dormant, more firms are in danger of collapse, their income insufficient to cover overhead.

The Securities Industry Protection Corp. has 87 liquidations on its books, most of them resulting at least partly from "poor books and records." And the New York Stock Exchange has 68 firms under scrutiny, with nine of them considered for liquidation.

Compared with the confusion of 1968-1970, most of these liquidations will be handled smoothly. The endangered Big Board firms can be merged into more prosperous firms, some business sold off or their accounts transferred.

If these measures cannot be implemented, then the job becomes that of the protection corporation, SIPC, which will appoint a trustee and within weeks begin dispersing customer property, insuring each investor coverage for up to $50,000 in cash and securities left on account with a firm.

In other words, the investor today is generally considered by government and industry officials to be better protected than he was five or three years ago. But some brokers complain that the customer doesn't know it.

Here is a typical complaint heard in the financial district here, expressed by two men who asked to be described only as "two Wall Street leaders," a timidity typical of those who work in regulated industries.

"The public would be a lot more reassured if they had more information about SIPC, but SIPC has rules and regulations that make that difficult. It's almost impossible for a firm to refer to SIPC in an advertisement.

"Everything that can be printed about them is in an 11-page brochure that SIPC itself distributes. We can't summarize; we have to use their language.

"About all a broker can do is hang their logotype in the window. He can't say his customers are covered for up to $50,000. And as a result, the public is poorly informed."

Ironically, the restrictions on advertising were imposed by SIPC in the interest of accurate information.

How to make a relaxed 10-minute long distance call.

When you examine a 10-minute long distance call, you'll see that it gives you enough time to say and hear just about everything you want to say and hear.

Without costing very much. Provided you follow a few simple rules.

Just dial your out-of-state long distance calls direct, without operator assistance. And make your calls between 5 and 11 P.M., Sunday through Friday. (Rates are even lower after 11 P.M. and on weekends.)

That way you'll pay a lot less for long distance calls.

Even 10-minute ones.

Some typical costs for 10-minute self-dialed station calls, placed between 5 and 11 P.M., Sunday through Friday, are: Seattle, $2.60; Los Angeles, $2.60; Dallas, $2.10; Atlanta, $2.00; Boston, $2.05; New York, $2.00; St. Louis, $2,00; Las Vegas, $2.50; Miami, $2.10 and Denver, $2.10.

All rates plus tax.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Developers of a new suburban neighborhood thought it would look nice if all the houses were painted yellow. Accordingly, in selling lots, they included a "yellow only" requirement in each deed.

But after a number of homes had gone up, one incoming family decided they liked green better. The developers refused to allow any deviation, and, in due coruse, the dispute landed in the courtroom.

"This kind of restriction," the family argued, "is an unlawful interference with our personal liberty. We have a right to follow our own tastes."

However, the court held they would have to stay with yellow whether they liked it or not. The court said the requirement was a reasonable means to a reasonable end — to benefit the community as a whole.

IT IS COMMON in developing a neighborhood, to impose deed restrictions of one kind or another. They may cover anything from the size of houses to the height of hedges, from the style of architecture to the type of fencing.

And, by and large, the law will enforce these restrictions. Although they reduce the rights of the purchaser, they do so on the basis of a lawful contract, freely entered into, at the time of original sale.

True, some restrictions may be unenforceable for reasons of overriding public policy. The leading example is the racial restriction, now outlawed everywhere.

Furthermore, a restriction valid at first may gradually lose its validity as the neighborhood changes. Say a dozen home owners in the "yellow only" neighborhood had been allowed to get away with different colors.

At that point, even if the developers suddenly decided to crack down, a court would probable refuse to enforce the restriction. As one judge put it:

"Restrictions will not be enforced where the character of the neighborhood has so changed as to defeat the original purpose of the plan."

'Mrs. Emma Peel' married secretly

LONDON (AP) — British actress Diana Rigg, who won fame as the judo expert Emma Peel in the television "Avengers" series, has married secretly.

Miss Rigg, 33, who is to appear in a comedy television series in Los Angeles called "The Diana Rigg Show," married Israeli artist Menachen Gueffen at Richmond register office in southeast London.

The marriage was announced today. The announcement did not say when the ceremony had taken place.

It was her first marriage and his second.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Retired Gen. William Westmoreland, former Army chief of staff, says the United States "moved too fast in eliminating the draft."

Writing in the Sunday edition of the Los Angeles Times, Westmoreland said a lottery system draft should be maintained to permit quick mobilization and to ensure that service personnel will represent all levels of American society.

Farm pact with Russia important

By DON KENDALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new agreement for the exchange of information between the United States and the Soviet Union could have far-reaching effects on farm production in both countries, the Agriculture Department said today.

The agreement, signed June 19, calls for a five-year exchange of information, scientists and commercial tradesmen supervised by a U.S.-USSR Joint Committee on Agricultural Cooperation.

One of the most important parts of the agreement, widely publicized when it was signed, provides for regular exchanges of crop production and other information designed to give each country a better idea of the other's situation in any given year.

In that way, USDA officials hope to keep closer tabs on Soviet grain requirements and not be caught off-guard by a repeat of the huge purchases of U.S. grain made by the Russians a year ago.

A report issued by the Foreign Agricultural Service spells out details of the agreement and how some of the projects might shape up. In the field of research and technology, major areas of cooperation will be plant, animal and soil sciences and farm mechanization.

"The United States and the USSR are world leaders in maintaining major collections of genetic stocks of agricultural crops and have long-range programs of exploration, introduction and evaluation of crop germ plasm," the report said.

Conceivably, one USDA research scientist said privately, access to Soviet germ plasm or seed banks might lead to radically new hybrids of crops or improved strains that could be adapted to use by American producers.

Similar possibilities exist for Soviet scientists and producers with access to U.S. seeds and plant breeding techniques.

Another possibility will be in pest control. The report said the Soviets have developed extensive control programs and new joint efforts are expected to be worked out using all available control methods.

Some of the most promising possibilities will be in the areas of livestock and veterinary research. Programs to be developed will include the following subjects:

Genetics and breeding, physiology, nutrition, including feed additives, technology of meat, milk and wool production on large farms; infectious diseases, parisitology; and veterinary toxicology.

"The exchange of animals and biological materials will be developed within the proposed projects and within the limits of existing import-export regulations," the report said.

Proposed cooperative activities will cover all classes of livestock, including beef and dairy cattle, swine, sheep and poultry.

Legion chief hopes group will decay

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The National Commander of the American Legion hopes the organization will die out when the members die off.

"We're an organization dedicated to our own demise," said Joe L. Matthews of Fort Worth, Texas. The Legion wants no more wars, he said.

Matthews said that some 450,000 Vietnam veterans have joined the Legion and are second only in numbers to the vets from World War II. He said the younger members are bound to bring changes but the Legion will continue with its basic purpose, rehabilitation, Americanism and Legion baseball.

Meanwhile, the Legion still opposes U.S. aid to North Vietnam and will insist upon a complete accounting of the fate of soldiers missing in action and unaccounted for in Vietnam.

"We have always advocated the use of political, economic, moral and military pressure by our nation in Indochina to achieve the release of our POWs and identification of the fate of our MIAs," he said.

Milledgeville's Council appoints new president

MILLEDGEVILLE — The Milledgeville Council has appointed Arnett Kelley as Council president to replace John Grooms who resigned.

Discussion at the July meeting centered on the physical appearance of the village, and Mayor Johnny D. Blair brought out complaints by residents of dogs barking and of lots overgrown with weeds. He emphasized continuing efforts by the Council to promote a clean-up campaign.

It was decided that the council should send letters to those who have allowed weeds and grass to grow unchecked requesting that they remedy the situation as soon as possible.

In reference to other clean-up efforts, it was noted that Mayor Blair will represent the village in court July 19 when the removal of rubbish by the Dill Grain Co. will be reviewed. Council has tried to get the abandoned elevator area cleared for some time. If it is successful in Court, council will see that other property owners begin to correct local eyesores.

The mayor pointed out that four Council seats will be filled in the fall, and indicated that he hopes some of those who have so been vocal about village problems in the past will accept the opportunity to take positive action.

Convicted slayer flees

Authorities said the slim, 135-pounder broke out early Saturday morning by sawing through the bars over his cell window with a hacksaw blade.

After climbing through the opening, he cut through a screen and two more bars over a window leading to the prison courtyard, officials said.

Matthews was convicted by a county jury last May in the slaying of Harold Emrick, 17, of McDonald.

Authorities said Emrick was stabbed 38 times and then beaten last January in a trucking garage.

Matthews' escape was the fourth in two weeks from the jail. Only one of the inmates has been recaptured.

Castro attacks Chilean protests

MIAMI (AP) — Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro says "imperialist" forces were behind a recent unsuccessful coup attempt against the Marxist government of President Salvadore Allende of Chile.

He also said the same forces were responsible for attempts to "impose a military dictatorship in Uruguay," where President Juan D. Bordaberry, under pressure from the armed forces, has dissolved congress and is ruling by decree.

The Cuban leader spoke Saturday in Matanzas Province, near the site of the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion, in ceremonies dedicating a public school. The address was broadcast throughout Cuba and monitored in Miami.

Four drivers charged in weekend accidents

Four drivers were cited for traffic law violations in six traffic mishaps reported by city police and sheriff's departments over the weekend. There were no injuries in the crashes.

Patrick C. Connell, 19, of 309 Buckeye Rd., was cited for reckless operation by sheriff's deputies and charged with driving with insufficient lights by city police after he allegedly left the scene of an accident on the CCC Highway-W at the U. S. 62 detour late Sunday.

Sheriff's deputies said Connell was eastbound when his car ran off the right side of the road and collided with a highway marker sign. He then reportedly drove away from the accident scene but was apprehended by city police a few minutes later when they noticed the moderate damage to the front of the 1964 car.

Other accidents were:

POLICE

SATURDAY, 8:44 p.m. — Loretta S. Smith, 18, of 2011 Heritage Dr., was cited for failure to maintain assured clear distance after a rear-end collision with a car driven by Richard Allen, 38, of 401 Elm St., at the intersection of Elm Street and Washington Avenue; damage moderate.

SUNDAY, 3:06 a.m. — Ricky A. Smith, 23, of 802 S. Main St., was cited for reckless operation after he lost control of his motorcycle and upset as he turned from S. Main Street into an alley; damage minor.

3:20 p.m. — A car driven by Laverne M. Nolan, 28, South Salem, and a parked car owned by Norman L. Day, 335 Oak St., were involved in a slight mishap on the Washington Square lot, damage minor.

SHERIFF

SUNDAY, 12:45 p.m. — Clyde S. Lineback, 25, of Cincinnati, was cited for improper passing after his semi-rig and a tractor-trailer rig driven by Paul E. Happeny, 49, Rt.1, collided on U.S. 35 at the Royal Castle entrance; damage moderate.

City school budget tops board slate

The Washington C.H. Board of Education will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday to discuss school finances for next year.

The 1974 budget will top the agenda but the cost of lunches, purchase of textbooks, and salary adjustments also will be discussed.

The major difficulty with completion of the 1974 budget seems to be that state legislation concerning funds for schools is still in limbo, but Superintendent Edwin M. Nestor feels that potential increases in state funds probably will be very small for Washington C.H. Approval of the budget is required by July 15.

An increase in the price of lunches seems to be dictated by rising food prices. Meat prices are the greatest single factor, and the school system is now buying most of the meat used rather than receiving it through government subsidy as in the past. Cost of lunches is expected to be set at 50 cents.

The Senior High School has requested adoption of nine new textbooks at a total cost of $1,161. Most of the books are for new offerings in world history.

The board will consider the hiring of three new teachers and pay increases for eight present teachers. Many of the proposed increases for current teachers are the result of extended service.

Gary Shaffer, basketball coach at Washington Senior High, will attend the meeting to summarize plans for the basketball program.

Burglary, vandal reports checked

A burglar entered the Sollars Brothers Inc., building 309 S. Main St., overnight Friday but made off with only about $5 in change, police reported.

Officers said burglary was discovered by employes Saturday morning. The intruder apparently entered through a rear door and then ransacked the desks in the office. Nothing else was reported missing.

A large plate glass window at the Will-O-Wave Beauty Shop, Court and North streets was damaged by a pellet fired from an aire rifle sometime Saturday night. Damage was set at $107.

CHARLES E. STEVENS

Specialist Charles E. Stevens, 21, Rt. 3, Washington C.H., has been graduated from the Ohio Army National Guard's Non-Commissioned Officer (NCO) Course at Camp Perry. Graduation from the two-week course of intensive training is usually a prerequisite for promotion to the rank of sergeant.

As a civilian, Stevens is employed at Pennington Bread, Inc. He is a 1970 graduate of Washington Senior High School.

The NCO course, in its fourth year, is designed to alleviate the shortage of qualified non-commissioned officers in the Ohio National Guard. Ohio is one of the few states to have such a program.

Camper-trailer damaged heavily in Freeway fire

Sheriff's deputies said the car, driven by Katherine Reinacher, of Batavia, N.Y., was southbound on I-71 near the southbound rest area when the tire caught fire. Mrs. Reinacher stopped the car, and her five passengers got out as the fire spread to the trailer.

A small propane tank on the trailer also was ignited by the flames and contributed to the heavy damage. Jeffersonville firemen were called to the scene and extinguished the blaze.

Moderate damage was reported to a 1966 model motorcycle when it caught fire in the Sea-way lot early Sunday.

City firemen said Dennis Goff, of Sabina, was using a lighted match to check the level of gas in the tank when the tank caught fire. Goff dumped the cycle on its side to allow the gas to run from the tank. The flames burned the paint from the tank and damaged the wiring.

Firemen reported the gas leak was caused by a defective regulator in front of the station. The gas was flowing from a pop-off valve through a two-inch underground vent pipe.

Traffic was blocked off in the area until the leak was shut off by Dayton Power and Light Co., employes. One of the workers suffered from inhalation gas and was given oxygen by firemen.

There was no explosion or fire.

Dog license suit filed

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A Lake County Common Pleas Court hearing has been set for Thursday on a suit which challenges the county's right to peddle dog licenses door to door.

Lawyer Michael J. Laird, who filed the taxpayers' suit last month, charged that the county invades citizens' privacy by sending agents "door to door looking for a crime."

The county, which instituted "Operation Dog Check" earlier this year, contends the agents merely ask if dogs are licensed. If not, the agents offer to sell a dog license on the spot.

The county said that in three weeks of operation the program has netted about $2,700 in license fees and registered twice the normal number of dogs.

"The people who have been doing all the complaining are the ones who have been cheating all these years and not buying licenses," a county spokesman said.

Ohio TV outlets ripped

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Two Ohio broadcasting executives have challenged the criticism of the Taft Broadcasting Co. and two television stations by an outgoing member of the Federal Communications Commission.

Commissioner Nicholas Johnson Sunday listed the Taft organization as the corporate owner with the worst over-all record and its Columbus affiliate, WTVN-TV, among the 10 worst outlets in over-all programming in the nation.

Johnson also named WDHO-TV of Toledo as the worst in news and public affairs.

Lawrence H. Rogers II, president of Taft, said Johnson was "hostile to the free enterprise system of broadcasting which most of us enjoy."

Arthur Dorfner, president of WDHO-TV, said Nicholas' study covered a "composite week" in 1968-69, which he called the station's formative years.

The Billy Bowlegs war was the last expedition against Florida Indians to force them out of the state.

Xenia ballplayer hurt in collision

Robert Frost, 23, of Xenia, was treated at Memorial Hospital for an eye injury suffered while playing softball at Eyman Park Sunday.

Police said Frost was chasing a fly ball and ran into the outfield fence, injuring his right eyelid. He was released after treatment.

Solons engage in boating trip

CISCO, Utah (AP) — Massachusetts Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and three other congressional Democrats ran a portion of the Colorado River in rafts Sunday in an outing of father-son fellowship.

Kennedy, 41, was the senior member of the group. Others were Utah Rep. Wayne Owens, 36, the host; California Sen. John Tunney, 39; and Pennsylvania Rep. William J. Green, 35. Each man had one son along.

The six-hour trip covered 18 miles in Granite Canyon between Westwater and Cisco in eastern Utah. The boaters traversed 12 major rapids, but there were no mishaps.

The sons on the trip were Teddy Kennedy Jr. and Teddy Tunney, both 11; Billy Green, 8; and Doug Owens, 10.

7-year-old girl brutally slain

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Police are searching for clues here following the discovery Sunday of the badly battered body of a 7-year old girl who had been raped and beaten to death.

Rebecca Bricker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bricker, was found Sunday afternoon on a interstate highway construction site about 300 yards from her home. She had been brutally raped and beaten to death.

An autopsy to determine the exact cause of death was to be performed at a local hospital. Police said they did not know if she had been strangled or beaten to death.

The victim's 55-year-old father said he discovered the girl was missing when he returned home from his work as a night watchman at about 7 a.m. Sunday. Bricker telephoned police after a brief search of the neighborhood had not produced the girl.

Mrs. Bricker, 30, said she had been at a number of taverns during the evening and returned home about 12:40 a.m. The mother of five said she heard no unusual sounds during the night and last saw Rebecca in bed.

The Brickers' other four children, ranging in age from 12 years to 18 months, were in the small, white-frame house in the city's Vandalia section at the time the girl disappeared. Police say they suspect the girl was carried from her home through the back door to the hillside above the Interstate 64 construction site.

Rebecca's father told police he is certain Rebecca was taken from the home against her will, because she was very afraid of the dark.

"She didn't get out on her own," Bricker said. "She had to be taken out of here."

The man who located Rebecca's body, Robert Vance of a Charleston civil defense group, said, "I've been in this business about eight years and this is the worst thing I ever ran into. I don't want to see that again."

Police agreed that it was one of the most grisly crimes committed in the capital city. One officer said, "Man, this is some character we're looking for. I've never seen anything like this."

ACTRESS — Veronica Lake, who appeared in 26 films in the 1940's, died of acute hepatitis at the Medical Center in Vermont. Among her best remembered films was "This Gun for Hire," a movie that introduced Alan Ladd to the screen. She was 51.

Maintenance work slated

Grass mowing and general maintenance projects are on the agenda this week for city, county and state road crews.

Bill Duncan, acting superintendent of the city service department, said crews will be striping streets in the downtown area and will be painting the "islands" on Clinton Avenue. City crews also will be cleaning sewers and working on dust control of alleys.

County workers, according to County Engineer Charles P. Wagner, will be sealing roads and fixing culverts. Workmen also plan to patch Cramer and Prairie Station roads, and will be mowing grass and weeds. Wagner said work is scheduled to begin today on the Miami Trace Road bridge replacement project at Soldens. The new Wissler Road bridge was opened Saturday.

Gene Fitzpatric, superintendent of the Ohio Department of Highways in Fayette County, said ditch and berm maintenance is scheduled for Ohio 729, north of Jeffersonville, and Ohio 41, also north of Jeffersonville. Six mowers will be in operation this week along with guard rail trimming crews.

State crews also will be patching highways in various places in Fayette County.

Packing firm sets layoffs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — About 100 of the 260 employes at the Ohio Packing Co. here were laid off today in what company President Edward Wilke said was an effort for "survival."

"We're losing money and I don't know how to stop it any other way," Wilke said of his decision to indefinitely halt hog slaughtering operations.

He said the losses result from the federal price restrictions placed on the industry recently. The company may not raise prices of its pork, but there are no restrictions on the cost of hogs from the farm, he said.

Wilke estimated company losses at $4 to $5 per head of hogs it slaughters. That's a daily sales loss of $2,500 to $3,000, he said.

Hog slaughtering will be resumed if the price ceiling is lifted to the point where the company can break even, Wilke said.

Wallace Jr. picks music, not politics

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Sandy-colored hair hangs over his collar, and a mustache curves about his lips. But George C. Wallace Jr. says his father, the Alabama governor, doesn't seem to mind very much.

George Jr. wants to be an entertainer. He admits an interest in government but says, "I'm not motivated by it. I'd like to make my own footsteps. I can't think of anything else that fulfills me as much as music. It's really my life."

Young Wallace, 21, became interested in entertainment when he started playing the guitar in the sixth grade. He's been doing it ever since and temporarily has given up business courses at the University of Alabama so he can pursue a music career.

George Jr. feels he's on his way to success in entertainment. He recently signed a contract with MGM Records. His first recording under that label was released Friday, "There Will Never Be Anyone Else But You" and "Why Don't They Understand?"

The Alabama governor joined with his son in announcing the release. "It's a happy day for me and for my son, George Jr. I'm very proud of his song. I like it."

George Jr. often entertained for his father on the campaign trail. Some describe his music as "progressive country." Some call it "contemporary."

During an interview, the young bachelor said his hair doesn't cause any problems at home. He said his father "talks about it" but "I got him to let his hair grow a little longer, and, who knows, maybe I'll get him to grow a mustache."

George Jr. didn't write his latest songs but says he wants to write some in the future. "I've gotten into writing, and it's really opened me up," he said.

Will his name affect the record's success?

"I want the record to be judged on quality and talent and not, one way or the other, by the name," he said.

Youth Activities

BLUE RIBBON CHAMPS 4-H

Don Thompson, Fayette County Sheriff, was the guest speaker at the citizenship meeting of the Blue Ribbon Champs 4-H Club. Mr. Thompson was asked a variety of questions but talked mainly about highway and camping rules, and pointed out to the members that they should obey all laws.

The club discussed then voted to donate money to the Cancer Society, Heart Fund, AFS, International Farm Youth Exchange, and Chuck Wagon. It was also decided to give $5 to any member going to camp.

Mark Holloway reported on the Community Health Project, where he and Julie Frost spoke to the cub scouts about bites and stings.

Eddie Armintrout talked of a Safety Community Project. The members voted to put up a new sign on Dickey Road and maybe do over the old ones placed there earlier by the club.

July 15 was set for the club tour of projects and picnic afterwards at the Bloomingburg ball park. Jeff Smithson is in charge and two committees consisting of Robin Cunningham, Darla Krupla, Julie Frost, Robert Cotton, Dick Davis, Bill Schaefer and Bruce Jones have been set up.

Senior safety leader Eddie Armintrout, showed a film titled "Water Ways to Have Fun," which stressed safety practices near the water.

In J.T. Perrill's absence, Dick Davis gave his report on "Match and Fire Safety," informing the members on precautions to take when using matches.

"Eyes and Ears," was the title of Julie Frost's health report which stressed proper care of these vital parts of the body.

Mark Holloway, Jr. Health leader, told of the body's need for vitamin C in his report, "Facts about vitamin C and Protein."

Members were reminded that fair entries are to be made July 14 at the fairgrounds.

After the meeting refreshments were served by Marilyn Creamer and Mark and Jeff Smithson.

Colonels to play 10 Cincy games

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Ownership of the Kentucky Colonels of the American Basketball Association is back in the hands of Louisville, Ky. interests but with a guarantee that pro basketball will return, at least partially, to Cincinnati this fall.

Cincinnati Sports Inc., however, retained 40 per cent of the Colonels while selling 57 per cent to the wife of Kentucky Fried Chicken Inc. owner John Y. Brown.

The result is Cincinnati will host 10 games here while 26 are played in Louisville.

CSI President Brian Heekin told a news conference here Friday that the Colonels are also negotiating with the University of Kentucky at Lexington to play six games there.

Cincinnati, under the terms of the sale, will also host one-third of any playoff games the Colonels get into.

"Regionalization of the Colonels, plus good promotion and exciting basketball should draw very well," Heekin said. He said prefixing the Colonels name with Kentucky would be no hindrance to drawing in Cincinnati.

"It's good basketball. It will be properly promoted," he said, adding, "that's one thing the Royals didn't do properly."

The Cincinnati Royals, now the Kansas City Kings of the National Basketball Association, moved out of Cincinnati in 1972 complaining of poor fan support.

"The Cincinnati Royals drew better in Cleveland than they did in Cincinnati even though they were called the Cincinnati Royals," Heekin said.

"This was our intention when we purchased 97 per cent of the stock of the Colonels in March," Meekin said. "We will be retaining a substantial amount of stock to guarantee the team as a tennant for the Cincinnati colossium."

CSI said the price was $2 million.

"We didn't make a profit on the sale," Meekin said.

3 Browns draft picks in All-Stars

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three top Cleveland Browns draft choices did not report to the opening of the Browns' rookie camp today.

However, it's nothing to be concerned about unless one of them gets injured in the College All-Stars game on July 27.

Pete Adams, Steve Holden and Greg Pruitt are all working out with the college All-Stars in Evanston, Ill., and will arrive in camp after the game.

Adams, the Browns' second draft choice, was in town last week to sign blank contracts for the television cameras.

"I'm not worried about getting hurt in the All-Star game," Adams said. "I never worry about getting hurt in a game. I think that once you start doing that you'll probably tighten up and get hurt."

It took several months for the Browns and Adams to come to terms because of a salary disagreement. Adams is happy about his Cleveland contract "because it's a winning team and a winning team is the only kind of team to be with."

The 22-year-old Southern California tackle will be moved to offensive guard with the Browns but he doesn't anticipate any problem.

"I did a lot of pulling in my tackle spot and I think I'll do well at guard," Adams said.

The 6 foot 4, 255-pound San Diego, Calif., native, said he believes he has the physical strength and quickness necessary to make the team.

Palmer eyes British Open

TROON, Scotland (AP) — Arnold Palmer, returning to the scene of a famous victory in the British Open golf championship, scanned Troon's sandy links with the look of a man who can win again.

The 43-year-old veteran from Latrobe, Pa., said, "The course is drying very fast and getting almost like it was 11 years ago. The greens are excellent. I'm hitting the ball reasonably well."

Palmer's optimism, couched as usual in cautious tones, cheered fans gathering for Wednesday's start of the 102nd British Open over the 7,064-yard, par-72 links beside the Firth of Clyde.

Many remember how Palmer came to Troon in 1962 at the very peak of his golfing glory and tamed the course with a 72-hole total of 276 for a six-stroke victory. That score, 12 under par, stands to this day as a record for the British championship.

Hundreds of Scottish golf addicts were on the course to watch Palmer play his first practice round after flying in Sunday.

British bookies rated Jack Nicklaus as 7-2 favorite to win the title, worth about $13,750 in cash but immeasurably more in prestige and spinoff endorsements.

Johnson, Green yield three hits in two games

By KIRK ARNOTT
Record-Herald Sports Writer

Washington C.H. American Legion Post 25's pitching has been nothing to brag about this season. Going into Sunday's South Central Ohio League doubleheader at Greenfield, the staff sported a cumbersome 4.54 earned run average.

So it was a pleasant surprise, to say the least, when Jeff Green and Mark Johnson turned in back-to-back shutouts Sunday, allowing Greenfield batters only three hits in 16 innings. The 7-0 and 3-0 wins gave Post 25 a 6-11 record for the season, 4-6 in the SCOL

Green's performance was easily his best of the season. The lanky righthander fanned 17 batters while walking only two, and one of the two hits off him probably should have been an out.

Only two balls were hit out of the infield against Johnson, who also had his best game on the mound Sunday. He struck out seven and walked two in authoring a one-hitter for his first victory of the season.

Larry Rodgers drove home four runs to lead Post 25 in the first game. The big rightfielder smacked a double and three singles to pace a 12-hit attack. His brother Randy rapped a pair of doubles, the first of them knocking in what proved to be the winning runs in the third inning. Steve Haines and Tony Grooms scored on the two-bagger, then Paul England doubled Rodgers home.

Haines had a good game, with two singles and a pair of stolen bases. He scored twice.

Nelson took the loss for Greenfield, pitching the whole game. He whiffed seven and walked five.

A WALK, a ground out, Randy Rodgers' single and Alan Coppock's double gave Post 25 two runs in the first inning of the second game and the Washington C.H. crew coasted on to the victory to complete the sweep.

A Greenfield runner reached third base in the first frame, but he was the only threat against Johnson's shutout. A clean single by Bennington in the fourth inning spoiled Johnson's chances for a no-hitter.

Grooms scored an additional Post 25 run in the sixth inning after singling, stealing second and scoring on an infield error.

Crabtree was the losing pitcher for Greenfield. He was replaced in the fourth inning by Stewart, who finished.

Post 25 travels to Waverly Monday evening for a makeup SCOL game. Chillicothe Post 62 will visit the Washington Senior High School diamond Wednesday night.

Billingham blanks Phils

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds came to Philadelphia for three weekend games and swept the Phillies off their feet. A fuming Philadelphia manager, Danny Ozark, wasn't in the mood for any excuses after Sunday's 4-0 loss.

"I don't want to hear about a team being tired after 80 games," Ozark said. "If this club is tired now, it is not the kind of team I want to try to win a pennant with in September.

Ozark, who started his team on a winning tear after a similar blowup in Houston June 4, told his players they played like they were asleep.

"The way they played today is not the way they have been playing. And it is not the way they are capable of playing. I just reminded them they have the ability to do things . . . better," said the manager, after closing the team's locker room for 38 minutes after the loss.

Wayne Twitchell, who tops the National League for earned run average, was tagged for nine hits Sunday, while his Red counterpart, Jack Billingham, was four-hitting the Phils. It was Billingham's fifth shutout of the season and his 12th win in 17 decisions.

Johnny Bench singled home two runs to put the Reds in front 2-0 in the third, then Larry Stahl tripled home a run in the seventh and Tony Perez singled in another in the eighth.

"I think maybe we have it going now," said Reds manager Sparky Anderson, whose team came into the series with the worst hitting average in the league. The Reds had 12 hits in each of the first two contests with the Phillies.

Ozark's ire was inflamed by the action of infielder Mike Schmidt. He explained that he originally planned to call a meeting for today, but "exploded" when he discovered Schmidt had left the clubhouse after being removed for a pinch-hitter in the seventh inning.

Only 18 behind Ruth

Aaron blasts 696th homer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For the past six years, George Stone was in the best possible place when Hank Aaron went to the plate—on the Atlanta roster.

On Sunday, however, Stone, now a New York Met, turned up in the worst possible place when Aaron went to the plate— on the mound.

Stone's baseball met Aaron's bat and became a souvenir, not once, but twice. The 39-year-old Aaron hammered home runs Nos. 695 and 696 (22 and 23 on the year) and the Braves defeated the Mets 4-2. He's now only 18 career homers shy of Babe Ruth's all-time record of 714.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati blanked Philadelphia 4-0; Houston topped Montreal 9-7; San Francisco edged St. Louis 5-4; San Diego beat Chicago 4-2, and Los Angeles defeated Pittsburgh 3-2 in 12 innings.

This is the era of audience participation. Spectators vote for their all-star teams and become part of the show at the theater, and now the Montreal fans are getting into the act.

The 6-foot, 175-pound Foli was carried off on a stretcher with a broken jaw after attempting a tag play on Watson, a 6-foot-3, 205-pounder who was moving to second on Doug Rader's ground ball.

The left-field critics provided their instant analysis, showering Watson with softdrink cans. But the show must go on, so umpire Shag Crawford warned that any batted ball striking the debris would be ruled an automatic out.

Cesar Cedeno, however, was the star of the show, make that game, belting two homers in the Astros' come-from-behind victory.

Ozark invoked his form of freedom from the press after the game for 38 minutes, blasting his club for "lazy play."

Willie McCovey, who has been relegated to the role of spot starter and pinch hitter during Charlie Fox's youth movement, entered the game in the fourth after Gary Maddox was hit by a pitch and went three-for-three with two RBI to key the Giants' victory.

Rookie left hander Randy Jones pitched a four-hitter and singled in a run in San Diego's two-run eighth which lifted the Padres to their victory.

Willie Davis ended a 12-inning affair with the Pirates with his 12th homer of the year. The Dodgers have defeated Pittsburgh in eight of their last nine meetings.

Tennis lessons to be offered

Tennis lessons, for beginners and advanced players, will be offered starting this week at Eyman Park.

Charles Wallace, city recreation director, will supervise the tennis instruction. The first beginner's lessons will be at 3 p.m. Wednesday and the first advanced lessons will be at 4 p.m. that day.

WCH filly favored in stakes race

Owned by Tom McNew and Sons' Rose Acres, Inc., the young pacer has won two of the first three legs of the stakes affair. She broke badly at the start last week.

Lew Williams has reined the Keith Harran-trained youngster to six wins in nine starts for $12,552 in purses.

The filly's best effort came two weeks ago when she posted a national speed mark with a 2:04 2-5 clocking at Northfield.

Title Holder, Port N Storm and Pickwick Baron will be Speak Softly's most formidable foes.

Leisure tops in F&G shoot

Don Leisure topped the field in the July pistol match sponsored by the Fayette County Fish and Game Association by scoring 234 of a possible 300.

Courses were fired to 50 yards on the standard National Rifle Association pistol target.

Other winners were Phil French, Don Brown, Alan Yeoman and Jerry Coffey, first in adjustable rimfire; Yeoman, French, Cliff Grove and Stu Gossard, second in adjustable rimfire; Leisure, first in non-adjustable centerfire, French second; French and Leisure first in adjustable centerfire, Brown, Tony Perone and French second.

Another pistol match has been scheduled for August.

Emphasis at prison on learning skills

BILLERICA, Mass. (AP) — A 42-year-old county jailhouse in a suburb north of Boston is the nation's most progressive prison, its sheriff says, a place where young inmates are rewarded for learning talents that will keep them from coming back.

In the red-brick Billerica House of Correction and Jail, prisoners who take vocational courses and behave are given what they want most — freedom.

The privileges range from private meetings with girlfriends in the sheriff's office to week-long trips home to see their families and look for jobs. And the inmates who do the best get the most.

The prison really isn't a prison at all, says Sheriff John J. Buckley. It's more like a hospital.

"What we've done is bring about radical change without crisis. I consider myself as much of a revolutionary as a man with a beard and a sign," said Buckley, 43, a short, balding man with glasses.

TWO YEARS AGO, Buckley became the Republican sheriff of Democratic Middlesex County. He said he wanted to make the county prison something more than a stopover for young offenders on their way to becoming professional criminals. Instead, it should convince them to do something else for a living.

Doing this, he says, means treating convicts as humans.

And it means spending money — lots of it. Currently, Buckley says, his prison is spending $10,000 a year on each inmate — $2,000 more than is spent per inmate at the state's maximum security prison.

from a host of federal grants, but Buckley says the prison system is "pricing itself out of business" and he sees the day when county jails will close because of the cost factor.

When Buckley arrived, Billerica's rehibilitation program consisted of a broom factory, a dairy farm, a herd of pigs and a vegetable garden. Only the garden remains.

In their place are shops where prisoners learn drafting, television repair, auto mechanics, home wiring and small engine work. There are courses in art, music, reading and math. Some earn high school diplomas.

"The emphasis before was custody," Buckley said. "Now it's rehabilitation."

Besides 150 guards, the prison employes two full-time lawyers, three psychiatrists, nine caseworkers, counselors, teachers, social workers, a doctor and a dentist.

Since Buckley took over, arriving inmates have been given physical exams and sessions with counselors to talk over the problems. Then depending on their needs, they meet with workers who give them advice on jobs, marriage troubles and whatever else is bothering them.

OTHER REFORMS, like being able to control the lights in their rooms, skip breakfast, have televisions and put on barbeques for their families in the prison yard, seem small. But they take on awesome importance for men whose homes are tiny, single cells.

Most of the 350 inmates are young. The average age is 21, the average education ninth grade. Most stay about six months, the longest 2½ years.

The goal of his prison is not punishment, Buckley says, but getting the men back into normal lives as soon as possible.

Fire trucks repainted

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Johannesburg fire trucks are to be painted red and white instead of the traditional all red to make them more visible at night.

The city wanted to color them "glow yellow," but this paint proved too expensive to import.

Ohio accidents claim 17 lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seventeen persons, including four motorcyclists and three pedestrians, died in traffic accidents on Ohio highways over the weekend.

One of the victims was an off-duty Butler County Sheriff's detective who was killed Saturday when his motorcycle collided with a car in Hamilton.

Another cycling accident Saturday claimed two lives in Cleveland. A third motorcycling mishap killed a Middletown man in Warren County Sunday.

The two separate pedestrian deaths occurred in Cleveland on Saturday. The third pedestrian accident occurred Sunday near Tiffin.

The count began 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday. No fatal traffic accidents occurred Friday night.

The dead:

SUNDAY

AKRON — Ronald J. Bachmeier, 17, Medina, in a one-car crash in north Summit County.

WAYNESBURG — Katie A. Cernava, 87, New Harrisburg, and Lloyd Gooding, 48, New Harrisburg, passengers in the same car in a two-car crash on Ohio 43 in Stark County.

AKRON — Sidney Cook Sr., 70, Akron, died of injuries suffered in a one-car crash Saturday on Interstate 76 in Akron.

SATURDAY

CLEVELAND — Annie E. Hornbuckle, 88, Cleveland Heights, when she was struck by a car as she crossed a suburban street.

TIFFIN — Mary K. English, 18, Findlay, and David Soals, seven weeks, Tiffin, in a twocar smashup on Ohio 53 about five miles south of Tiffin.

MANSFIELD — John Vrabel, 70, Mansfield, in a two-car accident on Ohio 39 in Richland County.

CLEVELAND — Raymond Peters, 22, Brook Park, and Steven Walbot, 23, Tucson, Ariz., when the motorcycle they were riding skidded into an oncoming car on Columbia Road in North Olmstead.

BOWLING GREEN — William D. Budd, 25, North Baltimore when his car went out of control, hit a tree and overturned on Ohio 18 in Wood County.

U.S. flood insurance not sought

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland has asked to participate in subsidized federal flood insurance programs, but property owners in the 12 northern Ohio communities already approved by the federal government have been slow to sign up.

Businessmen and residents in the 12 communities who do not may find themselves disqualified for federal disaster assistance after this year, however, according to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

HUD kicks in funds that permit insurance companies to offer the flood insurance at lower rates in approved communities. The 12 cities in Ohio are Brunswick, Eastlake, Kent, Mentor, Painesville, Vermilion, Lorain, Gates Mills, Lakewood, Mayfield, Sheffield Lake and Rocky River.

Insurance company officials said signups have varied from city to city but that many property owners have not purchased coverage.

"It's difficult to understand why more people are not taking advantage of it," a spokesman said. But he noted that the coverage was offered in most of the towns after fall and winter floods occurred.

"It's like locking the barn door after the horse gets out," he said.

The Cleveland City Council two months ago approved a resolution urging building commissioners to review permits to make certain the construction would meet with flood requirement standards.

The city later applied to HUD for eligibility in the flood insurance program.

Mentally retarded to enter homes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — About 1,000 mentally retarded persons will leave their institutions in the coming months to enter foster homes, the director of the Department of Mental Health and Retardation said today.

Kenneth D. Gaver said the foster families program allows qualifying families to provide a foster home for one or two trainable mentally retarded persons from their area.

Gov. John J. Gilligan proclaimed today the first day of "Foster Families Week" to stress the importance of providing care and training for the mentally retarded in a home atmosphere.

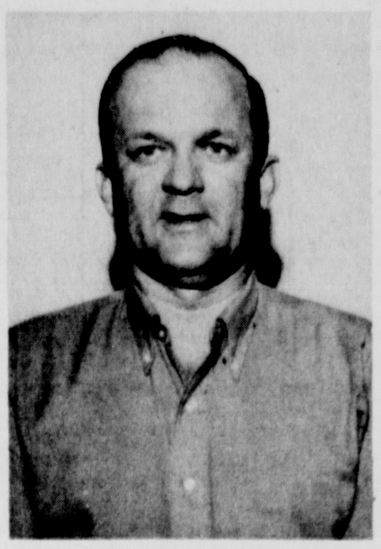

Mills eyes retirement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, says he may retire from Congress at the end of his present term, in January 1975.

Mills, one of the most powerful men in Congress, said Saturday that he will make a final decision later, but that unless a persistent and painful back ailment improves he will step down.

The 64-year-old Mills has been in the House 34 years and chairman of Ways and Means for 15. The committee has control over such legislation as taxes, Social Security, welfare and foreign trade.

If the Democrats retain control of the House in the 1974 elections, Mills would be succeeded by Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore. The ranking Republican on the committee is Rep. Herman T. Schneebeli of Pennsylvania.

DAVID KRUPLA

Krupla new president of B'burg Lions

BLOOMINGBURG — David Krupla, Jones Rd., has been installed as president of the Bloomingburg Lions Club for the 1973-74 year, replacing Fred Bees, past president. Bob Hughes was the installing officer.

Other members installed in office were Clyde Cramer, first vice president; Lewis Parrett, second vice president; Leroy Barton, third vice president; Dwight Duff, secretary-treasurer; Dave Gerber, assistant secretary-treasurer; J.W. Sears, Lion Tamer; and Ken Sholler, tail twister.

Two new members, Carl, Sr., and Jerry Wilt, were welcomed to the club.

County Board inspects home

The annual inspection of the Fayette County Children's Home was made today by the Board of County Commissioners following lunch at the home.

During the business session Monday morning, the commissioners approved the purchase of U.S. flags for the Courthouse, Health Department and Airport.

The county officials are studying bids received a week ago on proposed remodeling work at the county jail. The bids exceeded the amount set aside by about $11,000.

A decision is to be announced July 16.

From

WILLIAM H. HARSHA

6th District, Ohio

WASHINGTON —We should attempt to evaluate the strength and weaknesses of our system and put them into a proper perpective. Such an evaluation will inevitably lead to reaffirmation of the basic principles upon which this country was founded.

In short, this country is due for a revival of that good, old-fashioned patriotic fervor which has diminished in recent years.

The outward signs of patriotism, unforuunately, are not as popular today as they have been in other times. Some even regard patriotism as trite, meaningless or unsophisticated. To be patriotic, they say, is to be hard-lined and extreme.

Respect for the flag and the National Anthem, pride in our heritage and gratitude for our blessings seem to be only institutional formalities to far too many people.

However, patriotism is a necessary prerequisite to a strong and vibrant nation. Pride and love of one's country are not transient; they are not subject to the whims of the times. Instead, patriotism is respect for the self-perpetuating ideals which are as valid today as they were almost two centuries ago.

IF PATRIOTISM dies, a country is not far from collapse. Arnold Toynbee, the historian, says that of 21 notable nations, 19 perished not from external conquest, but from deterioration from withing.

No army can defeat a nation faster than a nation can defeat itself. Edmund Burke, the British statesman, said it best when he observed, "For evil to succeed, it is only necessary that good men do nothing."

I do not choose to believe that reverence and respect for our heritage are on their deathbed. Instead, patriotism has frequently been placed in a state of limbo. The concept is so simple that it is often overlooked in the complexities of modern-day problems.

There is no question about it — the United States is undergoing a crisis of confidence in its democratic institutions. In this atmosphere of doubt, it is possible to lose sight of the principles of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. The words of the Declaration of Independence have been clouded by words of scandal and corruption.

THERE IS a fine distinction between self-appraisal and self-deprecation. The differences, however, have too often become blurred. It is one thing to objectively scrutinize our system in the hope of improving it. It is another thing to degrade the entire system because it is not perfect.

The qualities which led to the birth of our country, however, are still prevalent. Common sense and common decency still form the bonds that have held us together as a free society.

These traits carried us through a long and difficult war for independence. They led us through the tragic War Between the States. They sustained us through two World Wars and other crises of the Twentieth Century.

Time and again, when the laws might have crumbled, the good sense of the American people prevailed. I believe it will sustain us in the 1970s just as it did in the 1770s.

NOW is an opportune time for this nation to rekindle the patriotic flame which has been our guiding light for so long. As we approach the Bicentennial Celebration, we would do well to go back and read the Federalist Papers and the Bill of Rights.

We should acquaint ourselves with the hardships and tribulations our founding fathers suffered as they planted the seeds of independence. Then we should ask ourselves if our problems are greater than theirs.

While we still have problems today, we also have a society and an economy which are the envy of every other nation. Opportunity in the United States is unexcelled. The American people live better, dress better, eat better, receive better educations and have a better future than the people of any other country.

At the close of the Constitutional Convention in 1787, Benjamin Franklin said, "We have given you a republic — if you can keep it."

By exercising eternal vigilance, we can preserve the greatest government ever devised by the mind of man.

4-H HORSE QUEEN — Becky Hoppes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hoppes, Boyd Rd., was crowned 1973 4-H Horse Queen at the Bar-W Horse Show in Good Hope Sunday. Miss Hoppes was one of four finalists who were judged on poise, personality and horsemanship. Marissa Stuckey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stuckey, of Sabina, was the runnerup.

Hunter aims to preserve wildlife in Africa

By ELIZABETH BASSETT

He wanted a waterbuck, the large lyre-horned gray antelope of eastern and southern Africa. He checked his rifle one last time.

With Jose Tello, a former poacher turned game warden and hunter, and Baron Werner von Alvensleben, whose hunting exploits over the past 35 years earned him the name Munjunjonjo, "the great one," he drove quietly through the tawny scrub.

A few minutes past 6, they spotted a herd of waterbuck, their white bulls-eye bottoms and black-whorled horns standing out clearly through the thorn trees.

CAREFULLY they moved their open-topped Land Cruisers closer and the hunter reached for his gun. The shot was good! The frightened herd scattered and the buck ran with them, confused by the noise and the pain in his shoulder.

He was not dead because the hunter wanted to conserve, not kill. The hunter was Keyser van der Walt, head of the department of veterinary medicine at South Africa's Onderstepoot, a part of the University of Pretoria, and he was leading a group of American veterinarians on an experience unique to "outsiders," a game immobilization hunt.

Then Tello, director of the fledgling Zinave Research Sation, and van der Walt went to work, taking blood samples and measuring — the ear, hind foot, tail, body length and horns. Finally, a broad kelly green vinyl collar was laced around the buck's neck for identification and he was given the code name "Zeca," after one of the Portuguese hunter-trackers.

FROM THEIR case of drugs, Tello and van der Walt prepared an antidote and jabbed the buck's flank. His eyes opened, he gazed around and staggered to his feet. Slowly, he walked, then ran into the protective covering of the bush.

The hunters of Zinave, one of the richest game areas in Africa, no longer kill. Fourteen years ago, von Alvensleben opened the area north and south of the Save River as a hunting playground for the rich.

But the leathery white hunter had a change of heart. After more than 30 years of living in the bush, knowing it and animals' moods and tempers and realizing how man could, thoughtlessly, destroy it all, von Alvesleben decided killing for sport was not the answer. The answer lay in conservation.

And so three years ago he stopped hunting south of the Save, turned Zinave into a camp for photo hunters and founded the Zinave Wildlife Research Station, designed to study the entire ecosystem of the area for the benefit of man.

His north-of-the-river hunting camps remained open to provide the desperately needed funds for research but they too soon will be phased out and the whole 3,500-square-mile area will become a game reserve.

ZINAVE'S scientific program began last year in association with The American Museum of Natural History's Dr. Richard van Gelder. All that is necessary is to dart, measure and mark a representative male and female of a species in each migratory or home area.

Then every time the animal is spotted the date and locality is entered on a punch card.

Eventually an idea of the animals' movements, based on the availability of food and water, and the social composition of his herd, is learned. A year or so after the initial immobilization, he will be darted and measured again to study his growth and development.

But the study of a specie's migratory habits and development is not the only reason for immobilization. At the turn of the century, rinderpest wiped out hundreds of thousands animals in huge areas of southern Africa and now ruminants are darted regularly for disease studies.

AS A RESULT of this plague and its disastrous effect on the ecosystem, as well as man's encroachment on wildlands, species which at one time flourished have almost disappeared.

Tranquilizing animals in areas where they still abound allows them to be relocated and reestablished in places where they have died out.

Or darting can be used to capture animals for zoos.

In the Zinave area of Mozambique, there is an additional and tragic reason to dart: Every year thousand of animals are killed or maimed in poachers' snares.

Furious and out of their minds with pain and fear, the only way those that have a chance to live can be treated is to tranquilize them.

Duke Ellington receives honor

NEW YORK (AP) — Duke Ellington has become the first jazz musician to receive the French Legion of Honor, France's highest award.

President Georges Pompidou wanted "to honor a great musician, a great American and a great friend of our country," Jacques Kosciuski-Morizet said in presenting the award Sunday. He is the French ambassador to the United States.

"The entire world knows Duke Ellington," the ambassador said at the ceremony in the residence of the French consul general here. "And especially in our country, France, everyone admires and loves you."

Seek ambulance service subsidy

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — Ambulance owner John Majoras says he will drop his emergency service July 15 unless the city gives him a $60,000 annual subsidy for the work.

"I don't think he will quit providing the service," Mayor Leonard P. Reichlin said, however. "That would leave us high and dry."

But Majoras, who says he's run the service for five years without profit, says the threat is a serious one.

"I can see no sense in continuing the police emergency service," he said. During May, Majoras said he made 130 emergency runs. He said he was paid for eight.

Coal production rises

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Production of coal in the United States for the week ending June 23 exceeded levels for the same seven-day period in 1972.

Hot humid air prevails over nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hot, humid conditions prevailed over most areas of the nation early today as thunderstorms lingered in southern Texas and other scattered locations.

Several tornadoes were sighted late Sunday in South Dakota, but there were no reports of injuries. Winds of 85 miles per hour were reported. Hail stones almost two inches in diameter pounded Comstock, Neb.

Violent thunderstorms hit southern Texas Sunday evening, causing flooding of several highways and low water crossings in the San Antonio areas and the southwestern Texas hill country.

Heavy rain drenched Collidge, Ariz., about 30 miles southeast of Phoenix. Other showers and thunderstorms dampened areas from eastern New Mexico and the Texas Panhandle north along the eastern slope of the Rockies to the Dakotas and on into Iowa, Minnesota and the western Great Lakes region.

A few thunderstorms were scattered over the Southeast and the central and southern Rockies.

Before daybreak temperatures were in the 70s from New England to Florida and over most of the eastern half of the nation.

Several points over the central Plains and along the western Gulf Coast hit 80 degrees. Temperatures in the 50s were common over the northeastern Great Lakes area.

Abernathy quits as SCLC chief

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy announced today he is resigning as president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, primarily because of a lack of financial support.

Abernathy headed SCLC for five years, since the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., in April 1968.

He was frequently at King's side, going to jail with him 17 times.

Abernathy was the second president of SCLC. After he took over following King's death, he said, "They may kill the dreamer, but they can't kill the dream."

He had demonstrated many times his faith in the dream of equality and justice so eloquently articulated by King.

Abernathy, 47, stood willingly in the background until King was shot to death on a motel balcony in Memphis, Tenn.

Abernathy had said he had no desire to leave the movement. Calling King the symbol and the leader, he said, "I always wanted to stand with him and not ahead of him."

Since King's slaying, however, SCLC has been beset with financial troubles.

Abernathy also stood in the shadow of Coretta King, the civil rights leader's widow, and much of the financial support which would have gone to the SCLC has gone to the Martin Luther King Memorial Center.

Tanaka wins vote in Japan

Although the newspaper polls predicted it would lose 13 seats, Tanaka's Liberal-Democratic party retained its 51 seats in the Tokyo Metropolitan Assembly and remained the largest faction in the local legislature.

A predicted upsurge for the Communists and Socialists— leftist Gov. Ryokichi Minobe's chief backers— failed to materialize. The Communists did pick up six seats.

Expected intervention fails to develop

Dollar falls; money crisis worsens

LONDON (AP) — The dollar recovered some ground on European money markets today after the continent's central bankers hinted their governments might protect the American currency but fell again when no intervention developed.

The dollar opened in Frankfurt at 2.3250 marks, 8½ pfennings above Friday's close. Dealers reported "extremely small' demand; and after an hour of trading, the price dropped back to 2.2950 marks.

"The situation remains extremely unstable," said one key foreign exchange banker.

The rate opened nearly 2 per cent up in Zurich at 2.75-2.77 Swiss francs, then plunged back to 2.695-2.71 by noon, below Friday's close of 2.705-2.72.

"Everyone had expected an intervention," said a Zurich banker. "That's why the dollar shot up in the morning. It did not come, so it came down again."

The volume of trading in Zurich was reported relatively large and hectic.

In a parallel development, gold opened at $125.25 an ounce in Zurich, down $1.50 from the close Friday, then rose to $126. The opening price in London was $124.50, down from $127, and dealers said market was "highly cautious and jumpy."

The dollar also made a comeback in Paris, buying 3.96-4.00 commercial francs in bank-to-bank transactions, up from 3.86-3.89 Friday. Trading there was slow, however.

The weak British pound slipped slightly against the dollar, from $2.555 Friday to $2.5525 at the opening today. But the pound rose against the mark, Europe's strongest currency, from 5.73 marks Friday to 5.98.

In Tokyo, the dollar rose two yen at the opening to 264, then was driven down to 254 before the close by a false rumor that the European markets would be closed today. This aroused fears that the Japanese government would be forced to close the Tokyo market also, and the demand for U.S. currency evaporated.

Although the European central bankers said they had agreed on a plan to support the beleaguered dollar, France's finance minister said it was up to the United States to act first.

The Nixon Administration so far has ruled out American intervention to aid the dollar since its fall last week to record lows in Europe. U. S. officials contend that the dollar is undervalued and that normal economic forces will bring a turnaround.

The central bankers met Sunday in Basel, Switzerland, for their regular monthly meeting. But instead of saying nothing for publication as usual, they ended the meeting with a 150-word communique which they apparently hoped would check the fall of the dollar when the currency markets opened today.

The central bankers said "the necessary technical arrangements are in place" to support the dollar. But they did not indicate when their governments might authorize intervention.

They cited the declaration last March by the Group of Ten — the non-Communist world's richest nations — that official intervention in exchange markets "may be useful at appropriate times to facilitate the maintenance of orderly conditions."

"The governors concluded this approach remained appropriate," the communique said.

Mitchell faces tough questions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Of the Nixon administration figures linked to the Watergate scandal, none was more powerful than John Newton Mitchell.

gave him power far beyond his once official position as attorney general.

It's different now.

On Tuesday Mitchell goes before the Senate Watergate committee to give his version of the Watergate affair. Previous testimony has tied him to both the planning and attempted cover-up of the June 17, 1972, break-in at Democratic national headquarters.

And his troubles don't end with the break-in. A federal grand jury in New York has indicted him on conspiracy and perjury charges in connection with a $200,000 contribution to Nixon's re-election campaign.

Mitchell repeatedly has denied he had any role in the Watergate planning or cover-up. He pleaded innocent to the charges in New York and awaits trial.

His attorneys have refused to discuss what he plans to tell the committee except to say his testimony "will in no way implicate the President."

Other witnesses have implicated Mitchell.

For example, ousted White House counsel John W. Dean III and Jeb Stuart Magruder, former deputy director of the Nixon re-election committee, told the Watergate panel they attended meetings in Mitchell's Justice Department office in early 1972 at which G. Gordon Liddy outlined a bizarre political espionage plan.

Both witnesses agreed Mitchell was horrified and rejected the proposal by Liddy, a convicted Watergate conspirator.

But Magruder said that at a third meeting, March 30 in Key Biscayne, Fla., Mitchell approved an intelligence-gathering project, specifically approval for initial entry into the Democratic National Committee headquarters in Washington.

Dean and Magruder also implicated Mitchell in the coverup.

Money, farm bills before lawmakers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is returning from an extra-long Independence Day recess to such unfinished work as Watergate, all of the big money bills for the new fiscal year, and long-range farm legislation.

The Senate returned today and the House is due back Tuesday from a recess that began June 30.

Other pending legislation ranges from campaign reform and minimum wages to presidential war powers. Congress also is expected to move toward final action on the regular appropriations bills to finance the government during the fiscal year that started July 1.

Although the lawmakers have not completed work on any of these big money bills, they adopted a resolution June 30 allowing the agencies to continue spending at last year's levels through Sept. 30.

The pipeline dispute facing the Senate involves an argument over energy needs and the environment, with the plan's backers saying it would relieve the nation's shortages by tapping vast oil resources in Alaska.

Midwestern senators plan to press for an amendment to block the project, pending study and negotiations for a trans-Canada pipeline to bring Alaska oil directly to their part of the country.

Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and Birch Bayh, D-Ind., prime backers of the amendment, said Sunday that millions of barrels of U.S. oil will be sold to Japan if the transAlaska route is approved.

They said the Canadian route would get oil to American markets where the energy shortage is the most severe and would minimize environmental risks while affording "our best protection against exporting U.S. oil at a time when we face a major energy shortage here at home."

Meanwhile, the House was prepared to start work Tuesday on a sweeping four-year farm bill that would drop the annual subsidy payment ceiling and would set target prices for wheat, feed grains and cotton. A target price would guarantee a farmer a specific level of income on his crop.

Other key parts of the bill would extend food stamp provisions, repeal a so-called bread tax, and hike the minimum price support on manufacturing milk by 5 per cent.

Uganda releases 112 Peace Corps representatives

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Uganda released 112 American Peace Corps volunteers today, two days after they had been taken into custody on a flight from London to their posts in Africa, the U.S. Embassy said.

The embassy said President Idi Amin ordered the volunteers released in a message delivered to Robert Keeley, deputy chief of mission at the U.S. Embassy in the Ugandan capital of Kampala.

Amin, the abrasive Ugandan strongman, ordered the Americans held Saturday afternoon at Entebbe airport near Kampala. They spent the night under armed guard at the airport and then Sunday were transferred to a hotel on Lake Victoria.

The young volunteers — 49 women and 63 men with five married couples among them — dined and danced at the hotel Sunday night with a few armed guards looking on.

In Washington, the State Department listed 111 as being held. There was no explanation for the discrepancy between the U.S. figure and the 112 listed by the Uganda government.

Today the Americans slept late, talked by telephone with worried parents at home and complained because there was no water in the hotel's swimming pool. There were reports, unconfirmed by U.S. officials in Uganda, that some of the young people hired taxis and went into Entebbe to shop for curios.

The Americans were bound for Zaire, the former Congo; and their chartered VC10 jet had taken off Saturday after a refueling stop at Entebbe.

Amin ordered the plane back as it neared the border, threatening it with Ugandan air force MIGs that were in the air for a flypast in honor of visiting President Albert Bongo of Gabon.

Radio Uganda said Amin suspected that the Americans might be Israelis or white mercenaries bent on adding to the tribal troubles that have neighboring Rwanda and Burundi in turmoil. The broadcast said the president had sent messages to the presidents of Zaire, Rwanda and Burundi asking confirmation that the Peace Corps personnel were expected there. He would consider releasing them only after he got this confirmation, the broadcast said.

4 Ohioans among Peace Corps captives

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four Ohioans are among the 112 members of the Peace Corp being held in Uganda because government officials believe they are mercenaries bent on "imperialist" or "Zionist" subversion in Africa.

The men and women, on their way to posts in Africa, were ordered to land in Uganda on Saturday. They are being held under guard at a hotel.

Ex-POW rips Pentagon ruling

MIAMI (AP) — A former prisoner of war who married his Army nurse says the Pentagon's dropping of charges against eight other POWs makes him feel like he "spent five years for nothing."

Army Staff Sgt. Harry Ettmueller said his future in the Army may hinge on getting a good explanation from the Defense Department as to why the charges were dropped.

Ettmueller of Long Beach, N.J., married Army nurse Ruth Wardell of Oregon City, Ore., here Sunday. Air Force Col. Theodore Guy gave the bride away. He had filed charges of aiding the enemy against the eight.

The wedding was attended by about 40 POWs who were guests at a "Florida Says Thank You" weekend. Gov. Reubin Askew served as best man.

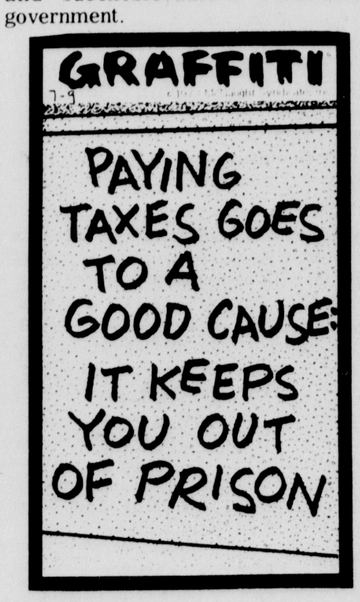

The Pentagon announced last week it would not prosecute the charges brought by Guy.

Ettmueller was a prisoner for 61 months. He said he had talked with former prisoners who supported Guy, their commander in the camp, and were unhappy that the Pentagon had decided not to prosecute.

"I don't feel the Pentagon is justified in dropping the charges. I witnessed things in that camp I did not appreciate," Ettmueller said. "Everybody got the word about what to do, but there were a few who decided not to follow orders."

Nixon won't free Watergate data

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Watergate committee members are suggesting President Nixon will not be subpoenaed to testify, but there was disagreement today over what to do about presidential papers pertaining to Watergate.

One senator called the papers public records that "belong to the American public." Another said he was not concerned about getting the documents, that the committee could do its job without them.

Nixon has told committee Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., that he will not appear before the panel "under any circumstances" or give it access to the papers.

On a television news-interview program Sunday, committee members Sens. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., and Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., said Nixon should make the papers available to the committee.

"I've always thought that public records belong to the American public," Talmadge said. He said the Senate should consider subpoenaing the papers if Nixon doesn't turn them over voluntarily.

Talmadge said that, while he didn't think it would be possible for Nixon to be subpoenaed, "I think a committee of Congress has a right to look at public records."

Gurney, who was interviewed with Talmadge on the ABC network's "Issues and Answers" program, said he felt Nixon should turn over to the committee all documents with either a direct or indirect bearing "on this Watergate affair and who is involved and what happened."

In Connecticut, Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., another committee member, was quoted in a newspaper interview as saying that Nixon's refusal to appear or turn over the documents didn't bother him.

"We're going to be able to do our job with or without him," Weicker said.

Through Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, Nixon has said that he will discuss Watergate "in an appropriate forum" after the Senate committee concludes its hearings on the June 17, 1972, break-in at Democratic national headquarters.

Last week the committee, which resumes its work Tuesday with testimony from former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, formally asked for per-

Farm exports boost consumer food costs $2 billion

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A huge export drain on U.S. farm products, mainly wheat, corn and soybeans, is adding an extra $2 billion to consumer food bills this year, says the Agriculture Department.

Even with the freeze announced by President Nixon last month, retail food prices are expected to climb at least 12 per cent this year. Department analysts says at least 1.5 to 2 per cent of that increase can be linked directly to farm exports.

In all, food spending may rise to $135 billion this year from about $125 billion in 1972. Higher prices are the main reason for the $10-billion boost, but there are more mouths to feed too. And they are eating more.

That means, according to the analysts, that at least $1.75 billion of the expected increase in spending can be traced to higher prices caused by the biggest flood of farm exports on record.

For the year that ended June 30, the shipments totaled more than $12 billion or 50 per cent more than in 1971-72. Higher prices accounted for part of the gain, but the amount of farm products ordered by foreign countries has soared, too.

The effect has been to deplete reserves of grain and oilseed, prompting the Nixon administration to restrict further exports of soybeans, oil and similar products until new crops are harvested next fall.

The exports also have contributed to higher feed costs, forcing slowdown and even cutbacks in the nation's output of meat, poultry and dairy products. A further complication has been the price freeze, which growers and processors blame for a reduction in profits needed to spur production expansion.

Don Paarlberg, director of economic for USDA, says he does not think the United States is embarking on an era of permanent export rationing, despite the current curbs on soybeans and other high-protein feed.

"I hope not, and I labor to see that it does not occur," Paarlberg said in an interview.

"When we need exports as much as we do in order to improve our trade balance and to show that the dollar is a worthwhile currency, to restrict our exports is a very serious matter," Paarlberg said.

The big trigger was the sale last year of 440 million bushels of U.S. wheat, one-fourth the 1972 crop, to the Soviet Union. Russia also took upwards of 275 million bushels of corn and about 40 million bushels of soybeans.

Those sales were important to U.S. farm exports in 1972-73, but, even at a value of $1.1 billion, accounted for little more than one-fourth of the jump in value of commodities sold to foreign customers.

Japan and Europe, experiencing huge demands, as in the United States, for more and better food, were big buyers. Through last April, in the first 10 months of the fiscal year, Japan bought $1.89 billion worth of products, up 89 per cent from a year earlier.

The Common Market countries bought $2.91 billion worth in the same period, up 42 per cent from a year earlier.

Put another way, wheat exports last season totaled about 1.2 billion bushels, just as the new crop started to come in on July 1. Compared with 1972 wheat production, exports took about 75 per cent.

A record wheat crop is expected this year, maybe 1.7 billion bushels or more. But the reserve on July 1 was down to about 425 million bushels, the smallest in six years.

Corn exports are expected to total more than 105 billion bushels, about 20 per cent of last year's crop of 5.55 billion bushels. Production this year may be near a record of 6 billion bushels, although some officials think it might be less because of late planting last spring.

Soybean exports currently are expected to be about 700 million bushels, including equivalent shipments of mission to examine and photocopy all White House Watergate files.

In a letter to Ervin Saturday, Nixon said: "No president could function if the private papers of his office, prepared by his personal staff, were open to public scrutiny."

The papers the committee wants include documents allegedly in the White House file of former presidential aides, including John W. Dean III, fired by Nixon as presidential counsel.

Ervin has replied: "I think that it is very unfortunate that the President of the United States is unwilling to make a full disclosure to the American people of all that he knows."

However, Ervin also has said he opposes the issuance of a subpoena to produce the records.

Gen. Robert E. Lee was offered command of Union forces at the outbreak of the civil war, but turned it down to lead the southern Army.

meal, nearly 60 per cent of last year's record crop of 1.282 billion bushels.

Meantime, here is what has happened to farm prices of the three big commodities:

In June 1972, wheat averaged $1.33 per bushel. Last month, it was $2.43 nationally, the highest in 25 years.

A year ago, corn was $1.13 per bushel. In June, it was $1.99 per bushel, also the highest in 25 years.

Soybeans in June last year brought farmers $3.32 per bushel. Last month, they averaged a record $10 per bushel.

Meantime, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, here is what happened to some key food items whose production depends on grain and oilseeds:

In May 1972, hamburger averaged 73.5 cents per pound in retail stores nationally. In May 1973, the most recent month studied, it was 94.6 cents.

Other examples: Sirloin rose from $1.47 per pound to $1.75; bacon, 91.2 cents to $1.20; pork chops, $1.15 to $1.46; frying chicken, 40.5 cents to 58.4 cents, and eggs, 49.5 cents to 67.7 cents.

There are many complicated reasons for food prices going up, and farm exports by no means are the only factors. But economists say they can prove that most of the farm price increase for grain and oilseed the past year has been as a result of soaring exports.

Farm exports have been a keystone of Nixon administration agricultural policy. By developing overseas markets, officials have said, farmers can produce in a free market and rely less on the government.

The United States is the biggest farm exporter in the world, but only in the past decade have farmers come to rely so heavily on sales abroad.

In 1953, total farm exports were valued at $2.8 billion. By 1963, they hovered at about $5.5 billion. In 1964, then went to $6.3 billion, a record then, and have risen most years since.

Oath taking for FBI chief

It was the President's first public appearance since June 15, when he went to Pekin, Ill., for the dedication of a memorial congressional research center honoring the late Sen. Everett M. Dirksen.

Kelley, 61, is a 20-year veteran of the FBI. He has been Kansas City police chief since 1961.

Most Frenchmen shrug off criticism of atomic tests

PARIS (AP) — A Frenchman who sent his son to Wales to improve his English didn't get a letter from him last week because of a trade union protest in Britain against France's coming nuclear tests in the South Pacific.

"Good thing," said the father. "The kid would probably be asking for money."

The comment was typical of French reaction to foreign protests against the tests. Except for a minority who oppose the bomb, Frenchmen take the foreign furor as a bit of joke. Newspapers generally give perfunctory reports about the protests, and the government television network almost ignores the tests as well as the protests.

The government on Sunday warned all ships to stay clear of the test area from Wednesday on, indicating the tests are imminent. But such stories as the Tour de France cycling race, a British helicopter crash and the dollar crisis took precedence on the evening television news.

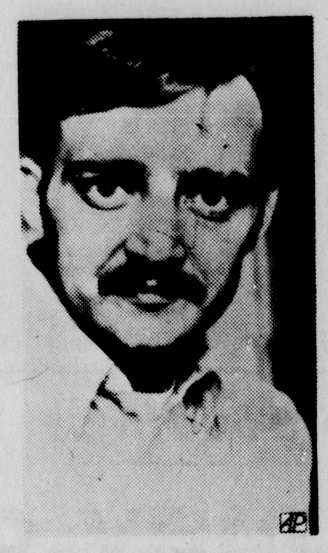

French protests against the tests have been confined to newspaper advertisements and telegrams to officials. There have been no street marches or protest meetings.

The most active boycotts have been in Australia, where the unions have imposed an almost complete ban on traffic with France. Mail and telephone service has been cut. Ground crews won't service French aircraft. Harbor workers won't handle French ships, and many Australians are boycotting French products.

British unions with nine million members staged a similar campaign last week.

Neither the French government nor Paris newspapers have announced any estimates of how much the boycotts have cost in trade.

New Zealand is keeping a frigate from its navy 40 miles outside the danger zone around the Mururoa Atoll, and boats sent by private foreign protest groups also are in the area. The French warning to shipping said the French navy had been authorized to board any ships entering the area. It said the navy would get such ships out of the test zone.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More hot and sticky weather was on tap for most of Ohio today. The National Weather Service said temperatures would reach the lower 90s in the southern part of the state and the upper 80s in the north.

Temperatures were expected to be slightly lower near Lake Erie.

Some temporary relief was likely to be provided southern counties today and most of the state Tuesday when thundershowers develop.

Temperatures Sunday night and early Monday morning were generally in the lower 70s. The lowest reading in the state was reported at Youngstown with a 68. Toledo was warmest overnight with 75 degrees.

Little change in temperature was expected tonight.

Women's Editor Hope Strong dies

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Hope Strong, women's editor for the Lima News for several years, has died at the age of 48.

Mrs. Strong was stricken Sunday by an apparent heart attack. She had played tennis earlier in the day.

She was best known for her reporting on fashions, and had won several awards in the field.

Funeral arrangements were not complete.

Stock prices drift lower

NEW YORK (AP)— Stock market prices drifted lower again today in listless trading that some analysts felt might indicate positive factors.

However, the analysts also said the battering of the dollar and the uncertainties about the economy in general were continuing to depress prices.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was down fractionally, 0.75 at 869.36. Declining issues had a slight edge on advancers on the Big Board.

Larry Wachtel of Bache & Co. said that the fact that the market was not in a steep decline in the face of a generally bleak economic picture was a sign the market might be near bottom.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index was unchanged at 22.24. The New York Stock Exchange broad-based index of some 1,500 common stocks was down 0.05 at 53.31.

Phnom Penh roads opened

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — A large convoy rolled into Phnom Penh today over a recently opened highway. And the military command said the Cambodian capital's other major supply road once more had been retaken from insurgents.

Nearly 500 trucks and trailers arrived over Highway 5 from Battambang, the rice province in the northwest. The highway was reopened last week after being cut for 2½ of the previous three months.

Highway 4 was reopened on Sunday to the coast and the port of Kompong Som, the military command said. The reopening came after five days of hard fighting and around-theclock strikes by U.S. Air Force jets against an estimated three battalions of Khmer Rouge insurgents.

Nixon friend sidestepped trust suit

NEW YORK (AP) — Two years ago, Justice Department officials overruled staff recommendations for an investigation of pricing practices of a firm owned by President Nixon's friend Robert H. Abplanalp, The New York Times reported today.

It was confirmed by the White House in May that Abplanalp, a multimillionaire, had loaned Nixon $625,000 in 1969 to help buy the President's estate in San Clemente, Calif.

The Times said antitrust lawyers in the Justice Department's New York office urged that the Abplanalp firm's books be investigated following a 1970 complaint by one of its competitors.

The Abplanalp company, Precision Valve Corp. of Yonkers, N.Y., manufactures valves for aerosol spray cans. The competitor contended that a rebate scheme by Precision involved predatory pricing.

The request for an investigation eventually was turned down by a deputy assistant attorney general, The Times said.

Another Justice Department official, the only one involved who would comment on the case, told The Times he was not aware of any outside pressure to stop the investigation.

The official, Barry Grossman, assistant chief of the evaluation section in the department's Antitrust Division, said the investigation was not started because it could not be justified, the newspaper said.

According to The Times, Rep. Bertram Podell, D-N.Y., claims to have a copy of a memorandum in which another high department official told then Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell of plans to proceed with the investigation unless Mitchell ruled otherwise.

Gasoline firms lower octane

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) has lowered the minimum octane ratings of its gasoline, a Sohio spokesman said today.

Charles Partridge, associate director of Sohio public relations, said the "bottom end" of ratings was lowered in May from 100 to 98 or 99 for premium and from 94 to 93 for regular gasoline.

An octane rating indicates the grade of gasoline needed to keep the engine from knocking.

for paying your newscarrier promptly

It's tough for a youngster to "come back some other time" for payment. As a young businessman, your Record-Herald carrier is trying to do a job for you, rain or shine. He really appreciates your paying him the first time he calls to collect. Keep it up, won't you? And if you have trouble seeing your carrier, the Record-Herald office will gladly accept advance payments of one month or more. Mail your check today or stop in and see us. Thank you.

Most Americans say Nixon involved

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The Gallup Poll says 71 per cent of Americans it questioned believe President Nixon was involved in the Watergate bugging or cover-up but only 18 per cent feel he should be compelled to leave office.

The poll of 1,451 persons was taken June 22-25. It also said that 98 per cent of those questioned were aware of the Watergate scandal, indicating a growing awareness since a survey last September, when 52 per cent said they knew about Watergate.

New wave pump delivers wattage

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A wave pump that produces a thousand watts of electrical power has been devised by oceanographers at the Scripps Institution of Oceanography, with the help of federal Sea Grant funds.

The device has only one moving part and consists of a 200-foot plastic pipe with a check valve through which the waves force water. The water above the check valve is forced along by the action of the next wave into a pressure tank aboard a ship or buoy.

Then it is discharged through a turbine to generate electricity. Further tests are in order.

Solon hopes new President non-drinker

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — U.S. Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, said Sunday he hopes the next U.S. President is a non-drinker.

Hughes, who won his own battle with alcohol, went on to be the Iowa governor and later senator. He addressed the opening of a Kentucky sponsored school on alcohol abuse.

"Personally," said the Somerset, Ky. native, "I'd rather have a man in the White House who doesn't drink, rather than one who does.

"I'm getting a little sick of seeing our international agreements toasted with vodka."

The alcoholism school today moves to Thomas More College. The state sponsored school is aimed at providing specialized training for professionals and lay workers in the field of combating alcohol abuse.

Hughes said that America must be awakened to how serious its drinking problem is. He challenged estimates of nine million Americans with drinking problems.

Hughes said it is "more like 70 million" and added that there probably isn't one American Indian in the U.S. whose life is not affected in some way by alcoholism.

Ohioan charged in parking meter grand larceny

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — An Ohio man police have charged with stealing $7,300 from city parking meters in the last seven months is being held in the police lockup under $20,000 bond pending a July 12 court hearing.

Howard Edward Masters, 35, of Huron, Ohio, was arrested about 1:15 a.m. Sunday after detectives said they saw him and two women breaking into parking meters on 11th Street. Masters also was charged with possession of burglary tools with intent to commit larceny.

Charged with grand larceny of $408.75 from city parking meters and with possession of burglary tools with intent to commit larceny were Georgia Margaret Scarberry, 32, also of Huron, and Minerva Mae Rice, 50, of Moundsville, W. Va.

They were ordered held under $10,000 bond each, also pending a court hearing July 12.

Ohio Perspective

Education concerns state voters

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Primary and secondary education concerns Ohio voters more than any other facet of government, state Sen. Paul R. Matia, R-25 Westlake, reports.

He bases his belief on a poll answered by more than 1,000 of his constituents.

Voters in the densely populated Cleveland area district listed pollution control as their second biggest concern, followed by health care and treatment for the mentally ill.

Matia said highways and welfare were the source of least concern among those polled. At the same time, voters showed greatest liking for the sales tax and the greatest concern by the level of property taxes. Ranking second was the new state income tax, Matia said.

The senator's questionnaire contained 19 questions, but his constituents listed a number of other matters.

Among these were law enforcement, assistance for the elderly, consumer protection, prison reform, control of Lake Erie, parks, vocational education, and day care for children of working mothers.

Seventy-eight per cent of those responding said Ohio should ban the use of non-returnable bottles and 73 per cent favored outlawing detergents containing phosphate.

Among the 19 questions posed, only four received a negative response from the voters, including one that asked if Ohio should legalize all forms of gambling. Fifty-three per cent said no.

Voters also rejected suggestions to make it easier to obtain a divorce (60 per cent to 40 per cent), to permit school teachers and other public employes to strike (48-52), and to retain the present system for selecting judges (35-65).

The Cuyahoga County voters, otherwise, favored a Regional as opposed to local control of air and water pollution, compulsory inspection of automobiles, no-fault insurance, new laws restricting abortion, offtrack betting on horse races, registration of hand guns and restrictions on their possession, and appointment of judges by the governor.

They advocated continued efforts to find a legal way to provide financial aid to non-public schools, requiring students at the state universities to pay a larger share of the increasing costs of higher education, repeal of the "blue laws" banning Sunday sales, and use of highway use tax revenues for transportation other than highways.

Opinion And Comment

A call for the President

There were many exciting highlights during those five remarkable days of John W. Dean's appearance before the Senate Watergate committee. It would be hard to single out a single episode as the dramatic peak.

For the sake of argument, though, one might suggest the moment when Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., all but demanded that President Nixon come before the committee to testify about the grave allegations made against him.

He and the vice chairman, Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., rendered a brief antiphonal passage on this theme, with Baker saying the committee must find some way "to gain access to the President's knowledge" of the events set forth in such exhaustive detail.

The venerable but lively Sen. Ervin had something to say about that aspect of the matter. The history of Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence, he declared, shows that direct examination under oath is the "only reliable way" to test the credibility of a principal in a criminal case.

He also asked Dean, more or less rhetorically, "Is there any way whatsoever to test the credibility of anybody when the credibility has to be judged merely upon the basis of a written statement?"

This was in line with Ervin's thesis, reiterated a number of times, that "you can't cross-question an interrogatory statement."

Ervin stops short of suggesting that the President should be subpoenaed, and apparently the committee has not yet resolved the question whether to attempt this. The Chairman does say he would "rather not" have the President subpoenaed, and at one point in an interview added, "I would leave it up to him whether he wanted to appear."

The chances of an appearance by Mr. Nixon before the committee, whether or not under subpoena, are not very good. The White House has given out its official opinion that it would be "constitutionally inappropriate" for the chief executive to come for questioning. Melvin R. Laird, in his new capacity as presidential adviser, has said rather vaguely that at a suitable point in the course of the hearings the President would hold a press conference.

A press conference would be highly desirable — though not at some ill-defined point in the future, but as soon as possible. And in the end, it may yet seem advisable for the President to come before the committee.

He harms both himself and the public trust in the presidency by continuing to remain aloof. A personal appearance may be the only way to get to the bottom of this very complex matter.

Getting to the bottom of it is, considering the impact of Watergate on our national life, as constitutionally appropriate as anything we can think of.

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

Court caught with fig leaf down

Don't look now,, but when the Kennedy-appointed Supreme Court Justice Byron "Whizzer" White joined with the four Nixon appointees to return the interpretation and enforcement of anti-pornography laws to the states and local governments it put the Burger Court into a fearsome ideological box.

What the decision did was to reaffirm the Tenth Amendment to the Constitution, which says "the powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people."

This Tenth Amendment — the "Forgotten Tenth" — was never formally repealed. But the modern interpretation of the Fourteenth Amendment has overridden the Tenth. "Equal protection of the laws" has been taken to mean that states have no rights to do anything locally that the federal government has no right to do nationally. So the purveyor of pornography has felt that if he can sell an obscene magazine "with socially redeeming" value in Times Square, he can also sell it on Boston Common or in Squaresvill, Idaho.

THE APPLICATION of "equal protection of the laws" to smut peddling which came in the wake of the famous decision legitimizing the sale of James Joyce's "Ulysses" resulted in what the theatrical newspaper Variety has called "the fig leaf crisis."

To end the cirsis by making the marketing of "porn" a matter of local option, the Court argued that "people in different states vary in their tastes and attitudes, and this diversity is not to be strangled by the absolutism of imposed uniformity."

So be it. But what does this sort of argument do to the recent Burger Court decision on abortion? The learned justices certainly "strangled diversity" there when they forced an "absolutist" judgment about the timing of pregancy termination on all the states without regard to the condition of medical knowledge in different communities.

And how do you square local option in the smut business with the court's ruling that separate state residency requirements for getting on the local welfare rolls are illegal under the Fourteenth Amendment?

Where there was once "diversity" in the way the states governed the administration of welfare, there is now "absolutism." A man coming to New York or Connecticut from South Carolina or Mississippi has a right to welfare payments the day he arrives in town, even though the Constitution says nothing about the local rules governing relief one way or another.

..THEN THERE is the court decision that has outlawed any type of local aid to parochial schools on the ground that the religious clause of the First Amendment prohibits any government aid to religion.

The First Amendment, of course, limits itself to saying that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion." It did not prohibit the making of such law to the states, some of which had "established" churches at the time the Constitution was ratified.

Well and good, you might say to the court's decision to use the Fourteenth Amendment to keep the states from buying textbooks for parochial school kids. But what about the smut merchant then? Doesn't the Fourteenth under the anti-censorship part of the First Amendment to print what he likes anywhere? Doesn't the Fourteenth Amendment extension of the First Amendment apply to him too?

I have always been a Tenth Amendment man myself, so I can't weep if the constabulary of Pine Bluff, Ark., decides to put a local bookseller in the clink for selling "Fanny Hill" or "A House Is Not a Home" to juveniles. But if there is to be local option in the showing of movies such as "Deep Throat," the Supreme Court justices, to be consistent, must permit local option in a score of things that now come under the ban of the Fourteenth Amendment restriction on the Tenth Amendment.

A San Francisco pornographic film maker, James Mitchell, has called the court's ruling on "porno" literature "totally insane." But it is insane only on the assumption that same men must be philosophically consistent.

Since the laws always strain toward consitency, the debate about the Fourteenth Amendment's effect on the Tenth Amendment should be taking on a new vitality.

So have at it, you Burger Court justices; look to your ideological respectability.

When Nixon will talk

The official word is out as to when President Nixon will publicly talk about Watergate, but the message is far from precise. All we are really told is that the President will not address himself to the issue before the Senate's investigating committee has wound up the first stage of its hearings.

That is expected to be about the first week in August. Beyond this, White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler was vague: he would not say whether Mr. Nixon's comment would then come within a few days or a few weeks, though he did reject any thought that the President might delay for several months after the first phase of the Watergate hearings.

Ziegler was vague, too, about the method and circumstances of President Nixon's promised comment. The press secretary dealt mostly in negatives: an "appropriate" forum had not yet been chosen; there probably would not be an informal meeting with members of the Senate committee; no written statement would be submitted to the committee by the President; the President would not testify before the Watergate grand jury.

As to why President Nixon has seemingly chosen not to testify under oath in any forum, Ziegler remarked, "I do not think that's necessary." To clinch it, he said the White House stands behind the President's May 22 disavowal of prior knowledge about the Democratic headquarters breakin, or knowledge of the subsequent coverup operation.

This is not a very satisfying response to pained inquiries from all sides, including some leading Republicans, as to when the President will share his knowledge of Watergate with the public.

What the White House is saying, in effect, is that at least another month will pass before Mr. Nixon addresses himself to questions that have thrown the nation into turmoil.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, RECORD HERALD — The following letter has been sent to Mrs. Elmer N. Reed, retiring teacher at Belle Aire Elementary School:

Dear Mrs. Reed:

As a representative of the hundreds of students you have taught at Belle Aire School in the past years, I wish to thank you, from the bottom of my heart, for your dedication and demonstration of unselfish leadership, which is so vital in the field of education today. The people of Washington C.H. have much to be grateful for-you have proven yourself an outstanding model, (academically, socially, and morally), with whom the children have identified for years.

Now, as I am ready to enter the teaching profession, I realize, more so than ever, your influence and the effect you have had on those fortunate people you have come in contact with. I only hope I can maintain the enthusiasm and life-long devotions you have had for each individual student, regardless of intelligence and classroom involvement.

Thank you, Mrs. Reed. We owe you so much.

"DURING THE TRADE TALKS WITH NIXON, DID YOU BRING UP THE SUBJECT OF CREDIT CARDS?"

Hal Boyle . . . A tapestry of memories

NEW YORK (AP) — Life is the weaver and memory is the tapestry it weaves.

And what a wonderful tapestry every human life is. It is a pageantry of heydays and gray days, tremulous moments and dull years, idle dreams and transient agonies that seemed perpetual while they lasted.

Life has woven you an extensive memory pattern if you can look back and remember when—

Farmers said corn had to be "knee-high by the Fourth of July" or they were in for a bad crop yield.

About half of a housewife's energy in summer seemed to be spent in fighting or trying to get rid of houseflies. For getting rid of them on the front porch, there was nothing better than an agile old man in a wheelchair with a wire fly swatter.

A mother had to serve biscuits or cornbread at every meal—or else what would the menfolk and kids have to sop up the bacon grease or gravy with?

Only rich men or dudes had a shirt laundered after wearing it just a single day.

There were more husbands in America who slept in their underwear than in pajamas.

When the children first started going barefoot in summer, mother sighed. She knew that within three days one of them would come home, hobbling and wailing with the agony of a stubbed and bleeding toe.

A juvenile delinquent was a kid who tried to hit songbirds with a slingshot.

A good neighbor was a lady who lived next door and always had a cup of whatever you needed to borrow in an emergency.

Those were the days—remember?

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Mom's sunshine smile was vacation enough

DEAR ABBY: I quote from your column: "Dear Abby: My mother has been very sick for a year and a half. Her doctor says she could last another year or die tomorrow. My husband and I have put off taking any kind of vacation ever since mother's illness, and we really must get away. I'm afraid if we go, mother might die, and we'll have to turn around and rush home. Should we go or not?"

I'm glad you threw the problem right back into her lap, Abby. That's a decision everyone must make for himself. My own beloved mother suffered a series of strokes and was confined to bed, totally helpless.

My brother and I took turns staying with her for nine years, day and night, and neither one of us worried about a vacation. When one of us would walk into Mama's room, the sunshine of her smile was "vacation" enough for us.

God called her home last Christmas.

NO REGRETS IN ALLIANCE, OHIO

DEAR NO: Another Ohioan had the same problem. Read on for her solution:

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the woman whose mother lingered so long with a terminal illness that she and her husband didn't dare to take a much needed vacation reminded me of my own situation.

We, too, had six years of the identical situation. Finally we made arrangements with a funeral home to keep mother's body until our return if she died while we were away. Then we felt free to go.

It turned out that mother passed away while we were home, so it wasn't necessary for the funeral home to grant our request. But for four years we went away on our vacation with a clear conscience, and heaven knows it was our salvation.

MARION, OHIO

DEAR ABBY: The population of this town is 1,200. There is to be a wedding here soon. Two hundred and fifty invitations were sent for the service and reception.

Some of those invited do not know the bride and groom or their parents very well. Two friends of the bride's mother organized a shower with a guest list of 80 women. Again, many were practically strangers.

The two hostesses of this shower sent telephone lists to several women, who were supposed to invite the guests by phone. They agreed to do so.

The night of the shower there hadn't been a single regret, so 80 women were expected. A hall was rented and chairs and tables were set up, and food and drinks were on hand for 80. Only 15 women showed up, including the bride-to-be, her mother, and the hostesses!

I was there, and it was the saddest, most embarrassing shower I've ever witnessed.

We later learned that the women who accepted the telephone lists disapproved of this kind of shower. So they just didn't call anyone. They also didn't bother to tell the hostesses of their decision.

Some women who were not called said they would have come. Others said they were glad they were not called. Regardless of the rights and wrongs of such a shower, who was responsible for this humiliating event?

AN INTERESTED PARTY

DEAR INTERESTED: Obviously, the women who accepted the telephone lists and decided not to call anyone, but failed to advise the hostesses of their decision were responsible. Shame on them.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, July 9, the 190th day of 1973. There are 175 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1816, Argentina declared its independence from Spain.

On this date:

In 1810, Napoleon Bonaparte annexed Holland to France.

In 1819, the inventor of the sewing machine, Elias Howe, was born in Spencer, Mass.

In 1850, President Zachary Taylor died at the White House after serving only one year and four months.

In 1940, during World War II, the Duke of Windsor was appointed governor of the Bahamas.

In 1947, the engagement of Princess Elizabeth of Britain to Philip Mountbatten was announced.

In 1960, the Soviets threatened the United States with rockets if any attempt were made to oust the Castro government in Cuba.

Ten years ago: An agreement was signed to create the federation of Malaysia, uniting Malaya, Singapore, Sarawak and North Borneo.

Five years ago: New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller challenged Richard Nixon to join in sponsoring a poll of voters to determine which of the two would be the strongest Republican candidate for president.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

The position of Mars indicates an extremely active day. Things should move along briskly — and you with them. But don't scatter your energies.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

You may have a tendency now toward discontent, irritability with persons who do not understand you. Recognize this possibility and determine to control such feelings.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Consider all propositions carefully, to determine whether they are really worthwhile — and advisable at this time. In any case, don't be guided by your emotions.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Check spur-of-the-moment comment, actions. You could step into trouble through heedless tactics. With diplomacy and good judgment, however, you should have a good day.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Do not become witlessly involved in so many activities that you neglect the ones pertinent NOW. Conditions excellent for useful discussions, new contacts.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

As with Gemini, curb emotions and do not let them become a factor in vital decisions. Take steps to develop a latent talent.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Emphasize your originality. The eyes of superiors are on your efforts, and worthwhile ideas and new methods could lead to a fine up-grading of your status.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Stress self-control and self-reliance. Don't count too much on the cooperation of others. Plan a workable program and make all commitments judiciously.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Tricky in spots, day will demand close attention to plans, good follow-through, efficient methods and a careful eye to details. Avoid making rash promises.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Fine stellar influences now stimulate your special gifts. Look beyond the immediate for true perspective. Intuition should be keen now.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

A good day for handling business transactions successfully and for gaining ground through some rarely used talent. Avoid a tendency toward procrastination, however.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

In dealings with others, be sure to note their reactions. The right word at the right time could be a big factor in putting over ideas.

YOU BORN TODAY have been endowed with a fine intellect, a lively imagination, extraordinary intuition and unusually high standards and principles. You have a keen sense of justice and would make an outstanding lawyer, jurist; could also succeed in science, journalism or in the field of invention. You are extremely conventional and conservative; inclined, however, to actually suffer when others do not live up to your high ideals. Try to master such sensitivity and develop a philosophy of "live and let live." In this way, you will enjoy life more fully and help others to do the same.

MRS. DOUGLAS STAYROOK

Sacred Heart Church setting for wedding

Sacred Heart Church in Sharon, Pa., was the setting June 30 for the marriage of Miss Sandra Kollar, daughter of Mrs. Stephen Kollar, Masury, Ohio, and the late Stephen Kollar, to Douglas Stayrook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stayrook of Rt. 1, New Holland.

The Rev. Donald Scully officiated for the marriage at noon before an altar adorned with fan shaped arrangements of white flowers. The pews were marked with emerald foliage and white bows. The entrance of the church was decorated with topiary trees dotted with fresh flowers. Miss Anne Marie Griz, organist, and Jospeh Sandor, vocalist, presented nuptial music.

The bride's uncle, Joseph Waso, escorted the bride to the altar and she was given in marriage by her mother. She wore a slipper length gown of white organza with Venice lace bodice, full sheer sleeves, high collar and empire waist which was softly gathered forming an A-line silhouette. A flounced hemline was trimmed with Venice lace. The matching mantilla of Venice lace and illusion was attached to a Camelot headpiece which formed a chapel-length train. The bride carried an arm bouquet of traditional white blooms.

Michael Stayrook served as best man for his brother, and Robert Corso of Youngstown, and Frank Alexander of Bellefontaine were ushers.

Following the ceremony, the bride presented a rose to her mother and also the mother of the groom.

Hostesses for the reception held in the New Villa Restaurant in Farrell, Pa., was Mrs. Gus Kollar, aunt of the bride; Mrs. Tom Parks, cousin of the groom matched the bride's color.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Stimpert of Washington C.H.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Backensto, Mr. and Mrs. Omar L. Backensto and sons, Ronald and Kenneth, all of Mansfield; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Backensto Jr. of Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Parks, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Spain, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Herring, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Hennessy, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alexander, Ed Alexander and Mrs. Carl Alexander, grandmother of the groom, all of Bellefontaine.

The new Mrs. Stayrook, a graduate of Kennedy Christian High School in Sharon, Pa., and Ohio State University, where she majored in elementary music, is employed at the Daarud Piano and Oragan Studios in Columbus. Her husband, a graduate of Miami Trace High School and Ohio State University, where he majored in agriculture economics, is employed by Landmark Inc., Columbus.

Girl Scout Day Camp held at Camp Gipiwa

A Brownie 'late night' and an overnight stay at Camp Gipiwa, for Juniors, Cadettes and Senior Girl Scouts were the highlights of the Day Camp which was attended by 65 Fayette County Girl Scouts and approximately 30 from the Greenfield area. Camp was held under the direction of Mrs. Edward Jones of Greenfield and Mrs. Charles Webb of Jeffersonville.

Late night was planned for Wednesday, but due to the inclement weather, was changed to Thursday. Parents arrived with potluck dishes and all units sang favorite songs and presented skits. Homemade ice cream was enjoyed by everyone, which was made at the campsite by the Cadettes.

Rains and bugs failed to dampen spirits of the girls as they learned many nature projects, crafts and took hikes. They cooked over open fires and learned how to do all the safest ways possible.

Leaders for the week from Fayette County were Mrs. Ronald Dean, Mrs. Byers Shaw, Mrs. James Arnott, Mrs. William Cales, Mrs. Carl Johnson, Miss Wanda Putnam, Mrs. Thomas Coder, Mrs. William Barnett, Mrs. Jim Thompson, Mrs. Howard Hixon. The Nursery was staffed by Mrs. Robert Copas of Greenfield and Mrs. Robert West of Washington C.H.

Intermediate boys were under the direction of Mrs. George Geesling, Fayette County Senior Girl Scout Troop aides were Miss Ann Black, Miss Stephanie Johns and Miss Cindy VanMeter.

Miss Oesterle completes wedding plans

Miss Melanie Oesterle, bride-elect of Daniel L. Smith, has completed plans for their open-church wedding on July 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the New Holland United Methodist Church. The Rev. Father David Schilder of Chillicothe and Rev. Frank Allen White of the Bloomingburg United Methodist Church will officiate at the wedding ceremony.

Miss Oesterle has asked her sister, Mrs. Lawrence Black to be matron of honor, and Miss Penny Hardman to be maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be the Misses Sandy Smith, Dianne Oesterle and Janie Counts.

Warren Trakas will serve as best man. The groomsmen will be William Hamburger, David Smith, Maynard Oesterle and Richard Southworth.

Hostesses for the reception in the social room of the church following the marriage will be Mrs. Charles Queen, Miss Debbie Morris and Miss Kathy Morris. Miss Mary Ellen Oesterle and Miss Cheryl Queen will preside at the guest book.

Mrs. Stahl honor guest at party

Mr. and Mrs. William Newton entertained recently with a surprise birthday party for Mrs. William Stahl.

The guests enjoyed games and refreshments throughout the evening. Later Mrs. Stahl opened many pretty gifts. The highlight of the evening was when she received a 'singing telegram.'

The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Dean, Mr. and Mrs. James Donohoe, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Huysman, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leeth, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Orthmyer, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Penwell, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Pohlman, Mr. and Mrs. Stahl and daughters, Lorie, Joan and Susi, and Mr. and Mrs. Newton and daughters, Angela and Chantal.

⅛ teaspoon dried basil
Salt to taste

In a large saucepot heat the oil; add onion and garlic and cook until onion is yellowed. Add remaining ingredients. Simmer, uncovered, for 1 hour; stir occasionally. Makes about 5 cups. Enough for 1 to 1½ pounds spaghetti — 4 to 6 main dish servings.

COUNTRY STEAK AND VEGETABLES

2 tablespoons shortening
1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup, undiluted
½ cup water
2 tablespoons catchup
1 tablespoon steak sauce
3 medium potatoes (about 1 pound), quartered
1 package (9 ounces) frozen cut green beans

Pound steak with meat hammer; cut into serving-size pieces. In a large skillet brown steak in shortening; pour off fat. Mix soup, water, catchup and steak sauce and add. Cover; cook gently for 30 minutes. Add potatoes; cook 45 minutes more. Add beans; stir to separate. Cook 20 minutes more or until meat and vegetables are tender, stirring occasionally. Makes 4 servings.

Spread bread slices with deviled ham and top with slices of cheddar cheese; top with bread slices to make sandwiches. Butter the outside of the sandwiches and grill until cheese is melted and bread is golden-brown. Serve with sweet pickles.

A dash of cinnamon may be added to canned blueberry pie filling.

TV Viewing

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Time has not dulled the memory of that furrowed brow and those sculptured tones.

Edward R. Murrow, foremost reporter in television's early days, is brought back to life in a replay of his historic confrontation on "See It Now" with Sen. Joseph McCarthy, the Communist-hunting Republican from Wisconsin.

Three "See It Now" broadcasts from early 1954 were condensed into one hour Sunday as CBS inaugurated a new 12-week summer series called "CBS News Retrospective."

In light of our present relationship with the Soviet Union and Communist China, the witchhunt hysteria of that era seems almost like ancient history. That McCarthy inspired such fear—and with so little evidence of guilt, as documented by Murrow—is a wonder.

Murrow's tactic was to let McCarthy expose himself with his own words. He strung together films of McCarthy speeches and hearings, then filled in the missing facts.

The Murrow broadcast of March 9, 1954, was one of the first to demonstrate the power of television to influence events. Viewer response ran substantially against McCarthy. Subsequent broadcasts included McCarthy's reply and Murrow's reply to McCarthy's attempt to brand him a Communist sympathizer.

By the end of the year, McCarthy had been censured by the Senate, and his power waned. He died in 1957. Murrow died in 1965.

Next Sunday night, CBS will show two more "See It Now" broadcasts, these from 1953. All of the early shows are in black and white.

Other documentaries in the retrospective include "The Silent Spring of Rachel Carson," "Black History: Lost, Stolen or Strayed," "Don't Count the Candles" and another historic Murrow show, "Harvest of Shame."

That documentary on migrant workers came back to haunt Murrow when he served as President Kennedy's head of the United States Information Agency and CBS sold it for showing on BBC.

This retrospective of a time when television documentaries packed more wallop than they do today is in a sense a legacy of the strike by the Writers Guild of America. Unable to schedule new shows for the summer, CBS hauled out the old documentaries. They were last shown two years ago at Lincoln Center in New York by the center's Film Society.

ABC has announced a series of 12 hard-news documentaries for next season.

Air quality much better in Ohio Valley

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Air quality over the heavily industrialized upper Ohio Valley improved considerably during the night and a spokesman for the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency said, "It looks like we're in pretty good shape."

Ray Matjasic said the air quality index for the four-county eastern region "dropped fantastically" early today from 256 to 109. The lower the index, the cleaner the air is.

Jefferson, Belmont, Columbiana and Monroe counties have been under a pollution alert because of air stagnation since Saturday.

On Sunday, the index had reached 280, only 20 points away from the warning level. The emergency level is 400.

The next reading was to be taken at 8 a.m. today. "It will probably rise a little bit by that time, but we're hoping it won't be as much as Sunday," Matjasic said.

He said "notable cutbacks" by industries in the area "definitely had something to do with the improved conditions."

He said about 50 local industries had been contacted by the EPA and the Northern Ohio Valley Air Authority and many had reduced operations voluntarily.

Police investigate Cincy stabbing death

Steel pinch talks spurs more orders

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A rash of long term commitment requests from steel users apparently has been spurred by fear of a steel pinch, Industry Week magazine reports.

The magazine noted that long term commitments have been common among foreign steel producers in the past, but that steel users now are asking U.S. mills for similar guarantees.

One company reported that a customer offered to sign a 3½-year contract for a certain amount of steel at full book price at the time of shipment, the magazine said.

"The number of major customers who are vitally interested in obtaining long term availability commitments for steel is amazing," the magazine said.

The magazine estimated raw steel output last week at 2,860,000 net tons, slightly down from the previous week's 2,897,000 tons, but the drop was blamed on maintenance shutdowns.

Both imports and exports continued to rise in response to the strong demand for steel, however.

Mills report "they can sell abroad almost any amount of tonnage they please of almost all products—from slabs to hot bands to finished steel—at prices equaling, or in some cases exceeding those for domestic shipments," the magazine said.

Production mistake brings plant explosion

Damage was "minimal," according to Fire Marshal Howard Fox.

"Something went haywire in the process," the marshal said. The plant produces paint.

Investors still fear brokerage failures

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Anlyst

NEW YORK (AP) — For the first time since stockholder censuses have been compiled, the number of individual investors has dropped over a one-year period, from 32.5 million in 1972 to 31.7 million this year.

Sindlinger & Co., a market research firm that tests sentiment on many subjects by almost continous telephone calls throughout the country, maintains that since the first of the year 3.5 million accounts have been closed.

Whatever the loss, it is substantial and is worrying industry and government officials, and an increasing number of corporate executives whose companies depend on stock market financing.

Seeking the answer, they have found a multitude of explanations rather than just one, but a common theme seems to be that investors have lost confidence, not only in themselves but in the fairness and safety of the market.

Sindlinger interprets his findings this way: "It isn't so much a question of fear but of being sophisticated and realizing that a broker calls only when he wants to make money."

But a just completed study of small investors by the New York Stock Exchange indicates that fear is indeed a contributant to low trading volume.

It found "Many small investors do not feel sufficiently protected by industry self-regulation," and that a prevailing feeling was that "brokerage firms are vulnerable to a recurrence of paper work problems and financial difficulties."

There is justification for such feelings. During the 1968-1970 collapse of many brokerage firms, mainly and ironically because they couldn't handle all the business that came their way, many investors had their money tied up for months.

And now, because so many customers have either closed their accounts or permitted them to remain dormant, more firms are in danger of collapse, their income insufficient to cover overhead.

The Securities Industry Protection Corp. has 87 liquidations on its books, most of them resulting at least partly from "poor books and records." And the New York Stock Exchange has 68 firms under scrutiny, with nine of them considered for liquidation.

Compared with the confusion of 1968-1970, most of these liquidations will be handled smoothly. The endangered Big Board firms can be merged into more prosperous firms, some business sold off or their accounts transferred.

If these measures cannot be implemented, then the job becomes that of the protection corporation, SIPC, which will appoint a trustee and within weeks begin dispersing customer property, insuring each investor coverage for up to $50,000 in cash and securities left on account with a firm.

In other words, the investor today is generally considered by government and industry officials to be better protected than he was five or three years ago. But some brokers complain that the customer doesn't know it.

Here is a typical complaint heard in the financial district here, expressed by two men who asked to be described only as "two Wall Street leaders," a timidity typical of those who work in regulated industries.

"The public would be a lot more reassured if they had more information about SIPC, but SIPC has rules and regulations that make that difficult. It's almost impossible for a firm to refer to SIPC in an advertisement.

"Everything that can be printed about them is in an 11-page brochure that SIPC itself distributes. We can't summarize; we have to use their language.

"About all a broker can do is hang their logotype in the window. He can't say his customers are covered for up to $50,000. And as a result, the public is poorly informed."

Ironically, the restrictions on advertising were imposed by SIPC in the interest of accurate information.

How to make a relaxed 10-minute long distance call.

When you examine a 10-minute long distance call, you'll see that it gives you enough time to say and hear just about everything you want to say and hear.

Without costing very much. Provided you follow a few simple rules.

Just dial your out-of-state long distance calls direct, without operator assistance. And make your calls between 5 and 11 P.M., Sunday through Friday. (Rates are even lower after 11 P.M. and on weekends.)

That way you'll pay a lot less for long distance calls.

Even 10-minute ones.

Some typical costs for 10-minute self-dialed station calls, placed between 5 and 11 P.M., Sunday through Friday, are: Seattle, $2.60; Los Angeles, $2.60; Dallas, $2.10; Atlanta, $2.00; Boston, $2.05; New York, $2.00; St. Louis, $2,00; Las Vegas, $2.50; Miami, $2.10 and Denver, $2.10.

All rates plus tax.

Heart Transplants Numerous

We don't read about heart transplants any more. Does it mean that this project has been given up because it has been unsuccessful?

Miss G.A., Ark.

Dear Miss A.:

It is understandable that the first heart transplant and the early subsequent ones would be headlined throughout the world.

In retrospect, even to physicians the amazing brilliance and courage of both surgeons and patients made the heart transplant operation stand out as a testimonial to modern science.

The sociological and scientific implications of heart transplants captured the imagination and excitement of everyone. Each case was followed with suspenseful anticipation. All of us identified with each patient and with the family that breathlessly awaited success or failure.

The headlines may have disappeared, but the work is still going on, in hospitals all over the world.

Only recently, a two or three million dollar endowment was given to Stanford University in California to pursue the study of heart transplants and the reasons for tissue rejection. This response of the body to a transplant remains the single barrier to be conquered before heart and other organ transplants are routine surgical procedures.

At Stanford University School of Medicine, almost 60 heart transplants have been performed in the past five years.

Almost half of these patients are alive and functioning well. It is just unfortunate that more Federal funding and money grants are not available to increase the scope of this work.

The answer to cancer, the answer to immunological reasons for transplant failures, and the answer to Parkinson's disease, multiple sclerosis, and a host of other evasive diseases lies in the scientific pursuit of these targets.

Money is still the single ingredient that can keep viable, technical teams working diligently and harmoniously toward their goals.

To allow these teams to disband because of insufficient financial support is to delay, perhaps by decades, the solution of these scourges of mankind.

I have a small cyst of the breast. Of course, I worry that it might be cancerous.

Isn't it better to have it removed?

Miss M. W., Calif.

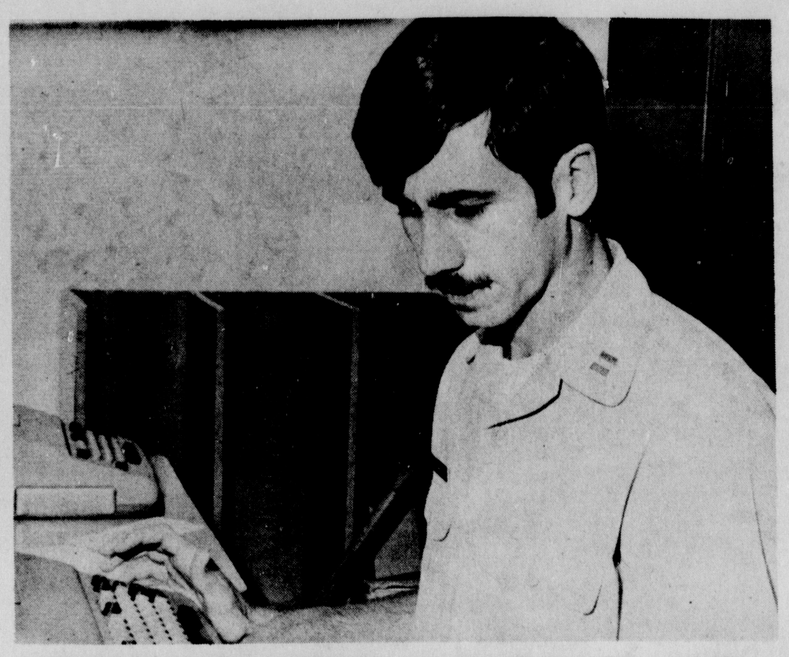

Dear Miss W.:

Single or multiple cysts of the breast are very common. There was a time when any such growth was viewed with moderate alarm.

Today, soft tissue X-rays of the breast, known as mammography, clearly differentiate cancerous from non-cancerous growth.

The fact that your doctor and surgeon do not want to operate and remove the cyst should give you comfort and freedom from the anxiety normally associated with these conditions.

You can be certain that if there were any confusion or concern about your problem surgery would have been recommended.

Father passes down sheep shearing trade to his sons

David Comer's is. The 44-year-old Comer lives at Battesse Lake near Jackson, Mich. He is a custodian at Jackson High School and has a dual occupation each spring.

That season, Comer spends most weekends and some weekdays shearing sheep for farmers in nearby areas.

"Nowadays there aren't as many sheep around as when I first learned to shear, but it's still a good business, anyway," Comer says.

Comer learned shearing from Lew Harrison, a farmer in White Pigeon, Mich., where Comer lived about 40 years ago. That was during the depression when work was hard to come by, Comer says.

After moving to Battesse Lake about 25 years ago, Comer continued to shear for farmers in this area, and he taught his three older sons the skill by the time each was 14 years old. His two older sons no longer live in Michigan, but his youngest, Brian, 24, still lives at home and helps with the shearing. He has a full time job with an iron and metal company in Jackson.

Father and son can handle about eight sheep per hour. They sheared about 60 sheep recently on a Saturday at the Howard S. Mann farm in Tompkins Center, Mich.

Opening lead — two of diamonds.

He was East and South got to six spades on the bidding shown. West led a diamond and the following is Hazen's account of what happened after that, as related by him in the Bridge World magazine:

"I was of course disappointed when declarer ruffed the opening lead. South then went into a long trance and finally emerged from it by cashing the ace of hearts and leading the ten of spades next.

"My partner discarded a heart and I reacted like the typical young lawyer I was. The first thing you learn in law school is to be suspicious. You spend several hours a day being suspicious of people, of things and of ideas. If you're really good at it, you eventually develop the ability to be just abstractly suspicious.

"I found it easy to be suspicious at this particular moment. What was declarer trying to do to me? I didn't bother to work it out. I just knew that if declarer wanted me to take the ten of spades it couldn't be good for me to oblige him. So I played the three and stared at declarer with a cold legal eye.

"South went into a new trance and then led the A-K of clubs. By now I was carried away by the spirit of the thing. I had refused one trump trick, and nobody was going to bully me into taking another.

"So I discarded a heart instead of ruffing. South struggled quietly for a while but eventually went down one."

Cincy area men face murder arraignments

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Two Cincinnati area men were scheduled for arraignment today on first-degree murder charges in connection with separate slayings Sunday.

James Moss Jr., 63, was accused of the fatal shooting of Jesse Mills, 54, on a downtown street corner. Both had been friends, police said.

Gene Parsley, 39, was arrested by Norwood, Ohio police following the slaying of David Hinds, 17, in a Norwood bar Sunday morning.

Injuries prove fatal

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—Kenneth Hollaender, 29, of Batavia, Ohio injured July 4 crashing his own motorcycle to avoid collision with another, died Sunday at a Cincinnati hospital.

Family Purchase Plan

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Developers of a new suburban neighborhood thought it would look nice if all the houses were painted yellow. Accordingly, in selling lots, they included a "yellow only" requirement in each deed.

But after a number of homes had gone up, one incoming family decided they liked green better. The developers refused to allow any deviation, and, in due coruse, the dispute landed in the courtroom.

"This kind of restriction," the family argued, "is an unlawful interference with our personal liberty. We have a right to follow our own tastes."

However, the court held they would have to stay with yellow whether they liked it or not. The court said the requirement was a reasonable means to a reasonable end — to benefit the community as a whole.

IT IS COMMON in developing a neighborhood, to impose deed restrictions of one kind or another. They may cover anything from the size of houses to the height of hedges, from the style of architecture to the type of fencing.

And, by and large, the law will enforce these restrictions. Although they reduce the rights of the purchaser, they do so on the basis of a lawful contract, freely entered into, at the time of original sale.

True, some restrictions may be unenforceable for reasons of overriding public policy. The leading example is the racial restriction, now outlawed everywhere.

Furthermore, a restriction valid at first may gradually lose its validity as the neighborhood changes. Say a dozen home owners in the "yellow only" neighborhood had been allowed to get away with different colors.

At that point, even if the developers suddenly decided to crack down, a court would probable refuse to enforce the restriction. As one judge put it:

"Restrictions will not be enforced where the character of the neighborhood has so changed as to defeat the original purpose of the plan."

By DON KENDALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new agreement for the exchange of information between the United States and the Soviet Union could have far-reaching effects on farm production in both countries, the Agriculture Department said today.

The agreement, signed June 19, calls for a five-year exchange of information, scientists and commercial tradesmen supervised by a U.S.-USSR Joint Committee on Agricultural Cooperation.

One of the most important parts of the agreement, widely publicized when it was signed, provides for regular exchanges of crop production and other information designed to give each country a better idea of the other's situation in any given year.

In that way, USDA officials hope to keep closer tabs on Soviet grain requirements and not be caught off-guard by a repeat of the huge purchases of U.S. grain made by the Russians a year ago.

A report issued by the Foreign Agricultural Service spells out details of the agreement and how some of the projects might shape up. In the field of research and technology, major areas of cooperation will be plant, animal and soil sciences and farm mechanization.

"The United States and the USSR are world leaders in maintaining major collections of genetic stocks of agricultural crops and have long-range programs of exploration, introduction and evaluation of crop germ plasm," the report said.

Conceivably, one USDA research scientist said privately, access to Soviet germ plasm or seed banks might lead to radically new hybrids of crops or improved strains that could be adapted to use by American producers.

Another possibility will be in pest control. The report said the Soviets have developed extensive control programs and new joint efforts are expected to be worked out using all available control methods.

Some of the most promising possibilities will be in the areas of livestock and veterinary research. Programs to be developed will include the following subjects:

Genetics and breeding, physiology, nutrition, including feed additives, technology of meat, milk and wool production on large farms; infectious diseases, parisitology; and veterinary toxicology.

"The exchange of animals and biological materials will be developed within the proposed projects and within the limits of existing import-export regulations," the report said.

'Mrs. Emma Peel' married secretly

LONDON (AP) — British actress Diana Rigg, who won fame as the judo expert Emma Peel in the television "Avengers" series, has married secretly.

Miss Rigg, 33, who is to appear in a comedy television series in Los Angeles called "The Diana Rigg Show," married Israeli artist Menachen Gueffen at Richmond register office in southeast London.

The marriage was announced today. The announcement did not say when the ceremony had taken place.

It was her first marriage and his second.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Retired Gen. William Westmoreland, former Army chief of staff, says the United States "moved too fast in eliminating the draft."

Writing in the Sunday edition of the Los Angeles Times, Westmoreland said a lottery system draft should be maintained to permit quick mobilization and to ensure that service personnel will represent all levels of American society.

Legion chief hopes group will decay

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The National Commander of the American Legion hopes the organization will die out when the members die off.

"We're an organization dedicated to our own demise," said Joe L. Matthews of Fort Worth, Texas. The Legion wants no more wars, he said.

Matthews said that some 450,000 Vietnam veterans have joined the Legion and are second only in numbers to the vets from World War II. He said the younger members are bound to bring changes but the Legion will continue with its basic purpose, rehabilitation, Americanism and Legion baseball.

Meanwhile, the Legion still opposes U.S. aid to North Vietnam and will insist upon a complete accounting of the fate of soldiers missing in action and unaccounted for in Vietnam.

"We have always advocated the use of political, economic, moral and military pressure by our nation in Indochina to achieve the release of our POWs and identification of the fate of our MIAs," he said.

Milledgeville's Council appoints new president

MILLEDGEVILLE — The Milledgeville Council has appointed Arnett Kelley as Council president to replace John Grooms who resigned.

Discussion at the July meeting centered on the physical appearance of the village, and Mayor Johnny D. Blair brought out complaints by residents of dogs barking and of lots overgrown with weeds. He emphasized continuing efforts by the Council to promote a clean-up campaign.

It was decided that the council should send letters to those who have allowed weeds and grass to grow unchecked requesting that they remedy the situation as soon as possible.

In reference to other clean-up efforts, it was noted that Mayor Blair will represent the village in court July 19 when the removal of rubbish by the Dill Grain Co. will be reviewed. Council has tried to get the abandoned elevator area cleared for some time. If it is successful in Court, council will see that other property owners begin to correct local eyesores.

The mayor pointed out that four Council seats will be filled in the fall, and indicated that he hopes some of those who have so been vocal about village problems in the past will accept the opportunity to take positive action.

Convicted slayer flees

Authorities said the slim, 135-pounder broke out early Saturday morning by sawing through the bars over his cell window with a hacksaw blade.

After climbing through the opening, he cut through a screen and two more bars over a window leading to the prison courtyard, officials said.

Matthews was convicted by a county jury last May in the slaying of Harold Emrick, 17, of McDonald.

Authorities said Emrick was stabbed 38 times and then beaten last January in a trucking garage.

Matthews' escape was the fourth in two weeks from the jail. Only one of the inmates has been recaptured.

Castro attacks Chilean protests

He also said the same forces were responsible for attempts to "impose a military dictatorship in Uruguay," where President Juan D. Bordaberry, under pressure from the armed forces, has dissolved congress and is ruling by decree.

The Cuban leader spoke Saturday in Matanzas Province, near the site of the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion, in ceremonies dedicating a public school. The address was broadcast throughout Cuba and monitored in Miami.

Four drivers charged in weekend accidents

Four drivers were cited for traffic law violations in six traffic mishaps reported by city police and sheriff's departments over the weekend. There were no injuries in the crashes.

Patrick C. Connell, 19, of 309 Buckeye Rd., was cited for reckless operation by sheriff's deputies and charged with driving with insufficient lights by city police after he allegedly left the scene of an accident on the CCC Highway-W at the U. S. 62 detour late Sunday.

Sheriff's deputies said Connell was eastbound when his car ran off the right side of the road and collided with a highway marker sign. He then reportedly drove away from the accident scene but was apprehended by city police a few minutes later when they noticed the moderate damage to the front of the 1964 car.

Other accidents were:

POLICE

SATURDAY, 8:44 p.m. — Loretta S. Smith, 18, of 2011 Heritage Dr., was cited for failure to maintain assured clear distance after a rear-end collision with a car driven by Richard Allen, 38, of 401 Elm St., at the intersection of Elm Street and Washington Avenue; damage moderate.

SUNDAY, 3:06 a.m. — Ricky A. Smith, 23, of 802 S. Main St., was cited for reckless operation after he lost control of his motorcycle and upset as he turned from S. Main Street into an alley; damage minor.

3:20 p.m. — A car driven by Laverne M. Nolan, 28, South Salem, and a parked car owned by Norman L. Day, 335 Oak St., were involved in a slight mishap on the Washington Square lot, damage minor.

SHERIFF

SUNDAY, 12:45 p.m. — Clyde S. Lineback, 25, of Cincinnati, was cited for improper passing after his semi-rig and a tractor-trailer rig driven by Paul E. Happeny, 49, Rt.1, collided on U.S. 35 at the Royal Castle entrance; damage moderate.

City school budget tops board slate

The Washington C.H. Board of Education will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday to discuss school finances for next year.

The 1974 budget will top the agenda but the cost of lunches, purchase of textbooks, and salary adjustments also will be discussed.

The major difficulty with completion of the 1974 budget seems to be that state legislation concerning funds for schools is still in limbo, but Superintendent Edwin M. Nestor feels that potential increases in state funds probably will be very small for Washington C.H. Approval of the budget is required by July 15.

An increase in the price of lunches seems to be dictated by rising food prices. Meat prices are the greatest single factor, and the school system is now buying most of the meat used rather than receiving it through government subsidy as in the past. Cost of lunches is expected to be set at 50 cents.

The Senior High School has requested adoption of nine new textbooks at a total cost of $1,161. Most of the books are for new offerings in world history.

The board will consider the hiring of three new teachers and pay increases for eight present teachers. Many of the proposed increases for current teachers are the result of extended service.

Gary Shaffer, basketball coach at Washington Senior High, will attend the meeting to summarize plans for the basketball program.

Burglary, vandal reports checked

A burglar entered the Sollars Brothers Inc., building 309 S. Main St., overnight Friday but made off with only about $5 in change, police reported.

Officers said burglary was discovered by employes Saturday morning. The intruder apparently entered through a rear door and then ransacked the desks in the office. Nothing else was reported missing.

A large plate glass window at the Will-O-Wave Beauty Shop, Court and North streets was damaged by a pellet fired from an aire rifle sometime Saturday night. Damage was set at $107.

CHARLES E. STEVENS

Specialist Charles E. Stevens, 21, Rt. 3, Washington C.H., has been graduated from the Ohio Army National Guard's Non-Commissioned Officer (NCO) Course at Camp Perry. Graduation from the two-week course of intensive training is usually a prerequisite for promotion to the rank of sergeant.

As a civilian, Stevens is employed at Pennington Bread, Inc. He is a 1970 graduate of Washington Senior High School.

The NCO course, in its fourth year, is designed to alleviate the shortage of qualified non-commissioned officers in the Ohio National Guard. Ohio is one of the few states to have such a program.

Camper-trailer damaged heavily in Freeway fire

Sheriff's deputies said the car, driven by Katherine Reinacher, of Batavia, N.Y., was southbound on I-71 near the southbound rest area when the tire caught fire. Mrs. Reinacher stopped the car, and her five passengers got out as the fire spread to the trailer.

A small propane tank on the trailer also was ignited by the flames and contributed to the heavy damage. Jeffersonville firemen were called to the scene and extinguished the blaze.

Moderate damage was reported to a 1966 model motorcycle when it caught fire in the Sea-way lot early Sunday.

City firemen said Dennis Goff, of Sabina, was using a lighted match to check the level of gas in the tank when the tank caught fire. Goff dumped the cycle on its side to allow the gas to run from the tank. The flames burned the paint from the tank and damaged the wiring.

Firemen reported the gas leak was caused by a defective regulator in front of the station. The gas was flowing from a pop-off valve through a two-inch underground vent pipe.

Traffic was blocked off in the area until the leak was shut off by Dayton Power and Light Co., employes. One of the workers suffered from inhalation gas and was given oxygen by firemen.

There was no explosion or fire.

Dog license suit filed

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A Lake County Common Pleas Court hearing has been set for Thursday on a suit which challenges the county's right to peddle dog licenses door to door.

Lawyer Michael J. Laird, who filed the taxpayers' suit last month, charged that the county invades citizens' privacy by sending agents "door to door looking for a crime."

The county, which instituted "Operation Dog Check" earlier this year, contends the agents merely ask if dogs are licensed. If not, the agents offer to sell a dog license on the spot.

The county said that in three weeks of operation the program has netted about $2,700 in license fees and registered twice the normal number of dogs.

"The people who have been doing all the complaining are the ones who have been cheating all these years and not buying licenses," a county spokesman said.

Ohio TV outlets ripped

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Two Ohio broadcasting executives have challenged the criticism of the Taft Broadcasting Co. and two television stations by an outgoing member of the Federal Communications Commission.

Commissioner Nicholas Johnson Sunday listed the Taft organization as the corporate owner with the worst over-all record and its Columbus affiliate, WTVN-TV, among the 10 worst outlets in over-all programming in the nation.

Johnson also named WDHO-TV of Toledo as the worst in news and public affairs.

Lawrence H. Rogers II, president of Taft, said Johnson was "hostile to the free enterprise system of broadcasting which most of us enjoy."

Arthur Dorfner, president of WDHO-TV, said Nicholas' study covered a "composite week" in 1968-69, which he called the station's formative years.

The Billy Bowlegs war was the last expedition against Florida Indians to force them out of the state.

Xenia ballplayer hurt in collision

Robert Frost, 23, of Xenia, was treated at Memorial Hospital for an eye injury suffered while playing softball at Eyman Park Sunday.

Police said Frost was chasing a fly ball and ran into the outfield fence, injuring his right eyelid. He was released after treatment.

Solons engage in boating trip

CISCO, Utah (AP) — Massachusetts Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and three other congressional Democrats ran a portion of the Colorado River in rafts Sunday in an outing of father-son fellowship.

Kennedy, 41, was the senior member of the group. Others were Utah Rep. Wayne Owens, 36, the host; California Sen. John Tunney, 39; and Pennsylvania Rep. William J. Green, 35. Each man had one son along.

The six-hour trip covered 18 miles in Granite Canyon between Westwater and Cisco in eastern Utah. The boaters traversed 12 major rapids, but there were no mishaps.

The sons on the trip were Teddy Kennedy Jr. and Teddy Tunney, both 11; Billy Green, 8; and Doug Owens, 10.

Holthouses buy store at Hillsboro

Mr. and Mrs. Roland F. Holthouse, 638 Albin Ave., owners of Holt-House of Furniture in Washington C.H., have purchased the 50-year-old Sotckwell's Furniture firm in Hillsboro, it was announced Monday.

The sellers were Dick and Shirley Starbuck. The latter's father established Stockwell's a half century ago.

Phillip Holthouse, son of the new owners, will manage the Hillsboro store which will be known as Holt-House of Furniture. Phillip Holthouse, who has managed the Holthouse store in Greenville since 1958, will move his family to Hillsboro when housing is available. He is the father of three children.

The former Stockwell store, located at 935 W. Main St., handles a full line of furniture including such nationally known brands as Tell City, Norwalk and Kroehler.

No changes are planned in personnel of the Hillsboro store or the Washington C.H. store, at 120 W. Court St., which is managed by Gary Casey, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Holthouse.

7-year-old girl brutally slain

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Police are searching for clues here following the discovery Sunday of the badly battered body of a 7-year old girl who had been raped and beaten to death.

Rebecca Bricker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bricker, was found Sunday afternoon on a interstate highway construction site about 300 yards from her home. She had been brutally raped and beaten to death.

An autopsy to determine the exact cause of death was to be performed at a local hospital. Police said they did not know if she had been strangled or beaten to death.

The victim's 55-year-old father said he discovered the girl was missing when he returned home from his work as a night watchman at about 7 a.m. Sunday. Bricker telephoned police after a brief search of the neighborhood had not produced the girl.

Mrs. Bricker, 30, said she had been at a number of taverns during the evening and returned home about 12:40 a.m. The mother of five said she heard no unusual sounds during the night and last saw Rebecca in bed.

The Brickers' other four children, ranging in age from 12 years to 18 months, were in the small, white-frame house in the city's Vandalia section at the time the girl disappeared. Police say they suspect the girl was carried from her home through the back door to the hillside above the Interstate 64 construction site.

Rebecca's father told police he is certain Rebecca was taken from the home against her will, because she was very afraid of the dark.

"She didn't get out on her own," Bricker said. "She had to be taken out of here."

The man who located Rebecca's body, Robert Vance of a Charleston civil defense group, said, "I've been in this business about eight years and this is the worst thing I ever ran into. I don't want to see that again."

Police agreed that it was one of the most grisly crimes committed in the capital city. One officer said, "Man, this is some character we're looking for. I've never seen anything like this."

Packing firm sets layoffs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — About 100 of the 260 employes at the Ohio Packing Co. here were laid off today in what company President Edward Wilke said was an effort for "survival."

"We're losing money and I don't know how to stop it any other way," Wilke said of his decision to indefinitely halt hog slaughtering operations.

He said the losses result from the federal price restrictions placed on the industry recently. The company may not raise prices of its pork, but there are no restrictions on the cost of hogs from the farm, he said.

Wilke estimated company losses at $4 to $5 per head of hogs it slaughters. That's a daily sales loss of $2,500 to $3,000, he said.

Hog slaughtering will be resumed if the price ceiling is lifted to the point where the company can break even, Wilke said.

ACTRESS — Veronica Lake, who appeared in 26 films in the 1940's, died of acute hepatitis at the Medical Center in Vermont. Among her best remembered films was "This Gun for Hire," a movie that introduced Alan Ladd to the screen. She was 51.

Maintenance work slated

Grass mowing and general maintenance projects are on the agenda this week for city, county and state road crews.

Bill Duncan, acting superintendent of the city service department, said crews will be striping streets in the downtown area and will be painting the "islands" on Clinton Avenue. City crews also will be cleaning sewers and working on dust control of alleys.

County workers, according to County Engineer Charles P. Wagner, will be sealing roads and fixing culverts. Workmen also plan to patch Cramer and Prairie Station roads, and will be mowing grass and weeds. Wagner said work is scheduled to begin today on the Miami Trace Road bridge replacement project at Soldens. The new Wissler Road bridge was opened Saturday.

Gene Fitzpatric, superintendent of the Ohio Department of Highways in Fayette County, said ditch and berm maintenance is scheduled for Ohio 729, north of Jeffersonville, and Ohio 41, also north of Jeffersonville. Six mowers will be in operation this week along with guard rail trimming crews.

State crews also will be patching highways in various places in Fayette County.

Wallace Jr. picks music, not politics

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Sandy-colored hair hangs over his collar, and a mustache curves about his lips. But George C. Wallace Jr. says his father, the Alabama governor, doesn't seem to mind very much.

George Jr. wants to be an entertainer. He admits an interest in government but says, "I'm not motivated by it. I'd like to make my own footsteps. I can't think of anything else that fulfills me as much as music. It's really my life."

Young Wallace, 21, became interested in entertainment when he started playing the guitar in the sixth grade. He's been doing it ever since and temporarily has given up business courses at the University of Alabama so he can pursue a music career.

George Jr. feels he's on his way to success in entertainment. He recently signed a contract with MGM Records. His first recording under that label was released Friday, "There Will Never Be Anyone Else But You" and "Why Don't They Understand?"

The Alabama governor joined with his son in announcing the release. "It's a happy day for me and for my son, George Jr. I'm very proud of his song. I like it."

During an interview, the young bachelor said his hair doesn't cause any problems at home. He said his father "talks about it" but "I got him to let his hair grow a little longer, and, who knows, maybe I'll get him to grow a mustache."

George Jr. didn't write his latest songs but says he wants to write some in the future. "I've gotten into writing, and it's really opened me up," he said.

Will his name affect the record's success?

"I want the record to be judged on quality and talent and not, one way or the other, by the name," he said.

Youth Activities

BLUE RIBBON CHAMPS 4-H

Don Thompson, Fayette County Sheriff, was the guest speaker at the citizenship meeting of the Blue Ribbon Champs 4-H Club. Mr. Thompson was asked a variety of questions but talked mainly about highway and camping rules, and pointed out to the members that they should obey all laws.

The club discussed then voted to donate money to the Cancer Society, Heart Fund, AFS, International Farm Youth Exchange, and Chuck Wagon. It was also decided to give $5 to any member going to camp.

Mark Holloway reported on the Community Health Project, where he and Julie Frost spoke to the cub scouts about bites and stings.

Eddie Armintrout talked of a Safety Community Project. The members voted to put up a new sign on Dickey Road and maybe do over the old ones placed there earlier by the club.

July 15 was set for the club tour of projects and picnic afterwards at the Bloomingburg ball park. Jeff Smithson is in charge and two committees consisting of Robin Cunningham, Darla Krupla, Julie Frost, Robert Cotton, Dick Davis, Bill Schaefer and Bruce Jones have been set up.

In J.T. Perrill's absence, Dick Davis gave his report on "Match and Fire Safety," informing the members on precautions to take when using matches.

"Eyes and Ears," was the title of Julie Frost's health report which stressed proper care of these vital parts of the body.

Mark Holloway, Jr. Health leader, told of the body's need for vitamin C in his report, "Facts about vitamin C and Protein."

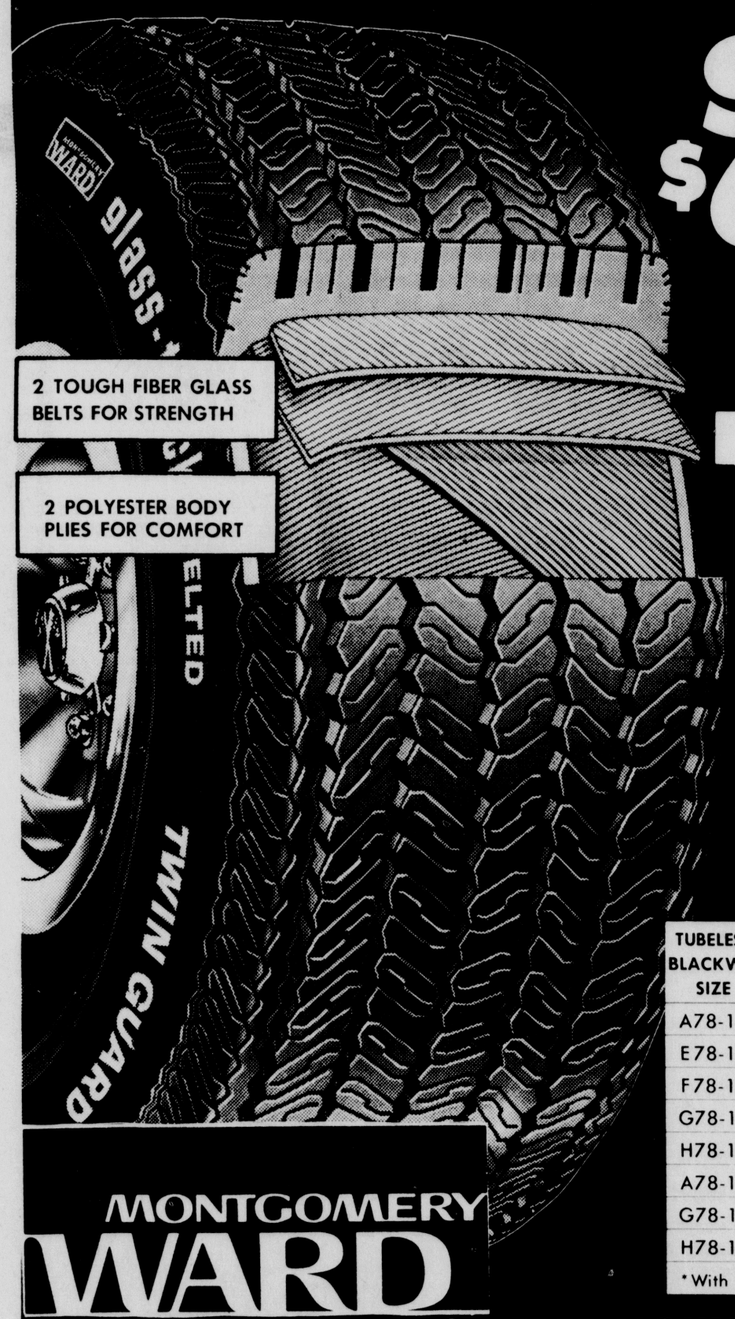

Members were reminded that fair entries are to be made July 14 at the fairgrounds.

After the meeting refreshments were served by Marilyn Creamer and Mark and Jeff Smithson.

Colonels to play 10 Cincy games

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Ownership of the Kentucky Colonels of the American Basketball Association is back in the hands of Louisville, Ky. interests but with a guarantee that pro basketball will return, at least partially, to Cincinnati this fall.

Cincinnati Sports Inc., however, retained 40 per cent of the Colonels while selling 57 per cent to the wife of Kentucky Fried Chicken Inc. owner John Y. Brown.

The result is Cincinnati will host 10 games here while 26 are played in Louisville.

CSI President Brian Heekin told a news conference here Friday that the Colonels are also negotiating with the University of Kentucky at Lexington to play six games there.

Cincinnati, under the terms of the sale, will also host one-third of any playoff games the Colonels get into.

"Regionalization of the Colonels, plus good promotion and exciting basketball should draw very well," Heekin said. He said prefixing the Colonels name with Kentucky would be no hindrance to drawing in Cincinnati.

"It's good basketball. It will be properly promoted," he said, adding, "that's one thing the Royals didn't do properly."

The Cincinnati Royals, now the Kansas City Kings of the National Basketball Association, moved out of Cincinnati in 1972 complaining of poor fan support.

"The Cincinnati Royals drew better in Cleveland than they did in Cincinnati even though they were called the Cincinnati Royals," Heekin said.

"This was our intention when we purchased 97 per cent of the stock of the Colonels in March," Meekin said. "We will be retaining a substantial amount of stock to guarantee the team as a tennant for the Cincinnati colossium."

CSI said the price was $2 million.

"We didn't make a profit on the sale," Meekin said.

3 Browns draft picks in All-Stars

Pete Adams, Steve Holden and Greg Pruitt are all working out with the college All-Stars in Evanston, Ill., and will arrive in camp after the game.

Adams, the Browns' second draft choice, was in town last week to sign blank contracts for the television cameras.

"I'm not worried about getting hurt in the All-Star game," Adams said. "I never worry about getting hurt in a game. I think that once you start doing that you'll probably tighten up and get hurt."

It took several months for the Browns and Adams to come to terms because of a salary disagreement. Adams is happy about his Cleveland contract "because it's a winning team and a winning team is the only kind of team to be with."

The 22-year-old Southern California tackle will be moved to offensive guard with the Browns but he doesn't anticipate any problem.

"I did a lot of pulling in my tackle spot and I think I'll do well at guard," Adams said.

The 6 foot 4, 255-pound San Diego, Calif., native, said he believes he has the physical strength and quickness necessary to make the team.

Palmer eyes British Open

TROON, Scotland (AP) — Arnold Palmer, returning to the scene of a famous victory in the British Open golf championship, scanned Troon's sandy links with the look of a man who can win again.

The 43-year-old veteran from Latrobe, Pa., said, "The course is drying very fast and getting almost like it was 11 years ago. The greens are excellent. I'm hitting the ball reasonably well."

Palmer's optimism, couched as usual in cautious tones, cheered fans gathering for Wednesday's start of the 102nd British Open over the 7,064-yard, par-72 links beside the Firth of Clyde.

Many remember how Palmer came to Troon in 1962 at the very peak of his golfing glory and tamed the course with a 72-hole total of 276 for a six-stroke victory. That score, 12 under par, stands to this day as a record for the British championship.

Hundreds of Scottish golf addicts were on the course to watch Palmer play his first practice round after flying in Sunday.

British bookies rated Jack Nicklaus as 7-2 favorite to win the title, worth about $13,750 in cash but immeasurably more in prestige and spinoff endorsements.

Johnson, Green yield three hits in two games

By KIRK ARNOTT
Record-Herald Sports Writer

Washington C.H. American Legion Post 25's pitching has been nothing to brag about this season. Going into Sunday's South Central Ohio League doubleheader at Greenfield, the staff sported a cumbersome 4.54 earned run average.

So it was a pleasant surprise, to say the least, when Jeff Green and Mark Johnson turned in back-to-back shutouts Sunday, allowing Greenfield batters only three hits in 16 innings. The 7-0 and 3-0 wins gave Post 25 a 6-11 record for the season, 4-6 in the SCOL

Green's performance was easily his best of the season. The lanky righthander fanned 17 batters while walking only two, and one of the two hits off him probably should have been an out.

Only two balls were hit out of the infield against Johnson, who also had his best game on the mound Sunday. He struck out seven and walked two in authoring a one-hitter for his first victory of the season.

Larry Rodgers drove home four runs to lead Post 25 in the first game. The big rightfielder smacked a double and three singles to pace a 12-hit attack. His brother Randy rapped a pair of doubles, the first of them knocking in what proved to be the winning runs in the third inning. Steve Haines and Tony Grooms scored on the two-bagger, then Paul England doubled Rodgers home.

Haines had a good game, with two singles and a pair of stolen bases. He scored twice.

Nelson took the loss for Greenfield, pitching the whole game. He whiffed seven and walked five.

A WALK, a ground out, Randy Rodgers' single and Alan Coppock's double gave Post 25 two runs in the first inning of the second game and the Washington C.H. crew coasted on to the victory to complete the sweep.

A Greenfield runner reached third base in the first frame, but he was the only threat against Johnson's shutout. A clean single by Bennington in the fourth inning spoiled Johnson's chances for a no-hitter.

Grooms scored an additional Post 25 run in the sixth inning after singling, stealing second and scoring on an infield error.

Crabtree was the losing pitcher for Greenfield. He was replaced in the fourth inning by Stewart, who finished.

Billingham blanks Phils

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds came to Philadelphia for three weekend games and swept the Phillies off their feet. A fuming Philadelphia manager, Danny Ozark, wasn't in the mood for any excuses after Sunday's 4-0 loss.

"I don't want to hear about a team being tired after 80 games," Ozark said. "If this club is tired now, it is not the kind of team I want to try to win a pennant with in September.

Ozark, who started his team on a winning tear after a similar blowup in Houston June 4, told his players they played like they were asleep.

"The way they played today is not the way they have been playing. And it is not the way they are capable of playing. I just reminded them they have the ability to do things . . . better," said the manager, after closing the team's locker room for 38 minutes after the loss.

Wayne Twitchell, who tops the National League for earned run average, was tagged for nine hits Sunday, while his Red counterpart, Jack Billingham, was four-hitting the Phils. It was Billingham's fifth shutout of the season and his 12th win in 17 decisions.

Johnny Bench singled home two runs to put the Reds in front 2-0 in the third, then Larry Stahl tripled home a run in the seventh and Tony Perez singled in another in the eighth.

"I think maybe we have it going now," said Reds manager Sparky Anderson, whose team came into the series with the worst hitting average in the league. The Reds had 12 hits in each of the first two contests with the Phillies.

Ozark's ire was inflamed by the action of infielder Mike Schmidt. He explained that he originally planned to call a meeting for today, but "exploded" when he discovered Schmidt had left the clubhouse after being removed for a pinch-hitter in the seventh inning.

For the past six years, George Stone was in the best possible place when Hank Aaron went to the plate—on the Atlanta roster.

On Sunday, however, Stone, now a New York Met, turned up in the worst possible place when Aaron went to the plate— on the mound.

Stone's baseball met Aaron's bat and became a souvenir, not once, but twice. The 39-year-old Aaron hammered home runs Nos. 695 and 696 (22 and 23 on the year) and the Braves defeated the Mets 4-2. He's now only 18 career homers shy of Babe Ruth's all-time record of 714.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati blanked Philadelphia 4-0; Houston topped Montreal 9-7; San Francisco edged St. Louis 5-4; San Diego beat Chicago 4-2, and Los Angeles defeated Pittsburgh 3-2 in 12 innings.

This is the era of audience participation. Spectators vote for their all-star teams and become part of the show at the theater, and now the Montreal fans are getting into the act.

The 6-foot, 175-pound Foli was carried off on a stretcher with a broken jaw after attempting a tag play on Watson, a 6-foot-3, 205-pounder who was moving to second on Doug Rader's ground ball.

The left-field critics provided their instant analysis, showering Watson with softdrink cans. But the show must go on, so umpire Shag Crawford warned that any batted ball striking the debris would be ruled an automatic out.

Cesar Cedeno, however, was the star of the show, make that game, belting two homers in the Astros' come-from-behind victory.

Ozark invoked his form of freedom from the press after the game for 38 minutes, blasting his club for "lazy play."

Willie McCovey, who has been relegated to the role of spot starter and pinch hitter during Charlie Fox's youth movement, entered the game in the fourth after Gary Maddox was hit by a pitch and went three-for-three with two RBI to key the Giants' victory.

Rookie left hander Randy Jones pitched a four-hitter and singled in a run in San Diego's two-run eighth which lifted the Padres to their victory.

Willie Davis ended a 12-inning affair with the Pirates with his 12th homer of the year. The Dodgers have defeated Pittsburgh in eight of their last nine meetings.

Tennis lessons to be offered

Tennis lessons, for beginners and advanced players, will be offered starting this week at Eyman Park.

Charles Wallace, city recreation director, will supervise the tennis instruction. The first beginner's lessons will be at 3 p.m. Wednesday and the first advanced lessons will be at 4 p.m. that day.

Owned by Tom McNew and Sons' Rose Acres, Inc., the young pacer has won two of the first three legs of the stakes affair. She broke badly at the start last week.

Lew Williams has reined the Keith Harran-trained youngster to six wins in nine starts for $12,552 in purses.

The filly's best effort came two weeks ago when she posted a national speed mark with a 2:04 2-5 clocking at Northfield.

Title Holder, Port N Storm and Pickwick Baron will be Speak Softly's most formidable foes.

Leisure tops in F&G shoot

Don Leisure topped the field in the July pistol match sponsored by the Fayette County Fish and Game Association by scoring 234 of a possible 300.

Courses were fired to 50 yards on the standard National Rifle Association pistol target.

Other winners were Phil French, Don Brown, Alan Yeoman and Jerry Coffey, first in adjustable rimfire; Yeoman, French, Cliff Grove and Stu Gossard, second in adjustable rimfire; Leisure, first in non-adjustable centerfire, French second; French and Leisure first in adjustable centerfire, Brown, Tony Perone and French second.

Another pistol match has been scheduled for August.

Country club tournament pairings are announced

Pairings for the 1973 Washington Country Club golf championships have been announced by club pro Tony Capuana. The first-round matches are to be completed by Sunday.

After two rounds of match play, the remaining four golfers in each flight will compete in medal play to determine the championships. The finals should be played Aug. 12. Richard Lewis is tournament chairman.

The pairings:

Emphasis at prison on learning skills

BILLERICA, Mass. (AP) — A 42-year-old county jailhouse in a suburb north of Boston is the nation's most progressive prison, its sheriff says, a place where young inmates are rewarded for learning talents that will keep them from coming back.

In the red-brick Billerica House of Correction and Jail, prisoners who take vocational courses and behave are given what they want most — freedom.

The privileges range from private meetings with girlfriends in the sheriff's office to week-long trips home to see their families and look for jobs. And the inmates who do the best get the most.

The prison really isn't a prison at all, says Sheriff John J. Buckley. It's more like a hospital.

"What we've done is bring about radical change without crisis. I consider myself as much of a revolutionary as a man with a beard and a sign," said Buckley, 43, a short, balding man with glasses.

TWO YEARS AGO, Buckley became the Republican sheriff of Democratic Middlesex County. He said he wanted to make the county prison something more than a stopover for young offenders on their way to becoming professional criminals. Instead, it should convince them to do something else for a living.

Doing this, he says, means treating convicts as humans.

And it means spending money — lots of it. Currently, Buckley says, his prison is spending $10,000 a year on each inmate — $2,000 more than is spent per inmate at the state's maximum security prison.

from a host of federal grants, but Buckley says the prison system is "pricing itself out of business" and he sees the day when county jails will close because of the cost factor.

In their place are shops where prisoners learn drafting, television repair, auto mechanics, home wiring and small engine work. There are courses in art, music, reading and math. Some earn high school diplomas.

"The emphasis before was custody," Buckley said. "Now it's rehabilitation."

Besides 150 guards, the prison employes two full-time lawyers, three psychiatrists, nine caseworkers, counselors, teachers, social workers, a doctor and a dentist.

Since Buckley took over, arriving inmates have been given physical exams and sessions with counselors to talk over the problems. Then depending on their needs, they meet with workers who give them advice on jobs, marriage troubles and whatever else is bothering them.

OTHER REFORMS, like being able to control the lights in their rooms, skip breakfast, have televisions and put on barbeques for their families in the prison yard, seem small. But they take on awesome importance for men whose homes are tiny, single cells.

Most of the 350 inmates are young. The average age is 21, the average education ninth grade. Most stay about six months, the longest 2½ years.

The goal of his prison is not punishment, Buckley says, but getting the men back into normal lives as soon as possible.

Ohio accidents claim 17 lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seventeen persons, including four motorcyclists and three pedestrians, died in traffic accidents on Ohio highways over the weekend.

One of the victims was an off-duty Butler County Sheriff's detective who was killed Saturday when his motorcycle collided with a car in Hamilton.

Another cycling accident Saturday claimed two lives in Cleveland. A third motorcycling mishap killed a Middletown man in Warren County Sunday.

The two separate pedestrian deaths occurred in Cleveland on Saturday. The third pedestrian accident occurred Sunday near Tiffin.

The count began 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday. No fatal traffic accidents occurred Friday night.

The dead:

SUNDAY

AKRON — Ronald J. Bachmeier, 17, Medina, in a one-car crash in north Summit County.

WAYNESBURG — Katie A. Cernava, 87, New Harrisburg, and Lloyd Gooding, 48, New Harrisburg, passengers in the same car in a two-car crash on Ohio 43 in Stark County.

SATURDAY

CLEVELAND — Annie E. Hornbuckle, 88, Cleveland Heights, when she was struck by a car as she crossed a suburban street.

TIFFIN — Mary K. English, 18, Findlay, and David Soals, seven weeks, Tiffin, in a twocar smashup on Ohio 53 about five miles south of Tiffin.

MANSFIELD — John Vrabel, 70, Mansfield, in a two-car accident on Ohio 39 in Richland County.

CLEVELAND — Raymond Peters, 22, Brook Park, and Steven Walbot, 23, Tucson, Ariz., when the motorcycle they were riding skidded into an oncoming car on Columbia Road in North Olmstead.

BOWLING GREEN — William D. Budd, 25, North Baltimore when his car went out of control, hit a tree and overturned on Ohio 18 in Wood County.

U.S. flood insurance not sought

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland has asked to participate in subsidized federal flood insurance programs, but property owners in the 12 northern Ohio communities already approved by the federal government have been slow to sign up.

Businessmen and residents in the 12 communities who do not may find themselves disqualified for federal disaster assistance after this year, however, according to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

HUD kicks in funds that permit insurance companies to offer the flood insurance at lower rates in approved communities. The 12 cities in Ohio are Brunswick, Eastlake, Kent, Mentor, Painesville, Vermilion, Lorain, Gates Mills, Lakewood, Mayfield, Sheffield Lake and Rocky River.

Insurance company officials said signups have varied from city to city but that many property owners have not purchased coverage.

"It's difficult to understand why more people are not taking advantage of it," a spokesman said. But he noted that the coverage was offered in most of the towns after fall and winter floods occurred.

"It's like locking the barn door after the horse gets out," he said.

The Cleveland City Council two months ago approved a resolution urging building commissioners to review permits to make certain the construction would meet with flood requirement standards.

The city later applied to HUD for eligibility in the flood insurance program.

Mentally retarded to enter homes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — About 1,000 mentally retarded persons will leave their institutions in the coming months to enter foster homes, the director of the Department of Mental Health and Retardation said today.

Kenneth D. Gaver said the foster families program allows qualifying families to provide a foster home for one or two trainable mentally retarded persons from their area.

Gov. John J. Gilligan proclaimed today the first day of "Foster Families Week" to stress the importance of providing care and training for the mentally retarded in a home atmosphere.

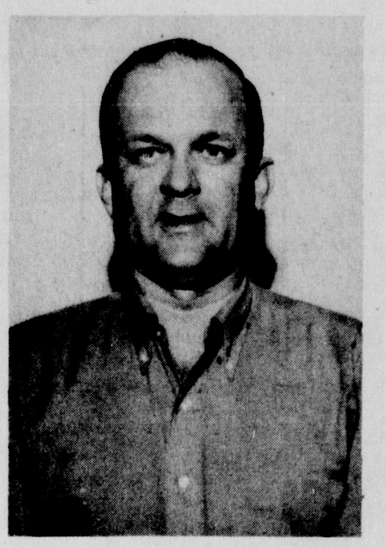

Mills eyes retirement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, says he may retire from Congress at the end of his present term, in January 1975.

Mills, one of the most powerful men in Congress, said Saturday that he will make a final decision later, but that unless a persistent and painful back ailment improves he will step down.

The 64-year-old Mills has been in the House 34 years and chairman of Ways and Means for 15. The committee has control over such legislation as taxes, Social Security, welfare and foreign trade.

If the Democrats retain control of the House in the 1974 elections, Mills would be succeeded by Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore. The ranking Republican on the committee is Rep. Herman T. Schneebeli of Pennsylvania.

DAVID KRUPLA

Krupla new president of B'burg Lions

BLOOMINGBURG — David Krupla, Jones Rd., has been installed as president of the Bloomingburg Lions Club for the 1973-74 year, replacing Fred Bees, past president. Bob Hughes was the installing officer.

Other members installed in office were Clyde Cramer, first vice president; Lewis Parrett, second vice president; Leroy Barton, third vice president; Dwight Duff, secretary-treasurer; Dave Gerber, assistant secretary-treasurer; J.W. Sears, Lion Tamer; and Ken Sholler, tail twister.

Two new members, Carl, Sr., and Jerry Wilt, were welcomed to the club.

County Board inspects home

The annual inspection of the Fayette County Children's Home was made today by the Board of County Commissioners following lunch at the home.

During the business session Monday morning, the commissioners approved the purchase of U.S. flags for the Courthouse, Health Department and Airport.

The county officials are studying bids received a week ago on proposed remodeling work at the county jail. The bids exceeded the amount set aside by about $11,000.

A decision is to be announced July 16.

From

WILLIAM H. HARSHA

6th District, Ohio

WASHINGTON —We should attempt to evaluate the strength and weaknesses of our system and put them into a proper perpective. Such an evaluation will inevitably lead to reaffirmation of the basic principles upon which this country was founded.

In short, this country is due for a revival of that good, old-fashioned patriotic fervor which has diminished in recent years.

The outward signs of patriotism, unforuunately, are not as popular today as they have been in other times. Some even regard patriotism as trite, meaningless or unsophisticated. To be patriotic, they say, is to be hard-lined and extreme.

Respect for the flag and the National Anthem, pride in our heritage and gratitude for our blessings seem to be only institutional formalities to far too many people.

However, patriotism is a necessary prerequisite to a strong and vibrant nation. Pride and love of one's country are not transient; they are not subject to the whims of the times. Instead, patriotism is respect for the self-perpetuating ideals which are as valid today as they were almost two centuries ago.

IF PATRIOTISM dies, a country is not far from collapse. Arnold Toynbee, the historian, says that of 21 notable nations, 19 perished not from external conquest, but from deterioration from withing.

No army can defeat a nation faster than a nation can defeat itself. Edmund Burke, the British statesman, said it best when he observed, "For evil to succeed, it is only necessary that good men do nothing."

I do not choose to believe that reverence and respect for our heritage are on their deathbed. Instead, patriotism has frequently been placed in a state of limbo. The concept is so simple that it is often overlooked in the complexities of modern-day problems.

There is no question about it — the United States is undergoing a crisis of confidence in its democratic institutions. In this atmosphere of doubt, it is possible to lose sight of the principles of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. The words of the Declaration of Independence have been clouded by words of scandal and corruption.

THERE IS a fine distinction between self-appraisal and self-deprecation. The differences, however, have too often become blurred. It is one thing to objectively scrutinize our system in the hope of improving it. It is another thing to degrade the entire system because it is not perfect.

The qualities which led to the birth of our country, however, are still prevalent. Common sense and common decency still form the bonds that have held us together as a free society.

These traits carried us through a long and difficult war for independence. They led us through the tragic War Between the States. They sustained us through two World Wars and other crises of the Twentieth Century.

Time and again, when the laws might have crumbled, the good sense of the American people prevailed. I believe it will sustain us in the 1970s just as it did in the 1770s.

NOW is an opportune time for this nation to rekindle the patriotic flame which has been our guiding light for so long. As we approach the Bicentennial Celebration, we would do well to go back and read the Federalist Papers and the Bill of Rights.

We should acquaint ourselves with the hardships and tribulations our founding fathers suffered as they planted the seeds of independence. Then we should ask ourselves if our problems are greater than theirs.

While we still have problems today, we also have a society and an economy which are the envy of every other nation. Opportunity in the United States is unexcelled. The American people live better, dress better, eat better, receive better educations and have a better future than the people of any other country.

At the close of the Constitutional Convention in 1787, Benjamin Franklin said, "We have given you a republic — if you can keep it."

By exercising eternal vigilance, we can preserve the greatest government ever devised by the mind of man.

4-H HORSE QUEEN — Becky Hoppes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hoppes, Boyd Rd., was crowned 1973 4-H Horse Queen at the Bar-W Horse Show in Good Hope Sunday. Miss Hoppes was one of four finalists who were judged on poise, personality and horsemanship. Marissa Stuckey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stuckey, of Sabina, was the runnerup.

Hunter aims to preserve wildlife in Africa

By ELIZABETH BASSETT

He wanted a waterbuck, the large lyre-horned gray antelope of eastern and southern Africa. He checked his rifle one last time.

With Jose Tello, a former poacher turned game warden and hunter, and Baron Werner von Alvensleben, whose hunting exploits over the past 35 years earned him the name Munjunjonjo, "the great one," he drove quietly through the tawny scrub.

A few minutes past 6, they spotted a herd of waterbuck, their white bullseye bottoms and black-whorled horns standing out clearly through the thorn trees.

CAREFULLY they moved their open-topped Land Cruisers closer and the hunter reached for his gun. The shot was good! The frightened herd scattered and the buck ran with them, confused by the noise and the pain in his shoulder.

He was not dead because the hunter wanted to conserve, not kill. The hunter was Keyser van der Walt, head of the department of veterinary medicine at South Africa's Onderstepoot, a part of the University of Pretoria, and he was leading a group of American veterinarians on an experience unique to "outsiders," a game immobilization hunt.

Then Tello, director of the fledgling Zinave Research Sation, and van der Walt went to work, taking blood samples and measuring — the ear, hind foot, tail, body length and horns. Finally, a broad kelly green vinyl collar was laced around the buck's neck for identification and he was given the code name "Zeca," after one of the Portuguese hunter-trackers.

FROM THEIR case of drugs, Tello and van der Walt prepared an antidote and jabbed the buck's flank. His eyes opened, he gazed around and staggered to his feet. Slowly, he walked, then ran into the protective covering of the bush.

The hunters of Zinave, one of the richest game areas in Africa, no longer kill. Fourteen years ago, von Alvensleben opened the area north and south of the Save River as a hunting playground for the rich.

But the leathery white hunter had a change of heart. After more than 30 years of living in the bush, knowing it and animals' moods and tempers and realizing how man could, thoughtlessly, destroy it all, von Alvesleben decided killing for sport was not the answer. The answer lay in conservation.

And so three years ago he stopped hunting south of the Save, turned Zinave into a camp for photo hunters and founded the Zinave Wildlife Research Station, designed to study the entire ecosystem of the area for the benefit of man.

His north-of-the-river hunting camps remained open to provide the desperately needed funds for research but they too soon will be phased out and the whole 3,500-square-mile area will become a game reserve.

ZINAVE'S scientific program began last year in association with The American Museum of Natural History's Dr. Richard van Gelder. All that is necessary is to dart, measure and mark a representative male and female of a species in each migratory or home area.

Then every time the animal is spotted the date and locality is entered on a punch card.

Eventually an idea of the animals' movements, based on the availability of food and water, and the social composition of his herd, is learned. A year or so after the initial immobilization, he will be darted and measured again to study his growth and development.

But the study of a specie's migratory habits and development is not the only reason for immobilization. At the turn of the century, rinderpest wiped out hundreds of thousands animals in huge areas of southern Africa and now ruminants are darted regularly for disease studies.

AS A RESULT of this plague and its disastrous effect on the ecosystem, as well as man's encroachment on wildlands, species which at one time flourished have almost disappeared.

Tranquilizing animals in areas where they still abound allows them to be relocated and reestablished in places where they have died out.

Or darting can be used to capture animals for zoos.

In the Zinave area of Mozambique, there is an additional and tragic reason to dart: Every year thousand of animals are killed or maimed in poachers' snares.

Furious and out of their minds with pain and fear, the only way those that have a chance to live can be treated is to tranquilize them.

Duke Ellington receives honor

NEW YORK (AP) — Duke Ellington has become the first jazz musician to receive the French Legion of Honor, France's highest award.

President Georges Pompidou wanted "to honor a great musician, a great American and a great friend of our country," Jacques Kosciuski-Morizet said in presenting the award Sunday. He is the French ambassador to the United States.

"The entire world knows Duke Ellington," the ambassador said at the ceremony in the residence of the French consul general here. "And especially in our country, France, everyone admires and loves you."

Seek ambulance service subsidy

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — Ambulance owner John Majoras says he will drop his emergency service July 15 unless the city gives him a $60,000 annual subsidy for the work.

"I don't think he will quit providing the service," Mayor Leonard P. Reichlin said, however. "That would leave us high and dry."

But Majoras, who says he's run the service for five years without profit, says the threat is a serious one.

"I can see no sense in continuing the police emergency service," he said. During May, Majoras said he made 130 emergency runs. He said he was paid for eight.

Coal production rises

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Production of coal in the United States for the week ending June 23 exceeded levels for the same seven-day period in 1972.
